

Catholicism in New Brunswick.

(Condensed from United Canada.)

The priest goes through the dormitories and attends to the sick. Vicar-General Langevin preached the sermon at the consecration of Jesus Christ; the Gospel of the day happened to be on the Good Samaritan. He bathed the wounds of the sick man whom he found and seated him upon a horse and took and cared for him, but the Sister took the leper to her own house, and with her own hands attended to his wants during his whole lifetime. This is the sublimity of the charity of Christ for the new law of love. After mass we visited the lazaretto. Bishop Rogers of the Diocese, Bishop Sweeney of St. John, former chaplain of the lazaretto; Bishop Duhamel of Ottawa, and the Perfect Apostolic of Newfoundland, Vicar-General Langevin, the chaplain of the lazaretto, another priest and myself, were present. The lepers sat right before us. Each of the Bishops gave a short address, exhorting the sufferers to have patience, and to join their sufferings with those of Christ, and telling them they are expiating the sins of the world, and awaiting the merits of heaven if they only accept the terrible affliction. Then one respectable looking gentleman stepped forward and made an address to Bishop Rogers. He thanked him for the vigor in which he worked for the most afflicted of his children by providing the good Sisters to take care of them. He concluded by saying that all he could do was to raise his diseased and mutilated hands to heaven in prayer for him. One poor woman threw herself on her knees before Bishop Sweeney who was the chaplain forty years before. This poor woman was a leper since then. She asked the Bishop's blessing, and the tears rolled from her cheeks, as she tried to wipe them with the stumps of her fingers under her apron. All the poor afflicted were now in tears. The incidents of that day I shall never forget. I praise the wonderful workings of Divine Providence afflicting some so as to give others an opportunity of gaining an eternal reward, for there can be no more meritorious work of charity than living among these and serving them. Sixty-two persons died since the Sisters took charge of the place a much less average than formerly. When the disease breaks out in a family, the family are seized with grief and shame, because they know not if some other member will likely catch it or not. What must have been the sorrow of the virgin's parents when she pronounces her determination of spending the rest of her days in the lazaretto. When leprosy once appears in a family none of its members marry, for fear it might spread from generation to generation. It is sure to appear in either the first or second generation. I am sure that the Federal Government, now their attention is turned to the need of a properly constructed hospital will act as it behoves Christian men and honorable statesmen to do. This is the only institution of its kind in America. Leprosy has baffled all the skill of physicians. A father may be afflicted and his wife and children are in sound health; one child of a family may be a leper while his brothers and sisters are not attacked. It commences with a most violent fever and pains all over the body; then chocolate spots appear, and the diseased parts of the victim are rendered perfectly insensible; then the joints are attacked and rot and fall off in washing their hands. The sisters often find the joints of these poor people in the wash-basin. We find at the lazaretto 25 persons, young and old, boys and girls, old men and old women, young men and young women. The object I wish to attain in this lecture is (1) to excite your gratitude to God that you are not afflicted; (2) to ask your prayers for these good nuns and their most charitable and kind chaplain and their afflicted patients; and (3) should occasion present itself, that you should encourage the members of the Federal Government to build a hospital for the lepers worthy of the charity and benevolence of the country and adequate to the wants of the poor lepers. May God pour out His heavenly blessings upon all.

The World's Largest Telegraph Office.

The biggest telegraph office in the world is that of London. It is located in the general post-office building, and is not accessible to the general public. It contains more than three thousand operators, and its batteries are supplied by a plant of 30,000 cells, or enough to make three solid glass rows of cells from the Capitol to the White House. This office does more business than any office in the United States. It despatches its business much quicker and more quietly than our offices do, and its main operating room is not half so noisy as the main office of the Western Union Company in New York. Of these 3,000 operators about one thousand are women. They have a room to themselves, and they do their work with American Morse instruments with registers and paper reels. In the other parts of the office all sorts of instruments are used, and the Hughes printing instruments are the most popular. In the big telegraph operating room of Paris 1,000 operators are at work. Nearly one-half of these are women. The day operators work only seven hours, while the night operators work ten hours, but they get bigger pay than those who work during the day.

Winter Sports.

The gay winter season exposes many to attacks of colds, coughs, hoarseness, tightness of the chest, asthma, bronchitis, etc., which require a reliable remedy like Haggard's Pectoral Balm for their relief and cure. Known as reliable for over thirty years. The best cough cure.

Minard's Liment cures Burns, &c.

There have appeared from time to time in the papers during the past year accounts of remarkable cures in various parts of the Dominion. In each case the circumstances connected therewith had been investigated by well-known newspapers, and there could be no doubt as to the entire reliability of the accounts given. Perhaps the case that attracted the most attention was that of Mr. John Marshall, of Hamilton. This was not perhaps because his case was any more remarkable than some others, but because it was attended by some other peculiar circumstances that served to emphasize it to the minds of the public, as for instance, the fact that he had been pronounced absolutely incurable by a score of clever physicians, and he was actually paid the $1,000 disability claim allowed by the Royal Templars of Temperance. Elsewhere in this issue is given the particulars of a cure in Cape Breton, which is quite as remarkable as that of Mr. Marshall. The particulars of the case are taken from the Halifax Herald, but they are also vouched for by Mr. Richardson, the editor and proprietor of the Island Reporter, Sydney, C. B., who says that in not a single particular is the story overdrawn. We fancy we hear some reader say, "Oh, pshaw! this doesn't interest me." But it does. The story is told elsewhere in worth reading, and we will guarantee before you are through with it you will be thoroughly interested.

Dyspepsia.

This disease may be traced to a variety of causes, such as constipation, liver troubles, improper food, etc. There is one cure—Burdock Blood Bitters—which may be thoroughly relied on to effect a permanent cure. It has cured obstinate cases of 25 years' standing.

The Indian national congress, in session at Nagpur, the capital of the central provinces of India, has adopted a resolution declaring it necessary that there be established a legislature in India to which the Indian people shall elect representatives. The resolution says that aside from climate conditions, starvation among the masses of the inhabitants of India is largely due to the fact that they have no parliamentary representatives. The resolution also says that it is imperative a reduction should be made in the expenditures for the Indian army.

Why There is a Revolution in Mexico.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.

The Herald correspondent at Laredo, Texas, has had an interview with Catarina Garza, leader of the Mexican revolutionists. In the interview Garza says he is desirous that the people of the United States may correctly understand his position. He is not, he asserts, leader of a band of border ruffians seeking only to gratify personal ends. He is head of a popular movement growing out of wide discontent of people in Mexican States along the Rio Grande, against the autocratic, tyrannical, selfish administration of President Diaz. He declares his following is greater than the outside world thinks and is sure to bring about the downfall of the present head of the Mexican government.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, Jan. 4. — Skirmishing of an indecisive character continues between the United States and Garza's revolutionists in Starr and Duval counties. The bandits, being better acquainted with the bushy and broken character of the country continue to elude their pursuers without serious loss. Gen. Stanley, however, is confident of either suppressing or driving Garza from American soil with the forces under his command.

A dispatch from Laredo received this morning says: "United States soldiers and Texan rangers are reported to have Garza surrounded in the northwestern part of Zapata county." If this be true it is impossible for Garza to escape in any direction.

THE WORLD OVER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.

You cannot swear at or abuse anybody in the Japanese language. The worst you can say is that he is a "fellow," and if you want to express your very, very pointed indignation you shout: "There, there."

Another wealthy citizen of Halifax has gone, J. W. Turner dying on Sunday, in his 74th year. Mr. Turner made a comfortable fortune at the tanning business in Dartmouth. His estate is estimated at $150,000.

Mrs. Evans, the new "Lady mayoress" of London, as her official designation goes, was at one time a chambermaid in a country hotel in a small Kentish town, where her future husband was accustomed to spend his winters. Now she hobnobs with the bluest of the blue.

The Rothschilds, once boycotted by every reigning family, are now received with the utmost distinction at almost every court in Europe. Even the exclusive court of Vienna has opened its portals to them, much to the disgust of the old aristocracy, but it was a matter of policy rather than preference.

A large mud shark, so-called by fishermen, came into Digby strait last Tuesday and ran ashore on the fishing beach, where it was captured by Messrs. Adams and others. Its length from tip of nose to tail was 14 feet long and its weight about two tons. The liver nearly filled a paraffine oil cask.

The year 1892 is the one hundredth anniversary of the year in which Poland lost her independence, and the women of that country, from the highest to the lowest, will wear the deepest mourning. The dry goods houses are showing nothing but mourning goods. Bonnets, furs, jewelry, gloves, dresses, are all to be black.

In the centre of a sawing 32 inches in diameter that was found at Moore, Mich., was an Indian tomahawk. It is six inches in length, and has a blade of rough forged iron about two and a half inches long. The solid timber over the head of the tomahawk was ten inches in thickness. It is estimated that it has been in the tree two centuries.

The great secret society of China, the Ka-lo-ho, is both political and patriotic, and its membership reaches into the millions. Its watchword is "China for the Chinese," and it aims not only at the expulsion of all foreigners from the Flowery Kingdom, but the overthrow of the present Tartar Emperor, and the restoration of the ancient Ming dynasty.

The other day one of the priests of St. Joseph's church, Halifax, was instructed to publish the bans of a young couple in that city. The lady was Miss Orman, aged 18 years. The bans were to have been published at 11 o'clock mass on Sunday, but instead of making the intended announcement the officiating priest announced the death of the intended bride. Miss Orman had died suddenly.

A volume recently published on the industries of women in Paris states that the imitation of autographs is a remunerative employment, albeit somewhat dangerous. Women clerks are to be seen more frequently in France than in any other continental country, and another important fact to be noted is they receive, as a rule, quite as good salaries as a man in the same position would have.

The number of patients at the branch Keeley institution at Farmington is fast increasing. It is said the result of the treatment thus far has been satisfactory. People are much interested in the bi-chloride of gold treatment, and the confidence of the public in it is growing. The Maine men who have taken the treatment, so far as is known, are all in the best of health, and none of them have any inclination to return to their former habits. If the Keeley cure is what it seems to be it is the greatest boon of the century.—Bangor Commercial.

A famous Brooklyn clergyman was once addressing a Sunday school on the lesson of the day, which happened to be "Jacob's Ladder." He got along swimmingly until a little urchin in one of the back seats squeaked out: "Why did the angels have to have a ladder when they had wings?" After the inevitable laugh had subsided, the clergyman said, "Well that is a fair question, who can answer it?" There was a pause, and then went up a pudgy fist. "Well, my little man," asked the clergyman, "Why was it?" "I guess maybe they was amoultin'," was the astonishing reply, and the address was concluded right there.—N. Y. Tribune.

Every one does not know that there is a French Canadian Board of Trade in Lewiston, says the Journal. They have rooms in Centennial Block. The institution was organized last March and has proved a success. Meetings are held once a week. The mission of the board is to guard against dead beats. The Canadian dealers meet in the rooms and compare notes, and if one has been burned by a dangerous fellow who will not pay his bills, there is small risk of any of the others trusting him after his trick is made known to the board. Many schemes that have been of advantage to the city have originated in Lewiston's French Canadian Board of Trade.

"German Syrup"

For Coughs & Colds.

John F. Jones, Edom, Tex., writes: I have used German Syrup for the past six years, for Sore Throat, Cough, Colds, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best.

B. W. Baldwin, Carnesville, Tenn., writes: I have used your German Syrup in my family, and find it the best medicine I ever tried for coughs and colds. I recommend it to everyone for these troubles.

R. Schmalhausen, Druggist, of Charleston, Ill., writes: After trying scores of prescriptions and preparations I had on my files and shelves, without relief for a very severe cold, which had settled on my lungs, I tried your German Syrup. It gave me immediate relief and a permanent cure.
