

READ THIS.

The subscriber's attention to his large and well-assorted stock of
HARDWARE,
Iron, Steel, Nails,
WINDOW GLASS,
PAINTS, OILS & VARNISHES.
 —ALSO—
Silverware, Glassware,
LAMPS, ETC., ETC.

PRICES LOW!
GEORGE STOTHART,
 WATER STREET, CHATHAM, N. B.
 ang2289ai

R.O. Shaughnessy and Co.
 MANUFACTURERS OF AND DEALERS IN

Fishing

Tackle

85 GERMAIN STREET,
Saint John, N. B.
 Also Trunks, Bags and Valises.

Lumber!
Lumber!

I have on hand at my Mill, situated within a few yards of the Intercolonial Railway, a quantity of

Pine, Spruce and Hemlock
 BOARDS AND SCANTLING,
 SHINGLES.

Dimension Lumber cut to order, selling cheap for Cash, or in exchange for Produce.
THOMAS ATKINSON,
 Mortimore, Kent County, N. B.

Jas. Brown,
CONTRACTOR,
 AND MANUFACTURER OF
 DIMENSION LUMBER,
 Welford Station, I. C. R., Kent County.

Advertise in The Review.

Temperance
 and General
 LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,
 OF NORTH AMERICA.

Incorporated by Special Act of the Parliament of Canada.
 HEAD OFFICES—TORONTO.
 Hon. GEO. W. ROSS, Minister of Education, President.
 Hon. S. H. BLAKE, Vice-Presidents.
 Hon. J. McLEAN, Esq., Vice-Presidents.
 Guarantee Fund—$100,000.
 Deposited with the Dominion Government for the security of Policy Holders $50,000.
 H. SUTHERLAND, Manager.
 R. R. MACHUM, Manager for Maritime Provinces, St. John, N. B.
 Agents wanted.

Fire Insurance Agency.
 I am Agent for the following Standard Fire Insurance Companies:
IMPERIAL,
 OF LONDON, ENGLAND.
ETNA AND HARTFORD,
 OF HARTFORD, CONN.

J. D. PHINNEY.
J. ARTHUR DAWSON,
Fashionable Tailor,
 29 DOCK STREET,
Saint John, N. B.

THE ONLY TO REMEMBER

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS
 Unlocks all the clogged avenues of the Bowels, Kidneys and Liver, carrying off gradually without weakening the system, all the impurities and foul humors of the secretions; at the same time Correcting Acidity of the Stomach, curing Billousness, Dyspepsia, Headaches, Dizziness, Heartburn, Constipation, Dryness of the Skin, Dropsy, Dimness of Vision, Jaundice, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Fluttering of the Heart, Nervousness, and General Debility; all these and many other similar Complaints yield to the happy influence of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.
 For Sale by all Dealers.
T. MILBURN & CO., Proprietors, Toronto.

First-Class
TAILORING
ESTABLISHMENT
 WATER STREET,
CHATHAM, N. B.,

F. O. PETTERSON, - PROPRIETOR.

A Fine stock of Cloths to select from kept constantly on hand.

Orders from a distance will receive prompt attention, and satisfaction guaranteed.

Here We Are Again
 AT OUR NEW STAND NEXT TO THE WORLD OFFICE,

and as usual with a nice assortment of Waltham and Swiss Watches. in Gold and Silver, both for ladies and gentlemen, as ever was displayed in our show cases. In

CLOCKS,
 We have a large variety to select from, in Walnut, Ash and Marble.
NICKEL ALARM CLOCKS, cheap and warranted to give satisfaction.

A large and well selected assortment of Gold and Silver Jewelry, Wedding, Gem and Diamond Rings.

Have a look at our Silverware, which for style, finish and beauty is unsurpassed.

Headquarters at Chatham for high-class Spectacles and Eye-glasses.
 Repairing, in all its branches, neatly and promptly done.

Give us a call when in need of anything in our line.
W. R. GOULD,
 Chatham, N. B.

DYSPEPTICURE
 THE SPECIFIC
DYSPEPSIA
Dyspeptiure aids Digestion.
Dyspeptiure cures Indigestion.
 The most serious and long-standing cases of Chronic Dyspepsia positively cured.
Dyspeptiure
 Price per bottle 35cts and 40c
 (Large bottles four times as small) prepared by
Charles K. Short, St. John, N. B.
 SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Sheriff's Sale!
 There will be sold at Public Auction at the Railway Station at Buctouche, in the County of Kent, on Thursday, the 3rd day of March next, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, all the estate, real and personal, of the Buctouche and Moncton Railway Company, situate in the said County of Kent, the same having been levied upon and seized by me under and by virtue of an execution issued out of the Supreme Court, against the said Buctouche and Moncton Railway Company.
WM. WHETEN,
 Sheriff.
 Sheriff's Office, Richibucto,
 November 21, 1891.

MAN WANTED TO TAKE CHARGE
 of Local Agency. Good opening for right man, on salary or commission. Whole or part time. We are the only growers of both Canadian and American Stock. Nurseries at Ridgeville, Ont., and Rochester, N. Y. Visitors welcome at grounds (Sundays excepted.) Be quick and write for full information. We want you now.
BROWN BROS. CO., TORONTO, ONT.
 (This House is a reliable, Inc. Co., Paid Capital $100,000.00.) feb4

A Tricky Young Woman.
 Young Julius Jones loved Susan Slade, And oft in dulcet tones He vainly had besought the maid "To take the name of Jones."
 "Wert thou but solid, then, be sure, 'Twould be all right," said she; "But Mr. J., whilst thou art poor, Pray think no more of me."
 Poor Jones was sad; his coat was bad, His salary was worse: But hope suggested: "Jones, my lad, Just try the power of verse!"
 He sat him down and wrote in rhyme How she was in her spring, And he in summer's golden prime; And all that sort of thing.
 The poem praised her hair and eyes, Her lips with honey laden, He wound it up, up in the skies, And mailed it to the maiden.
 She read it over, kept it clean, Put on her finest raiment, And took it to a magazine And got ten dollars payment.

Another Way.
 "Fare, please!" said the conductor of the street car to a passenger who was clinging to a strap.
 The passenger took out his pocketbook, looked through it, and produced a $10 bill.
 "It's the smallest I have," he said.
 "I can't change it," rejoined the conductor gruffly. "If you expect to ride you ought to go prepared to pay."
 "I am prepared to pay, sir. You're not prepared to make change—that's all."
 "The company does not expect me to make change for $10 I couldn't do it anyhow. I haven't $10 about me."
 "Then what's to be done? I've got to ride."
 "You've got to pay for it if you do."
 "I've offered to pay you."
 "And I've told you I can't change that bill. You turn out something smaller than that or get off."
 "I have told you, my friend, that I haven't anything smaller."
 "Then get off."
 The conductor reached up to pull the bell-rope.
 "Hold on!"
 With the fire of honest indignation blazing in his eyes the man turned to his fellow passengers.
 "Gentlemen," he said, "it's a shame to put a man off a car when he has plenty of money to pay his fare and is willing to pay it. If this conductor makes me get off can I depend on your love of fair play to help me see that justice is done? Just as sure as he puts me off I shall sue this road for damages, and I'll need you for witnesses."
 "There's an easier way out of it than that," suggested a sympathetic man in one corner of the car, taking out his pocket-book. "I'll lend you 5 cents, and it doesn't make any difference whether you ever pay me or not."
 "No, no," replied the other, struck by an idea, "but I shall be obliged if you will give me change for $10. Any kind will do."
 The sympathetic man in the corner counted out small bills and silver coins to the amount of $10, handed them over, and took the bill in exchange. The passenger clinging to the strap paid his fare, rode a few blocks further and got off.
 And now the sympathetic man is hunting for him with blood in his eye and something heavy in his right-hand coat pocket. The $10 bill was a counterfeit.

Teeth Growing.
 So many discoveries have been made in the past fifty years that people are beginning to cease being surprised at man claiming any fresh power over nature. According to a German journal, a Moscow dentist can grow teeth for us. If this enterprising gentleman would only grow painless teeth for us at the outset, and save us constant agonies from birth to death, he would not only prove a benefactor to the human race, but to his own pecuniary welfare. At present, however, he confines his attention to growing new teeth on the ruins of the old ones, and are said to grow as firmly into the gums as natural ones. Even this advance in dentistry will be good news to those who have to wear false teeth, which insist upon falling into the lap of the proud owner just as she wishes to impress upon a rival how captivating her row of white pearls makes her.—Hospital.

Badly Tangled.
 "Chi-chi-children," began the timid young man who had just been appointed superintendent of the Sabbath school. "Of course you are all familiar with the story of the swallow that swallowed Jonah—er—I mean the swale that swallowed Jonah—er—that is the whale that swallowed—um—um—the Jollow that wonahed the swale—I mean—er—the Jail that swallowed wonah—er—er—gug—gug"—(chokes).
 "I presume, Brother Sims," said the collection taker, kindly, "you mean the Jonah that swallowed the—er—er—that is—"

Cork Pavement.
 A new material for paving is now being introduced into London. It is composed of granulated cork and bitumen pressed into blocks, which are laid like bricks or wood paving. The special advantage of the material lies in its elasticity. When used for pavement it gives a soft tread which is exceedingly pleasant, recalling the feel of a carpet. In roadways it furnishes a splendid foothold for horses, and at the same time almost abolishes the noise which is such an unpleasant feature of city traffic. A short piece of pavement is to be seen in Liverpool Street, E. C.; while the outlet to Pickford's yard in Gresham Street is laid with this material. It yet remains to be seen how it will bear the ordinary traffic of a London street, but there is evidence to show that in Australia short pieces of roadway have given good results.

Shot His Sweetheart Dead as He Held Her.
 Maggie Weissenmuller, a pretty servant girl employed by Mrs. Minna Ruhe, of No. 24 East 126th street, New York, was shot and instantly killed about eleven o'clock Wednesday night by Frederick Zenner, her lover.
 Zenner is a baker. He and Maggie had been keeping company for about four years, and were apparently very fond of each other. He was inclined to be jealous however, and he objected to her disposition to be friendly with other young men.
 They had a lovers' quarrel last Saturday but it was not a very serious one and they made it up.
 Zenner called on Maggie Wednesday night, and, seemingly on the best of terms with each other, they started out for a walk about eight o'clock. They strolled to Third avenue and 125th street, where they stopped and held an animated conversation. He asked her to explain certain happenings. She refused. Sharp words were spoken, and they separated.
 Zenner went to Mrs. Ruhe's house. He asked her for pen, paper and ink, and for an hour he wrote.
 When he had finished his laborious scribbling he folded the sheets of paper up, put them in an envelope, sealed it, and put the envelope in his pocket.
 Zenner left the house, and two hours he patrolled the street in front of Mrs. Ruhe's residence awaiting Maggie's return.
 Finally she appeared. Zenner threw his arm around her neck and held her tightly. She demanded to be released, and said she did not want to have anything more to do with him. He clutched her throat and she screamed.
 Then with his left arm about Maggie's neck and holding her tightly, he placed the revolver to her forehead and fired. The girl's face was burned by the powder and she died almost immediately. Zenner dropped her and fled down 125th street to Madison avenue, into which he turned and disappeared.

All Sorts.
 Fish are always sold alive in Japan.
 A ton of coal yields nearly 10,000 feet of gas.
 St. Petersburg is the coldest capital in Europe.
 Mr. Gladstone's library contains 20,000 volumes.
 Queen Victoria's chief cook receives $3,500 a year.
 The average marrying age of Frenchmen is 30 years.
 To every 1000 males in London there are 1123 females.
 The value of property in London has trebled since 1856.
 The world's press is stated to include 37,000 newspapers.
 The theatres in London regularly employ 12,000 people.
 Alexandria possesses the largest artificial harbor in the world.
 The Italian Government raises $15,000,000 by holding lotteries.
 In proportion to its size, England has eight times as many miles of railway as the United States.
 Forty-five per cent. of the water consumed or drawn for domestic purposes in London is wasted.
 All petitions to the British House of Commons must be in handwriting and may not be printed.
 In proportion to population, exactly three times as much spirits are drunk in Scotland as in England.
 It is all right to advise a man to turn a thing over in his mind before acting, if he has a mind bigger than the thing to be turned over.
 The best thing out—a conflagration.
 It is natural for a fellow to boil with rage when he gets fired.
 Never propose to a girl with a hectic flush. She might go into a decline.
 Cinnamon in any form is good for the grip.
 Tokio, Japan, boasts of having 800 public baths, in which people can be steamed and washed for a cent. Even the politicians have clean hands out there.

Shot His Sweetheart Dead as He Held Her.
 Maggie Weissenmuller, a pretty servant girl employed by Mrs. Minna Ruhe, of No. 24 East 126th street, New York, was shot and instantly killed about eleven o'clock Wednesday night by Frederick Zenner, her lover.
 Zenner is a baker. He and Maggie had been keeping company for about four years, and were apparently very fond of each other. He was inclined to be jealous however, and he objected to her disposition to be friendly with other young men.
 They had a lovers' quarrel last Saturday but it was not a very serious one and they made it up.
 Zenner called on Maggie Wednesday night, and, seemingly on the best of terms with each other, they started out for a walk about eight o'clock. They strolled to Third avenue and 125th street, where they stopped and held an animated conversation. He asked her to explain certain happenings. She refused. Sharp words were spoken, and they separated.
 Zenner went to Mrs. Ruhe's house. He asked her for pen, paper and ink, and for an hour he wrote.
 When he had finished his laborious scribbling he folded the sheets of paper up, put them in an envelope, sealed it, and put the envelope in his pocket.
 Zenner left the house, and two hours he patrolled the street in front of Mrs. Ruhe's residence awaiting Maggie's return.
 Finally she appeared. Zenner threw his arm around her neck and held her tightly. She demanded to be released, and said she did not want to have anything more to do with him. He clutched her throat and she screamed.
 Then with his left arm about Maggie's neck and holding her tightly, he placed the revolver to her forehead and fired. The girl's face was burned by the powder and she died almost immediately. Zenner dropped her and fled down 125th street to Madison avenue, into which he turned and disappeared.

Teeth Growing.
 So many discoveries have been made in the past fifty years that people are beginning to cease being surprised at man claiming any fresh power over nature. According to a German journal, a Moscow dentist can grow teeth for us. If this enterprising gentleman would only grow painless teeth for us at the outset, and save us constant agonies from birth to death, he would not only prove a benefactor to the human race, but to his own pecuniary welfare. At present, however, he confines his attention to growing new teeth on the ruins of the old ones, and are said to grow as firmly into the gums as natural ones. Even this advance in dentistry will be good news to those who have to wear false teeth, which insist upon falling into the lap of the proud owner just as she wishes to impress upon a rival how captivating her row of white pearls makes her.—Hospital.

Badly Tangled.
 "Chi-chi-children," began the timid young man who had just been appointed superintendent of the Sabbath school. "Of course you are all familiar with the story of the swallow that swallowed Jonah—er—I mean the swale that swallowed Jonah—er—that is the whale that swallowed—um—um—the Jollow that wonahed the swale—I mean—er—the Jail that swallowed wonah—er—er—gug—gug"—(chokes).
 "I presume, Brother Sims," said the collection taker, kindly, "you mean the Jonah that swallowed the—er—er—that is—"

Cork Pavement.
 A new material for paving is now being introduced into London. It is composed of granulated cork and bitumen pressed into blocks, which are laid like bricks or wood paving. The special advantage of the material lies in its elasticity. When used for pavement it gives a soft tread which is exceedingly pleasant, recalling the feel of a carpet. In roadways it furnishes a splendid foothold for horses, and at the same time almost abolishes the noise which is such an unpleasant feature of city traffic. A short piece of pavement is to be seen in Liverpool Street, E. C.; while the outlet to Pickford's yard in Gresham Street is laid with this material. It yet remains to be seen how it will bear the ordinary traffic of a London street, but there is evidence to show that in Australia short pieces of roadway have given good results.

All Sorts.
 Fish are always sold alive in Japan.
 A ton of coal yields nearly 10,000 feet of gas.
 St. Petersburg is the coldest capital in Europe.
 Mr. Gladstone's library contains 20,000 volumes.
 Queen Victoria's chief cook receives $3,500 a year.
 The average marrying age of Frenchmen is 30 years.
 To every 1000 males in London there are 1123 females.
 The value of property in London has trebled since 1856.
 The world's press is stated to include 37,000 newspapers.
 The theatres in London regularly employ 12,000 people.
 Alexandria possesses the largest artificial harbor in the world.
 The Italian Government raises $15,000,000 by holding lotteries.
 In proportion to its size, England has eight times as many miles of railway as the United States.
 Forty-five per cent. of the water consumed or drawn for domestic purposes in London is wasted.
 All petitions to the British House of Commons must be in handwriting and may not be printed.
 In proportion to population, exactly three times as much spirits are drunk in Scotland as in England.
 It is all right to advise a man to turn a thing over in his mind before acting, if he has a mind bigger than the thing to be turned over.
 The best thing out—a conflagration.
 It is natural for a fellow to boil with rage when he gets fired.
 Never propose to a girl with a hectic flush. She might go into a decline.
 Cinnamon in any form is good for the grip.
 Tokio, Japan, boasts of having 800 public baths, in which people can be steamed and washed for a cent. Even the politicians have clean hands out there.

Teeth Growing.
 So many discoveries have been made in the past fifty years that people are beginning to cease being surprised at man claiming any fresh power over nature. According to a German journal, a Moscow dentist can grow teeth for us. If this enterprising gentleman would only grow painless teeth for us at the outset, and save us constant agonies from birth to death, he would not only prove a benefactor to the human race, but to his own pecuniary welfare. At present, however, he confines his attention to growing new teeth on the ruins of the old ones, and are said to grow as firmly into the gums as natural ones. Even this advance in dentistry will be good news to those who have to wear false teeth, which insist upon falling into the lap of the proud owner just as she wishes to impress upon a rival how captivating her row of white pearls makes her.—Hospital.

Badly Tangled.
 "Chi-chi-children," began the timid young man who had just been appointed superintendent of the Sabbath school. "Of course you are all familiar with the story of the swallow that swallowed Jonah—er—I mean the swale that swallowed Jonah—er—that is the whale that swallowed—um—um—the Jollow that wonahed the swale—I mean—er—the Jail that swallowed wonah—er—er—gug—gug"—(chokes).
 "I presume, Brother Sims," said the collection taker, kindly, "you mean the Jonah that swallowed the—er—er—that is—"

Cork Pavement.
 A new material for paving is now being introduced into London. It is composed of granulated cork and bitumen pressed into blocks, which are laid like bricks or wood paving. The special advantage of the material lies in its elasticity. When used for pavement it gives a soft tread which is exceedingly pleasant, recalling the feel of a carpet. In roadways it furnishes a splendid foothold for horses, and at the same time almost abolishes the noise which is such an unpleasant feature of city traffic. A short piece of pavement is to be seen in Liverpool Street, E. C.; while the outlet to Pickford's yard in Gresham Street is laid with this material. It yet remains to be seen how it will bear the ordinary traffic of a London street, but there is evidence to show that in Australia short pieces of roadway have given good results.

All Sorts.
 Fish are always sold alive in Japan.
 A ton of coal yields nearly 10,000 feet of gas.
 St. Petersburg is the coldest capital in Europe.
 Mr. Gladstone's library contains 20,000 volumes.
 Queen Victoria's chief cook receives $3,500 a year.
 The average marrying age of Frenchmen is 30 years.
 To every 1000 males in London there are 1123 females.
 The value of property in London has trebled since 1856.
 The world's press is stated to include 37,000 newspapers.
 The theatres in London regularly employ 12,000 people.
 Alexandria possesses the largest artificial harbor in the world.
 The Italian Government raises $15,000,000 by holding lotteries.
 In proportion to its size, England has eight times as many miles of railway as the United States.
 Forty-five per cent. of the water consumed or drawn for domestic purposes in London is wasted.
 All petitions to the British House of Commons must be in handwriting and may not be printed.
 In proportion to population, exactly three times as much spirits are drunk in Scotland as in England.
 It is all right to advise a man to turn a thing over in his mind before acting, if he has a mind bigger than the thing to be turned over.
 The best thing out—a conflagration.
 It is natural for a fellow to boil with rage when he gets fired.
 Never propose to a girl with a hectic flush. She might go into a decline.
 Cinnamon in any form is good for the grip.
 Tokio, Japan, boasts of having 800 public baths, in which people can be steamed and washed for a cent. Even the politicians have clean hands out there.

A Tricky Young Woman.
 Young Julius Jones loved Susan Slade, And oft in dulcet tones He vainly had besought the maid "To take the name of Jones."
 "Wert thou but solid, then, be sure, 'Twould be all right," said she; "But Mr. J., whilst thou art poor, Pray think no more of me."
 Poor Jones was sad; his coat was bad, His salary was worse: But hope suggested: "Jones, my lad, Just try the power of verse!"
 He sat him down and wrote in rhyme How she was in her spring, And he in summer's golden prime; And all that sort of thing.
 The poem praised her hair and eyes, Her lips with honey laden, He wound it up, up in the skies, And mailed it to the maiden.
 She read it over, kept it clean, Put on her finest raiment, And took it to a magazine And got ten dollars payment.

Another Way.
 "Fare, please!" said the conductor of the street car to a passenger who was clinging to a strap.
 The passenger took out his pocketbook, looked through it, and produced a $10 bill.
 "It's the smallest I have," he said.
 "I can't change it," rejoined the conductor gruffly. "If you expect to ride you ought to go prepared to pay."
 "I am prepared to pay, sir. You're not prepared to make change—that's all."
 "The company does not expect me to make change for $10 I couldn't do it anyhow. I haven't $10 about me."
 "Then what's to be done? I've got to ride."
 "You've got to pay for it if you do."
 "I've offered to pay you."
 "And I've told you I can't change that bill. You turn out something smaller than that or get off."
 "I have told you, my friend, that I haven't anything smaller."
 "Then get off."
 The conductor reached up to pull the bell-rope.
 "Hold on!"
 With the fire of honest indignation blazing in his eyes the man turned to his fellow passengers.
 "Gentlemen," he said, "it's a shame to put a man off a car when he has plenty of money to pay his fare and is willing to pay it. If this conductor makes me get off can I depend on your love of fair play to help me see that justice is done? Just as sure as he puts me off I shall sue this road for damages, and I'll need you for witnesses."
 "There's an easier way out of it than that," suggested a sympathetic man in one corner of the car, taking out his pocket-book. "I'll lend you 5 cents, and it doesn't make any difference whether you ever pay me or not."
 "No, no," replied the other, struck by an idea, "but I shall be obliged if you will give me change for $10. Any kind will do."
 The sympathetic man in the corner counted out small bills and silver coins to the amount of $10, handed them over, and took the bill in exchange. The passenger clinging to the strap paid his fare, rode a few blocks further and got off.
 And now the sympathetic man is hunting for him with blood in his eye and something heavy in his right-hand coat pocket. The $10 bill was a counterfeit.

Teeth Growing.
 So many discoveries have been made in the past fifty years that people are beginning to cease being surprised at man claiming any fresh power over nature. According to a German journal, a Moscow dentist can grow teeth for us. If this enterprising gentleman would only grow painless teeth for us at the outset, and save us constant agonies from birth to death, he would not only prove a benefactor to the human race, but to his own pecuniary welfare. At present, however, he confines his attention to growing new teeth on the ruins of the old ones, and are said to grow as firmly into the gums as natural ones. Even this advance in dentistry will be good news to those who have to wear false teeth, which insist upon falling into the lap of the proud owner just as she wishes to impress upon a rival how captivating her row of white pearls makes her.—Hospital.

Badly Tangled.
 "Chi-chi-children," began the timid young man who had just been appointed superintendent of the Sabbath school. "Of course you are all familiar with the story of the swallow that swallowed Jonah—er—I mean the swale that swallowed Jonah—er—that is the whale that swallowed—um—um—the Jollow that wonahed the swale—I mean—er—the Jail that swallowed wonah—er—er—gug—gug"—(chokes).
 "I presume, Brother Sims," said the collection taker, kindly, "you mean the Jonah that swallowed the—er—er—that is—"

Cork Pavement.
 A new material for paving is now being introduced into London. It is composed of granulated cork and bitumen pressed into blocks, which are laid like bricks or wood paving. The special advantage of the material lies in its elasticity. When used for pavement it gives a soft tread which is exceedingly pleasant, recalling the feel of a carpet. In roadways it furnishes a splendid foothold for horses, and at the same time almost abolishes the noise which is such an unpleasant feature of city traffic. A short piece of pavement is to be seen in Liverpool Street, E. C.; while the outlet to Pickford's yard in Gresham Street is laid with this material. It yet remains to be seen how it will bear the ordinary traffic of a London street, but there is evidence to show that in Australia short pieces of roadway have given good results.

All Sorts.
 Fish are always sold alive in Japan.
 A ton of coal yields nearly 10,000 feet of gas.
 St. Petersburg is the coldest capital in Europe.
 Mr. Gladstone's library contains 20,000 volumes.
 Queen Victoria's chief cook receives $3,500 a year.
 The average marrying age of Frenchmen is 30 years.
 To every 1000 males in London there are 1123 females.
 The value of property in London has trebled since 1856.
 The world's press is stated to include 37,000 newspapers.
 The theatres in London regularly employ 12,000 people.
 Alexandria possesses the largest artificial harbor in the world.
 The Italian Government raises $15,000,000 by holding lotteries.
 In proportion to its size, England has eight times as many miles of railway as the United States.
 Forty-five per cent. of the water consumed or drawn for domestic purposes in London is wasted.
 All petitions to the British House of Commons must be in handwriting and may not be printed.
 In proportion to population, exactly three times as much spirits are drunk in Scotland as in England.
 It is all right to advise a man to turn a thing over in his mind before acting, if he has a mind bigger than the thing to be turned over.
 The best thing out—a conflagration.
 It is natural for a fellow to boil with rage when he gets fired.
 Never propose to a girl with a hectic flush. She might go into a decline.
 Cinnamon in any form is good for the grip.
 Tokio, Japan, boasts of having 800 public baths, in which people can be steamed and washed for a cent. Even the politicians have clean hands out there.

Shot His Sweetheart Dead as He Held Her.
 Maggie Weissenmuller, a pretty servant girl employed by Mrs. Minna Ruhe, of No. 24 East 126th street, New York, was shot and instantly killed about eleven o'clock Wednesday night by Frederick Zenner, her lover.
 Zenner is a baker. He and Maggie had been keeping company for about four years, and were apparently very fond of each other. He was inclined to be jealous however, and he objected to her disposition to be friendly with other young men.
 They had a lovers' quarrel last Saturday but it was not a very serious one and they made it up.
 Zenner called on Maggie Wednesday night, and, seemingly on the best of terms with each other, they started out for a walk about eight o'clock. They strolled to Third avenue and 125th street, where they stopped and held an animated conversation. He asked her to explain certain happenings. She refused. Sharp words were spoken, and they separated.
 Zenner went to Mrs. Ruhe's house. He asked her for pen, paper and ink, and for an hour he wrote.
 When he had finished his laborious scribbling he folded the sheets of paper up, put them in an envelope, sealed it, and put the envelope in his pocket.
 Zenner left the house, and two hours he patrolled the street in front of Mrs. Ruhe's residence awaiting Maggie's return.
 Finally she appeared. Zenner threw his arm around her neck and held her tightly. She demanded to be released, and said she did not want to have anything more to do with him. He clutched her throat and she screamed.
 Then with his left arm about Maggie's neck and holding her tightly, he placed the revolver to her forehead and fired. The girl's face was burned by the powder and she died almost immediately. Zenner dropped her and fled down 125th street to Madison avenue, into which he turned and disappeared.

Teeth Growing.
 So many discoveries have been made in the past fifty years that people are beginning to cease being surprised at man claiming any fresh power over nature. According to a German journal, a Moscow dentist can grow teeth for us. If this enterprising gentleman would only grow painless teeth for us at the outset, and save us constant agonies from birth to death, he would not only prove a benefactor to the human race, but to his own pecuniary welfare. At present, however, he confines his attention to growing new teeth on the ruins of the old ones, and are said to grow as firmly into the gums as natural ones. Even this advance in dentistry will be good news to those who have to wear false teeth, which insist upon falling into the lap of the proud owner just as she wishes to impress upon a rival how captivating her row of white pearls makes her.—Hospital.

Badly Tangled.
 "Chi-chi-children," began the timid young man who had just been appointed superintendent of the Sabbath school. "Of course you are all familiar with the story of the swallow that swallowed Jonah—er—I mean the swale that swallowed Jonah—er—that is the whale that swallowed—um—um—the Jollow that wonahed the swale—I mean—er—the Jail that swallowed wonah—er—er—gug—gug"—(chokes).
 "I presume, Brother Sims," said the collection taker, kindly, "you mean the Jonah that swallowed the—er—er—that is—"

Cork Pavement.
 A new material for paving is now being introduced into London. It is composed of granulated cork and bitumen pressed into blocks, which are laid like bricks or wood paving. The special advantage of the material lies in its elasticity. When used for pavement it gives a soft tread which is exceedingly pleasant, recalling the feel of a carpet. In roadways it furnishes a splendid foothold for horses, and at the same time almost abolishes the noise which is such an unpleasant feature of city traffic. A short piece of pavement is to be seen in Liverpool Street, E. C.; while the outlet to Pickford's yard in Gresham Street is laid with this material. It yet remains to be seen how it will bear the ordinary traffic of a London street, but there is evidence to show that in Australia short pieces of roadway have given good results.

All Sorts.
 Fish are always sold alive in Japan.
 A ton of coal yields nearly 10,000 feet of gas.
 St. Petersburg is the coldest capital in Europe.
 Mr. Gladstone's library contains 20,000 volumes.
 Queen Victoria's chief cook receives $3,500 a year.
 The average marrying age of Frenchmen is 30 years.
 To every 1000 males in London there are 1123 females.
 The value of property in London has trebled since 1856.
 The world's press is stated to include 37,000 newspapers.
 The theatres in London regularly employ 12,000 people.
 Alexandria possesses the largest artificial harbor in the world.
 The Italian Government raises $15,000,000 by holding lotteries.
 In proportion to its size, England has eight times as many miles of railway as the United States.
 Forty-five per cent. of the water consumed or drawn for domestic purposes in London is wasted.
 All petitions to the British House of Commons must be in handwriting and may not be printed.
 In proportion to population, exactly three times as much spirits are drunk in Scotland as in England.
 It is all right to advise a man to turn a thing over in his mind before acting, if he has a mind bigger than the thing to be turned over.
 The best thing out—a conflagration.
 It is natural for a fellow to boil with rage when he gets fired.
 Never propose to a girl with a hectic flush. She might go into a decline.
 Cinnamon in any form is good for the grip.
 Tokio, Japan, boasts of having 800 public baths, in which people can be steamed and washed for a cent. Even the politicians have clean hands out there.

Teeth Growing.
 So many discoveries have been made in the past fifty years that people are beginning to cease being surprised at man claiming any fresh power over nature. According to a German journal, a Moscow dentist can grow teeth for us. If this enterprising gentleman would only grow painless teeth for us at the outset, and save us constant agonies from birth to death, he would not only prove a benefactor to the human race, but to his own pecuniary welfare. At present, however, he confines his attention to growing new teeth on the ruins of the old ones, and are said to grow as firmly into the gums as natural ones. Even this advance in dentistry will be good news to those who have to wear false teeth, which insist upon falling into the lap of the proud owner just as she wishes to impress upon a rival how captivating her row of white pearls makes her.—Hospital.

Badly Tangled.
 "Chi-chi-children," began the timid young man who had just been appointed superintendent of the Sabbath school. "Of course you are all familiar with the story of the swallow that swallowed Jonah—er—I mean the swale that swallowed Jonah—er—that is the whale that swallowed—um—um—the Jollow that wonahed the swale—I mean—er—the Jail that swallowed wonah—er—er—gug—gug"—(chokes).
 "I presume, Brother Sims," said the collection taker, kindly, "you mean the Jonah that swallowed the—er—er—that is—"