A Representative Farmer Speaks.

MR. C. C. HAUN.

The following remarkable facts are fully certified to as being undeniably correct in every particular. Mr. Haun is well known in the vicinity, having resided here over fifty years, and is highly respected as a man of the strictest honor, whose word is as good as his bond.

As will be seen from his letter, four physicians had attended him, and it was only after he had given up hope of cure that he decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters on the recommendation of a neighbor who had been cured of a similar disease by its use. Mr. Haun writes as follows:

DEAR SIRS,-I think I have been one of the worst sufferers you have yet heard of, having been six years in the hands of four of our best doctors without obtaining permanent relief, but continually growing worse, until almost beyond hope of recovery, I tried your Bitters and got relief in a few days. Every organ of my body was deranged, the liver enlarged, hardened and torpid, the heart and digestive organs seriously deranged, a large abscess in my back, followed by paralysis of the right leg, in fact the lower half of my body was entirely useless. After using Burdock Blood Bitters for a few days the abscess burst, discharging fully five quarts of pus in two hours. I felt as if I had received a shock from a powerful battery. My recovery after this was steady and the cure permanent, seeing that for the four years since I have had as good health as ever I had. I still take an occasional bottle, not that I need it but because I wish to keep my system in perfect working order. I can think of no more remarkable case than what I have myself passed through, and no words can express my thankfulness for such perfect recovery.

C. C. HAUN, Welland P.O.

In this connection the following letter from T. Cumines, Esq., a leading druggist of Welland, Ont., speaks for itself: Me srs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto.

GENTLEMEN,-I have been personally acquainted with Mr. C. C. Haun for the last 20 years, and have always found him a very reliable man. You may place the utmost confidence in anything he says with regard to your medicine. He has on many occasions within the last four years told me that it was marvellous the way the Burdock Blood Bitters had cured him, and that he now felt as able to do a day's work as he ever felt in his life. Although quite well he still takes some B. B. B. occasionally, as he says, to keep him in perfect health. Yours truly,

THOMAS CUMINES, Welland, Ont.

The steadily increasing sale of B. B. B., the length of time it has been before the people, and the fact that it cures to stay cured, attest the sterling merit of this monarch of medicines, the people's favorite blood purifier. tonic and regulator.

Ashes on Cigars.

"Few men professing to be judges of fine cigars know anything at all about smoking them," remarked a cigar dealer. "The ashes on the end of cigars serve to retain the flavor, and should be permitted to remain as long as possible. Then the constant thumping some smokers give their cigars in the atttempt to keep them clear of ashes often causes the wrappers of a good smoke."

He also added: "Never buy a ten cent cigar ; let it be a five or fifteen, or more, but a ten, never. The ten cent cigars are made out of the leavings of the turn the stolen property or to give any higher priced cigas and are never long equivalent for what he had taken. filled, while the five cent cigars are manufactured from a first class second grade of goods, and are long fillers, and as a rule, ed it -in the coating of his stomach. Ridale of the Sphinx. The famous riddle of the Sphinx, which was solved by Œdipus, is entirely rooted in metaphor. "What is that animal which in the morning goes on four feet, at noon goes on two, and in the evening goes on three feet? Answer: Man. Here morning, noon and evening are metaphors of infancy, manhood and age; also, there is a metaphorical use of the word "feet," which is applied in one place to hands used for support, and in another place to a staff used for support, and in another place to a staff used as if it were a third foot.

NECTANEBO'S PUZZLE. Once Nectanebo thought he was sure to puzzle the Babylonian, and his question was as follows: "There is a grand temple which rests upon a single column, which column is encircled by twelve cities; every city has against its walls thirty flying buttresses, and each buttress has two women, one white and one black, that go round about it in turns Say what that temple is called." Æsop was equal to the occasion, and he explained it thus: The temple is the world, the column is the year, the twelve cities are the months, the thirty buttresses are the days, the two women are light and darkness.

Dan's Diamond.

A funny incident is related of Dan, an ostrich in Robinson's circus. Dan died lately in Cincinnati, of la grippe.

Six months ago, while the circus was exhibiting at Montreal, Dan was impertinent and dishonest enough to deliberately pick off a diamond from a gentleman's shirt to break, and that also lessens the pleasure front. The gentleman was gazing at Dan at the time, and it was certainly very un. kind of Dan so to reward his admiration, but he did.

The gentleman remonstrated about the matter, but Dan absolutely refused to re-
