Bathurst School Inquiry. BATHURST, June 12.—The evidence for the petitioners was concluded this morning, and the case for the other side was taken up after dinner. It is understood by counsel that the enquiry will be brought to an end some time tomorrow or by Wednesday at the latest. Mr. Lawlor and Mr. White say they have only a few more witnesses to call, and that they are not expected to occupy very much time. The first witness this morning was Geo. Wheeler, teacher of the private Protestant school in the town, who told what he knew about the closing of the school room door against himself and his pupils, and that he had heard trustee O'Brien denounce Rev. Mr. Sellar in language marked by profanity and obscenity.

E. GIRAUD, BARRISTER AT LAW INSURANCE AGENT. ATTORNEY FOR PATENTS from the Governments of the United States and Canada. MONCTON, N. B. OFFICE.

Wm. Rodgers, farmer, of district 16, testified to the amount of school taxes he had paid; to a conversation with Dr. Inch on school matters, and that he held personally strong objections to sisters of charity teaching in the public schools in their official capacity.

H. H. JAMES, Barrister at Law, Notary, SOLICITOR AND CONVEYANCER, Referee in Equity, JUDGE OF PROBATES, BUCTOUCHE, N. B.

James Gammon and T. Edwin Carter gave evidence as to the so called riot at the Protestant school house door, of which they were eye witnesses.

C. RICHARDSON, Barrister, SOLICITOR, NOTARY PUBLIC Referee in Equity. RICHIBUCTO, N. B.

Mrs. Hannah Ellis, wife of Robt. Ellis of the town of Bathurst, testified that trustee O'Brien had told her that grade 7 had been removed from the grammar school to the convent by order of board of education. She had declined to send her children to the Protestant school, and testified that they had advanced well under Mr. O'Brien's teaching.

R. HUTCHINSON, Q. C., Clerk of Peace, VICE CONSUL FOR SWEDEN AND NORWAY, LLOYD'S SUB-AGENT, Divisional Registrar Births Marriages and Deaths. RICHIBUCTO, N. B.

The matter of recalling Dr. Inch on points touched on since he was on the stand was brought up by Hon. Mr. White who suggested that his evidence be taken at Fredericton when the commission met to hear argument.

Geo. V. McInerney, Barrister, Attorney, Notary, &c. Solicitor for the Merchants Bank of Halifax. RICHIBUCTO, N. B.

Samuel Branch of Bathurst village, the first witness called for the defence, testified that Wm. Rodgers had told him the morning after the school meeting that had been there he would have voted to do away with the superior school. This was in direct contradiction of Mr. Rodgers' evidence.

B. S. BAILEY, NOTARY PUBLIC, STIPENDIARY MAGISTRATE, ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES, AUCTIONEER & GENERAL AGENT. Weldford, N. B.

Mr. Lawlor expressed the hope that argument would be here and not at Fredericton.

R. Barry Smith, BARRISTER, ATTORNEY, &c., NOTARY PUBLIC. Brown's Block, Main street. MONCTON, N. B.

Hon. F. J. McManus was the next witness He testified to being a trustee of Bathurst Village for some years past, and he worked with a view to conciliate all parties. He gave a somewhat minute sketch of the history of the school affairs in the village since 1890. In the course of his evidence he remarked that there were three elements to be considered by the trustees—the Protestants, the French Catholics and the Catholics who were not French. Most of the children were French, while there were but nineteen Protestant pupils in the village. Mr. McManus was on the stand when the enquiry was adjourned till tomorrow.

POWELL & BENNET, BARRISTERS AND ATTORNEYS, SACKVILLE, N. B.

John J. Fournier, aged 17, testified to having gone to school to Philip Boudreau, and that Protestants were neither induced to cross themselves, to attend catechism, or to kneel during prayers.

H. M. FERGUSON, J. P. Issuer of Marriage Licenses, ACCOUNTS COLLECTED AND PROMPTLY PAID OVER. KINGSTON, KENT COUNTY, N. B.

Bella Roy, aged 11, of Roman Catholic parentage, testified to Miss Ross and Miss Eddy reading the Bible and teaching Protestant hymns in school hours.

Jas. Brown, CONTRACTOR, AND MANUFACTURER OF DIMENSION LUMBER, Weldford Station, I. C. R., Kent County.

John J. Fournier, aged 17, testified to having gone to school to Philip Boudreau, and that Protestants were neither induced to cross themselves, to attend catechism, or to kneel during prayers.

parentage, testified to Miss Ross and Miss Eddy reading the Bible and teaching Protestant hymns in school hours. BATHURST, June 14.—This morning P. J. Vuolot, editor of the local paper, John J. Harrington and Chas. Boss were examined by Mr. Lawlor with respect to the so called riot in front of the Protestant separate school, and to the putting of a lock on the door by Mr. Boss, who, as landlord, objected to the Orangemen settling the place to the Protestant committee. Mr. Boss denied that he was instigated by the Catholics in his course or that he had told anyone so. A. J. H. Stewart, clerk for the St. Lawrence Lumber Co., submitted extracts from the town assessment to show that the Catholics paid more rates than the Protestants. Elizabeth Glazier, a Catholic, who some years ago went to school in district thirteen testified that she had been beaten by Miss Buttiner, the teacher, because she would not join in singing Protestant hymns in school hours. She was beaten several times with a strap in the presence of the other scholars. The witness further swore that this teacher and Miss Eddy, another teacher, both Methodists, read the Protestant Bible after roll call in the morning and punished the scholars who were not present by keeping them in during recess. The trustees were Protestants. The great mass of the pupils were Protestants and they never had a Catholic teacher. K. F. Burns, M. P., was examined at considerable length by Mr. Lawlor and then cross examined by Mr. Skinner. In his direct evidence Mr. Burns covered a period of some 28 years, from the erection of the village convent to the present day. He detailed the condition of things when the Sisters of Charity were there, from 1864 till 1871, when the sisters of the congregation of Notre Dame were in possession from 1871 to 1890 and what transpired thereafter, all with respect to school affairs. He touched on the widespread feeling of dissatisfaction and discontent created among Catholics by the enactment of the free school law, which feeling was intensified by the so-called "military" regulation that was intended to shut out members of religious orders from teaching in the schools. This agitation continued until the concessions of 1876 were obtained by witness and his Catholic colleagues in the legislature. Mr. Burns gave a history of what had taken place here since then, most of which has been already covered by previous witnesses, and minutely narrated what part he had personally played in school meetings, etc. He had done all in his power to cultivate cordial relations between Protestants and Catholics, and was glad of this opportunity to disprove the charge that he had controlled school meetings, controlled the trustees and dealt a death blow to the grammar school, and in general worked on the lines that the Catholic majority would compel the Protestant minority to pass under the rod. He had heard that the whole object of the enquiry was to get at Mr. Burns. Questioned on this point, he said he had been told by Wm. Welsh, station agent at Gloucester Junction, that Jerome Boudreau told him Geo. W. Fowler said so to Jerome on the train from Campbellton. Mr. Fowler here arose and flatly and comprehensively denied the statement. He was here as counsel only and was not a party to the case. John Sivewright, M. P. P., who corroborated a part of Mr. Burns' evidence and contradicted much of Rev. Mr. Sellar's testimony, said that recognizing the sanctity of his oath, he would swear Mr. Sellar was not a truthful man; that he had a malignant mind and gave evidence of possessing a disordered brain. Lizzie Garret testified to teaching with the Catholic and Church of England catechism in one school in school hours. A. J. H. Stewart was recalled to give evidence as to what Protestants were favorable to the schools as at present conducted, but objection being taken by Mr. Skinner at his classification it was shut out, and he was only examined as to a few individuals. BATHURST, June 15.—The enquiry was brought to a close at noon, so far as the taking of evidence was concerned, and after hearing counsel as to where argument should be heard, Judge Fraser adjourned the enquiry till Wednesday, August second at Fredericton Mr. Skinner and Mr. Lawlor strongly advocated resuming at Bathurst, but Mr. White as strongly opposed their proposition, on the grounds that it would rekindle the fires of religious strife. In all sixty-five witnesses were examined, today Francis Fennett, trustee of district four, Petit Rocher, testified he had never heard any complaints from parents as to the teaching of the catechism and saving of prayers in school. Miss Blackhall, telegraph operator, in the town, and W. R. Paine, station agent at Bathurst station, produced the original message handed in by Rev. Mr. Sellar, and addressed to "Herman H. Pitts, Esq." The prefix of "Hon." was not on it, and was not sent by Mr. Paine, who forwarded the message. John Gammon, recalled, testified that Mr. Boss told him he favored establishing a separate Protestant school, and that his hall was just the place for it. Mr. Skinner offered some further evidence in rebuttal of statements made by the witnesses for the defence, but Judge Fraser ruled that it was not admissible at this stage. It was agreed that Dr. Inch should be recalled before the commission when the enquiry was resumed at Fredericton, but that no other witnesses should be heard. "How to Cure all Skin Diseases." THE STEVENS TRIAL. DORCHESTER, June 12.—The point raised by Mr. Powell in regard to the admissibility of Miss Marvin's evidence was decided by his honor against Mr. Powell this afternoon on the court resuming. This witness was cross-examined at some length by Mr. Wells, but nothing new was given. W. Burnett was next called. Mabel Glennie Hallett Stevens was my niece. Had a conversation with Mrs. Stevens after Mabel died. She told me she died about 7 o'clock; she said she had given her syrup of squills; she said Mabel was becoming smart and teachable and was getting quite useful to her. (Mrs. Stevens) that Mr. Stevens is so attached to you when you punish her so much. I swear positively I did not see Mabel within fourteen months before her death. Mrs. White said: I took Mabel to learn to dressmake. Mrs. Stevens said she would send her two years, as she wanted her to learn it. Witness at some length told of the different conversations between her and Mrs. Stevens in regard to the spoons and other things, which were about the same as given at Moncton. Mrs. White was still on the stand when the court adjourned. DORCHESTER, June 13.—The court opened this morning at 10 o'clock. The cross-examination of Mrs. White was continued. I had four conversations with Mrs. Stevens about Mabel. I am not prepared to state that the first conversation did not take place the last day of October. I remember I told the magistrate that I gave the identical words used by Mrs. Stevens in the conversation. In the conversation between Christmas and New Year's she told me she had whipped her. That is the only time. I made a mistake yesterday afternoon when I told Mr. Pugsley "I did not ask Mrs. Stevens about the spoons." My attention was called to the mistake after I went off the stand last night. My niece called my attention to it. Miss Babineau is my niece's name. She did not have the paper with my evidence in taken at the magistrate's court. This is the correct statement: "I asked Mrs. Stevens if she had found out anything more about the spoons." Mrs. Stevens seemed anxious about the spoons. Mrs. Stevens told me Mabel had put them in the sewer. I cannot remember whether she told me they had the drain taken up or not. Mabel commenced to work with me in May, 1892. She missed a good deal of time. She used to be away a week or more at a time when Mrs. Stevens was away. One time she was away two weeks at once. She told me Mrs. Stevens was away and she had to work home. She was in good health. I know Mr. and Mrs. Stevens were away about two months. I do not know who the housekeeper was when they were away. She seemed to be in good health the last morning she was at my house. Her hours were from eight in the morning to eleven at dinner time, and from twelve to five in the afternoon. She was not a very rugged girl. She was small of her age. Mrs. Stevens was very anxious about her getting her trade thoroughly. I do not remember Mrs. Stevens saying that she was going to learn her millinery after she learned dressmaking. Mabel was in the habit of singing at her work. Mrs. Stevens told me in the conversation after her death she had with me that she had given her syrup of figs. I don't know
