Gems of Thought.

The thing which an active mind most needs is a purpose and a direction worthy of its activity.

The name of the architect who builds castles in the air is Tomorrow, and Hope lays the foundation.

Either the future or the past is written in every face, and makes us if not melancholy, at least mild and gentle.

Good is slow; it climbs. Evil is swift; it descends. Why should we marvel that it makes slow progress in short time?

He gives twice who gives quickly, according to the proverb; but a gift not only given quickly but unexpectedly is most welcome of all.

No one in ordinary health need become bald or grey, if he will follow sensible treatment. We advise cleanliness of the scalp and the use of Hall's Hair Renewer.

A little hole in a ship sinks it; so a little sin sometimes produces a man's utter ruin. We should guard against small vices as well as great errors.

The holy thoughts and memories that cluster around the name of mother can never be so well expressed as in the calm utterance of the name itself.

Opportunity has hair in front, behind she is bald; if you seize her by the forelock you may hold her, but if suffered to escape, not Jupiter himself can catch her again.

To preserve a youthful appearance as long as possible, it is indispensable that the hair should retain its natural color and fullness. There is no preparation so effective as Ayer's Hair Vigor. It prevents baldness, and keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy.

Fancy and Humor, early and constantly indulged, may expect an old age overrun with follies; if, that is, those genial qualities are cultivated at the expense of the judgment.

A Remarkable Case.—Mr. Walter Wheeler, of Washington Mills, Lawrence, Mass., for two years afflicted with varicose veins, accompanied by a troublesome eruption, was completely cured after taking only eight bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Of what character is your conversation? Is it pure? Whatever it may be, be assured it is an unerring index to your heart. The tree is known by its fruit.

Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. Let your words be words of truth and purity.

Providence made both tears and laughter, and both for kind purposes for as laughter enables mirth and surprise to breathe freely, so tears enable sorrow to vent itself patiently. Tears hinder sorrow from becoming despair and madness; and laughter is one of the very privileges of reason, being confined to the human species.

An old smoker declares that he has been using "Myrtle Navy" tobacco ever since the second year of its manufacture and that during that time he has never suffered from a blistered tongue or parched tonsils or any other of the unpleasant effects which most tobaccos will leave behind them. His experience, he says, is that no other tobacco which he has ever tried is quite its equal and that in value for the money "no other comes anywhere near it."

Mr. John Windsor, Petit Rocher, has assigned. Assets $40,000, liabilities $33,000. The Bank of Montreal, which holds a chattel mortgage on the estate as security for advances, refused to advance money to meet pressing claims, and assignment became necessary.—Chatham World.

Almost a century ago, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, a noble remedy, was first made known.

While an eight year old daughter of Mr. Edgar Johnson of Lower Granville, N. S., was coasting down hill on a sled, she slipped off, striking the side of her nose close to the base against the sharp edge of a tin can frozen in the ground, thereby taking that organ completely off from her face.

On New Year's day, 1891, Mrs. Mederie Bodeire, of Montreal, gave birth to twins, and on December 24 last she gave birth to twins, there being thus an increase of four in the family within a period of twelve months.

There are about 1,100 men employed in the Bank of England, and their united salaries, including pensions, amount to about $1,500,000 per annum.

A boy named Thibideau, fourteen years of age, was killed on the Buctouche and Moncton railway, at McDougal Settlement, Tuesday. He fell from the top of a loaded car that was being moved at the siding, one leg being cut off and the body badly bruised. He lived some hours in great agony.

An old family physician first recommended Johnson's Anodyne Liniment for colds, coughs.

Coming Events.
Coming consumption is foreshadowed by a hacking cough, night sweats, pain in the chest, etc. Arrest its progress at once by taking Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which never fails to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, hoarseness, etc., and even in confirmed consumption affords great relief.

PARNELL IN AMERICA.

HIS INTERESTING EXPERIENCES HERE TWENTY YEARS AGO.

For $50,000 He Might Have Had a Share in the Richest Bituminous Coal Mine Known—His Brother a Well Known Fruit Grower in the South.

ARNELL'S American experiences, had they ended differently, might have changed the whole course of his life. The most interesting of them occurred twenty years ago.

He first went to Newport, R.I., where he proposed to a young lady he had met in France a year before. Then he went South to visit his brother, John Howard Parnell, who owns a large farm near West Point, Ga. It was on this trip South that the great Irish leader met with most of his adventures.

At that time the town of Birmingham, Ala., had just been laid out, and the development of the coal and iron industries of that section had just begun. At the suggestion of John the Parnell brothers went to Birmingham to look at the new town, which was well advertised, with a view to making investments. Charles Stewart had brought over with him $50,000, which he intended to invest in America.

On their way to Birmingham the brothers were caught in a railroad accident. The train on which they were travelling was derailed and many passengers killed and injured. John Parnell received severe but not serious bruises, while Charles Stewart escaped with a few trivial scratches.

At Birmingham, Mr. Parnell was introduced to Henry F. De Bardeleben, who is now known as the Iron King of Alabama. At that time Mr. De Bardeleben was the owner of the famous Pratt coal mine, situated five miles from Birmingham, which is now the property of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company, of which the Hon. Thomas C. Platt is President.

De Bardeleben needed more capital to develop the mine, and he offered to sell Mr. Parnell a large interest in it for $50,000. Parnell thought well of the property, but he wanted a controlling interest in the mine for his $50,000, and the affair fell through. He left Birmingham without making an investment. Ten years later De Bardeleben sold the coal mine to the Pratt Coal & Coke Company for $1,000,000 cash. Three years afterward this company sold the mine to the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company for $2,500,000. It is now the largest bituminous coal mine in the world, having a daily output of 7,000 tons of coal.

While at the home of his brother in Georgia Mr. Parnell spent much time hunting and fishing, in which he was only moderately successful.

One day he rode over to West Point alone to bring the mail from the post office and make some small purchases. It had been raining for several days, and the unpaved streets of the country town were very muddy. While riding down the principal street of the town Mr. Parnell rode on the broad dirt sidewalk to avoid the deep red mud of the street. This was a violation of the town ordinances, and the Marshal happened to see the offence.

"What are you doing there? Get off that sidewalk!" shouted the Marshal, advancing toward the future Irish leader.

Mr. Parnell looked down at the mud under his horse's feet, and with a smile, said he did not see any sidewalk to speak of. He was about to ride on, but the Marshal caught his horse by the bridle and placed Mr. Parnell under arrest.

"Who are you?" asked the Marshal, when he reached the rude town lock-up with his distinguished prisoner.

"My name is Parnell."

"Are you John's brother?"

Every man in West Point knew John Parnell, the farmer and fruit grower, and when Charles Stewart made himself known as the brother of the farmer he was released from custody with a warning not to ride on the sidewalks again.

John Howard Parnell, the brother of Charles Stewart, settled near West Point, Ga., soon after the war. He purchased a farm and soon turned his attention to fruit growing.

The soil was well adapted to peach culture, and Mr. Parnell planted a large orchard, which in a few years became very profitable. He has added to his original farm from time to time, until he now has more than 1,000 acres of fruit trees. His place is a few miles east of West Point, and close to the State line between Georgia and Alabama.

Mr. Parnell has never taken any active interest in politics, but has devoted his entire time to fruit growing. With his neighbors he is very popular, and his great success as a farmer has made them believe that he is at least as great a man as his brother Charles Stewart.

Helpful Points for Horsemen.
It is better to take $200 for a colt when he is two years old than keep him three years for $100 or $150 more.

While the breeding of horses is greatly on the increase, and of trotters especially, there is a great lack of A No. 1 horses of all kinds.

Horses that can trot in 2.40 or 2.30 are very plenty, but a great number of them are not good road horses. They may be undersized, undesirable in color, pullers or slow travellers or vicious and waiting for an opportunity to run away and smash things generally.

The standard colors are black, bay, chestnut and sorrel. Bays and chestnuts are always desirable. Black is liable to grow dingy, but a glossy black is very handsome. White horses are too conspicuous and show dirt very easily, but soap and water will keep them clean. Many admire a roan horse, but the color does not often affect the value of an animal, unless it is very bad.

Apple Cheesecakes.
Peel some apples and grate them to the core, take equal weights of grated apple, castor sugar and butter and flavor with a little grated lemon-rind; melt the butter and add the other ingredients, mix thoroughly, add one egg for each quarter pound of pulp, line cheesecake tins in the usual way, half fill them with the mixture and bake.—Dublin Society.

She Won the Cobden Prize.
Miss Victorine Jeans, of Victoria University, Manchester, is the first lady who has won a Cobden Club University prize. The essay for which the prize was awarded was on "The Industrial and Commercial Effects, Actual and Prospective, of English Factory Act Legislation." The prize is triennial, and is of the value of $60.

Speed of the Circulation.
Blood travels from the heart through the arteries, ordinarily, at the rate of about twelve inches per second; its speed through the capillaries is at the rate of three hundredths of an inch per second.
