Fix the Day and "Move On."

Editor of the Review.

Sir:—On the 19th March, 1890, Rev. W. Hamilton from the pulpit of St. Andrew's church, Kingston, at a public meeting, announced that he would not stay with the congregation, but would get away as soon as he could. It is now two years and three months since he made this announcement, and he seems to have forgotten it. Not so those who heard it. He is here now reminded of it, and it might be quite proper and in place to ask him his interpretation of the announcement. If he intended it to mean he would camp on the congregation of St. Andrew's till he could find some other camping ground to remove to, it would be just and kind in him to state so to the people interested. The people having the only interest in it, do not, nor did they at the time of the announcement was made, so interpret it, otherwise the measure of pacification assented to on that day, to allay the condition of irritation that prevailed would not have been assented to. It is now in order for the people interested to insist on the correctness of this interpretation, and, in police language to corner loafers order him to "move on."

The announcement now having a standing of two years and three months, and no sign of it being observed the enquiry is now made: Has he fixed the day for going, or when does he intend to fix it?

ENQUIRER.

To Nina.

Beam out, oh, sun! with the brightest ray
That ever gladdened a happy day,
And give our cousin, the much loved one,
The grace of the bride the sun shines on.
Give her sunlight, sun, before we part,
As the earnest of joy in a happy heart.

Break silv'ry waves on the shimmering strand
Where the venturous feet expectant stand,
To board the vessel, whose mystic crew,
In tempest and sunshine was only two,
United as one by the magic of love
In the wondrous register kept above.

Ring out glad bells in the morning air,
For never a bride more sweet and fair
Heard your silv'ry sound from the belfry high,
Awaken the echoes of earth and sky.
Give her music, bells, for she can meet
Your sweetest chimings with a strain as sweet.

We all must part, but we never yet
Shall learn to whisper the word "forget."
Your life be rich as your heart is pure,
Love warm and strong to the end endure,
The God of your fathers ere be thine,
Is the wish of a hundred hearts and mine.

The Problem for St. Andrew's Church to Solve.

Mr. Editor:—The annual meeting to be held in St. Andrew's church, Kingston, on Wednesday, 6th July next, it is said, will be of great interest to the congregation. It will, it is said either seal the complete disorganization and ultimate effacement of the congregation, or it will restore its lost vitality and infuse a new and vigorous life into it by removing the cancer-worm, whose poison is paralyzing it. It is asked, what shall it be? And what say the elders, trustees, the people generally? It is said that a passive indifference will hasten the former or the distance now to the end is short, which it is further said a manly and vigorous discharge of responsibility by the people generally, but more especially by the eldership of the church, will result in latter.

Is it True?

Editor of the Review.

Sir:—A rumor is feeling its way around to the effect that the Presbyterian people of West Branch and vicinity, who reluctantly left St. Andrew's church, in Kingston, and joined with the Bass River congregation are contemplating the putting in of a claim to the corporation of St. Andrew's church for their share in the said church property, and they, up to the time of the reluctant separation from St. Andrew's, were a part of the corporation.

The claim, it is said, is good and cannot be set aside, and in proportion to what they contributed to the creation of said property, will be at least one-seventh of the appraised value of the whole corporation property.

Besides this, rumor further has it, that some of these people were owners of pews in the said church, and for these pews the individual owners intend to claim from the corporation what they originally paid for them—rather a pleasant outlook for the corporation if true. Where are the lawyers?

GOSPIP.

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became shrill and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower. Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure."
