The census figures of Newfoundland, just published, are a great disappointment. The increase in the last seven years has only been at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent., while the population of St. John's has decreased by over 2,000.

The grand total of charitable bequests in England during the past year, including Baron Hirsch's $10,000,000 for Hebrew emigration, was $15,000,000, as against $11,500,000 in 1890.

It isn't always safe to poke fun at kings and potentates. They have heavy boots and can kick back. The Sultan of Turkey has proven this by suing the editor of an Italian comic paper for caricaturing him and having him sent to jail for three days and fined $75 and costs.

Owing to the fact that speculators are amassing wheat in the eastern provinces, to the detriment of the thousands of famished people, the Czar has sent the Mayor of Moscow to purchase 15,000,000 roubles' worth of wheat, all of which will be distributed among the starving. He has empowered the Mayor to offer a fair price for the wheat, and if the speculators then refuse to sell, he is instructed to confiscate the amount of wheat required.

Advices from Corvine, a station on the Soo line, 70 miles from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., received last week state that Dan McArthur, a Canadian, was brutally murdered in the saloon of D. Potvin. McArthur was in the saloon drinking with a number of other woodsmen when an argument started. A general fight ensued in which McArthur was stabbed in the back three times, expiring in about an hour.

Lord Vivian, who has been appointed ambassador at St. Petersburg, was born on January 19, 1834, was educated at Eton and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich. He entered the Foreign Office in 1851. In 1864 he went to Athens with the Draft Treaty for annexing the Ionian Islands to Greece. After serving in Egypt, he was appointed Minister at Berne in 1879, and in 1881 Envoy Extraordinary to the Swiss Federation. He occupied a similar position in Denmark till 1884, when he was transferred to Brussels, and acted as first plenipotentiary for Great Britain at the Anti Slavery Conference there in 1889.

The Russian Jews.
The ancient tradition that the Jews are condemned to wander forever, separated from each other and shunned by the rest of mankind, is to-day being terribly exemplified in Russia.

There can be no longer any doubt that the Czar has formed the settled purpose either to banish the enormous number of Jews who dwell in his dominions, or to subject them if they remain, to new cruelties and persecutions added to the old.

The whole world has been horrified by the late accounts of the severities to which the Russian Jews have been subjected. Recent decrees have forbidden Jewish artisans, mechanics and tradesmen from entering Moscow, and measures have been taken to banish from Moscow the Jewish tradesmen and artisans, about fourteen thousand in number, who already reside there.

Thousands of Jews have been expelled from their homes in the villages to what is called "the pale;" that is, the districts designated as those to which the Jews must confine their residence.

Those who have lived less than eight years in villages must leave them, and move into towns selected by the government. Many other restrictions and hardships, reported every week, are being inflicted in Russia on the unfortunate race.

Jews have been forbidden to observe the Hebrew Sabbath (Saturday), and to close their shops on that day, and are compelled to shut up their shops on Sunday.

There are probably two principal reasons why this relentless persecution has been entered upon and is being savagely carried out. One is the inveterate hatred, not only of the government and the Orthodox Church, but by the great mass of the people, both to the Jewish race and the Jewish religion.

The other is, that the Russian Jews, though generally of a low order of civilization, have been thrifty, have practised industry among the shiftless and intemperate Russian peasants, and have prospered in spite of the restricted sphere of their occupations.

The first appears to be the principal motive at the present time. There can be no doubt that the Czar's tyrannical course has been instigated and encouraged by the leading spirits of the Russian Orthodox Church.

As a consequence of the persecutions Jews have been pouring out of Russia, and seeking new homes in Western Europe and America, by thousands during the past two months. So numerous have been the Jewish emigrants to English shores, that the English government has taken alarm, and is adopting measures for restricting it.

A wealthy Austrian Jew, Baron Hirsch, is said to have devoted no less than fifteen million dollars to aid the exiles and settling them in new homes, and has devised an elaborate scheme for establishing them in colonies.

The exodus of the swarms of Jews, for the most part unskilled and poverty-stricken, has its serious aspect for the United States. There is evidence that the English and other governments threatened with their incursion are attempting to divert the stream of Jewish emigration to this country and South America.

We do not wish for or need this class of pauper emigrants. Already the hospitality of our shores has been taken advantage of by large numbers of Europeans whose presence among us is worse than unprofitable.

It is not just to the hard-working laborers of the United States to admit hordes of paupers from abroad to undermine the wages of honest toil; neither is it in the interest of peace and good order that the lowest classes of European society should have unrestricted entrance upon our soil.

It is to be hoped that, while deeply sympathizing with the Russian Jews in their misfortune, our government will take measures to restrict their wholesale entrance into this country.

A merchant of Melbourne, now in New York on his way to England, speaks as follows regarding Australian loyalty: "Where you obtain any information that Australia is at all likely to sever her connections with England and set up a republic, I cannot understand. There is a small body of malcontented politicians in Australia who favor separation. They do not make an open fight for their belief. The masses of people are so loyal that if a cry 'God save the Queen' goes up in the street, the man who refuses to recognize it by some kind of cordial response is likely to get a slap in the face or a punch in the ribs."
Three school boys, aged from 12 to 17 years, are in Kenton, O., jail charged with murder. Their teacher, Miss McLaughlin, corrected them for some misdemeanor yesterday, whereupon they began to beat her. Frank McLaughlin, the teacher's 12-year-old brother, interfered, when the boys turned upon him and inflicted injuries from which he died in a few hours. Miss McLaughlin's recovery is doubtful.

By a very ingenious and original process, Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., of Lowell, Mass., are enabled to extract the essential properties of the materials used in the preparation of their famous "Ayer's Sarsaparilla," thus securing a purity and strength that can be obtained in no other way.
