Parliament.

OTTAWA, March 13.—The evidence in the Caron commission of enquiry has been printed and distributed among the members.

Charlton's motion that the Canadian department of the Columbian Exhibition should be closed on Sunday in deference to the christian sentiment of the country, evoked a discussion that lasted till six o'clock. Charlton supported his resolution at great length, and Hon. Mr. Foster in asking him to withdraw the motion and leave the Government's hands untied, pointed out that while a great deal might be said in favor of closing the exhibition on the Sabbath, the Canadian exhibits were not by themselves, that Canada had no section to itself and that, as in all great exhibitions, Canada's course would be guided by that of the Mother Land and the associated colonies. The Canadian building and offices, he said, would be closed on Sundays.

Charlton, having declined to withdraw his motion, Hon. Mr. Daly moved the adjournment of the debate.

This enraged Charlton, who charged Hon. Mr. Foster with having departed from the principles that obtain in all evangelical churches and with doing violence to the christian sentiment of the land.

McLean, of the Toronto World, who represents East York, suggested that Charlton's advocacy of Sabbath observance would go down better with the country if he would stop the whistles of his own big boats on the Lord's day.

The house divided at six o'clock when Daly's motion to adjourn the debate was carried, 76 to 34.

Senator Botsford took his seat to-day for the first time this session.

Snowball is the only New Brunswick senator who has not yet put in an appearance.

After recess Hon. Mr. Foster brought down the papers relating to the French treaty and briefly explained the chief points of the treaty in their bearing on trade between the two countries. He showed that the treaty needed revising in some important particulars and stated that he would not therefore ask the house to ratify it this year.

OTTAWA, March 14.—The session to-day and to-night was wholly occupied with the discussion of Dalton McCarthy's trade and tariff resolution, which is as follows:

"That since the introduction of the protective system sufficient time has elapsed for the establishment and development of such manufacturing industries as under existing conditions can be successfully carried on in Canada. Moreover any manufacturers sheltered behind the rampart thus erected have formed combinations which prohibit competition and create and maintain monopolies. That the existing tariff, defensible only as a protective measure, has proved in many instances oppressive and burdensome to the great mass of the consuming classes and especially to those engaged in agricultural pursuits, is unfair and unequal in its incidence, and has been productive of discontent verging on disloyalty among those who suffer from its injustice; that no sufficient reason has been adduced or exists requiring an investigation respecting the foregoing facts, which are notorious, nor justifying delay in the passage of remedial legislation which is imperative. That in the opinion of this house the tariff ought to be at once amended in respect of the matters herein indicated and also by the substantial reduction of customs duties in favor of the United Kingdom in whose market all Canadian products are admitted duty free, and of those nations which under treaty obligations with Great Britain would be entitled to the same advantage graduated however so as not unnecessarily to prejudice the business of the country nor to do wrong to those who have paid duties in accordance with its provision. And this house declares its readiness to make a like reduction in favor of such other portions of the empire or with such other foreign countries, especially the United States of America, as are willing to reciprocate in matters of trade with Canada on fair and equitable terms."

McCarthy supported his resolution in a speech of great length, giving the reasons that influenced him in bringing it forward at the present time, the chief reason being that he had no confidence that the government would revise the tariff to anything like the extent demanded by the people of Canada. He was repeatedly applauded by the full strength of the opposition.

Hodins, the conservative member for Carleton, Ontario, seconded the resolution.

Dr. Montague followed.

The member for Haldimand took up one after another of the arguments advanced by the occupant of the cross benches, pointing out that to adopt McCarthy's resolution would be to arouse the hostility of the United States at the very time there are hopes that we may arrange a satisfactory Reciprocity Treaty with the party that had just succeeded to power.

After speeches by Edgar and Taylor the house adjourned at midnight.

OTTAWA, March 15.—This was the last day, but one, of the session available for business brought up by private members, as henceforth till prorogation Government measures will take precedence of private legislation. A great variety of matters were consequently brought up to-day, mostly of a local, rather than general character. The only purely maritime question discussed was the expense of the boring for the P. E. Island tunnel, which was taken advantage of by Perry and others.

Davin, who had given notice of an enquiry to-day whether the controller of customs had stated at a banquet in Kingston, Ont., last Friday, that the orangemen of Canada would actively aid the orangemen of Ireland in resisting Home Rule, said he would hold over his question till Hon. Clarke Wallace, who is out of the city, was in his place in the House.

This evening several hours were taken up in discussing Dr. Weldon's bill to punish electors taking bribes.

McLeod of St. John, Lister, Dickey and others heartily supported the measure, pointing out where it needed amendment, while Col. Anyot, Jeannette, Choquette, Monet, Masson & Co. did their best to prevent its passage this session.

Mills suggested referring the bill to a select committee to make needed amendment, but Weldon declined the offer, owing to the session being on its last legs, and offered to accept the amendments and pass them at once. The first section was carried, 55 to 27, with a slight amendment. The bill was debated till nearly midnight, and after several sections had been more or less amended, progress was reported with leave to sit again.

Before adjournment Hon. Mr. Foster said the government desired to reach a division on McCarthy's resolution tomorrow night or early Friday morning.

OTTAWA, March 16.—Mr. Davin enquired to-day if the Controller of Customs had really stated in his Kingston speech that Canadian Orangemen would give material aid to their brethren in Ulster.

Hon. Clarke Wallace was absent from the House when Davin asked the question and Hon. Mr. Foster replied that the government had no information on the subject.

At a meeting of the Agricultural Committee to-day, a motion was passed recommending the Government to grant $2000 in each constituency to not more than four cheese factories, to be converted in the winter months into butter making establishments.

Soon after the House opened this afternoon Lister took the floor and asked an explanation from the Government of the special cable which appeared in the Montreal Star of Wednesday in relation to the treaty with France.

Hon. Mr. Foster replied that the whole telegram was based on a misconception of his remarks in the House. He did not say that the Government would not ask the House to ratify the treaty this session.

Edgar read a cablegram dated February 6th from the Premier to Sir Charles Tupper at Paris as follows: "No draft received, no steps taken towards ratification until we cable approval—at present can not understand what terms proposed on either side." To this Sir Charles Tupper replied from London, addressing his despatch to Hon. Mr. Bowell, that he had left Paris before Sir John Thompson's message was received, and that the treaty was signed on Monday in accordance with instructions from the Canadian Government.

Edgar asked the finance minister to explain what this correspondence meant.

Mills, of Bothwell, expressed surprise that Sir Charles Tupper should have signed such a one-sided agreement, and could see no justification for Sir Charles' strong language.

Lister charged Hon. Mr. Foster with having created the impression by his remarks the other night that he would not call on the House to ratify the treaty this session and Cartwright said he certainly inferred from Mr. Foster's stinging criticism of the treaty that it was a dead duck. He wanted the Finance Minister to state whether the government intended to press the treaty or not.

Col. O'Brien, Mulock, Tarte and Borden followed in the same line.

Hon. Mr. Foster's reply was to the point. He said the words he used the other night had been well weighed and he would stand by them. They could be found in the Hansard. As for the other information asked for, it could be found in the correspondence brought down by him, which embraced all the instructions given to Sir Charles Tupper. These instructions were written and were not verbal. The matter then dropped.

The opposition are much excited over the Treaty situation, as it stands at present.

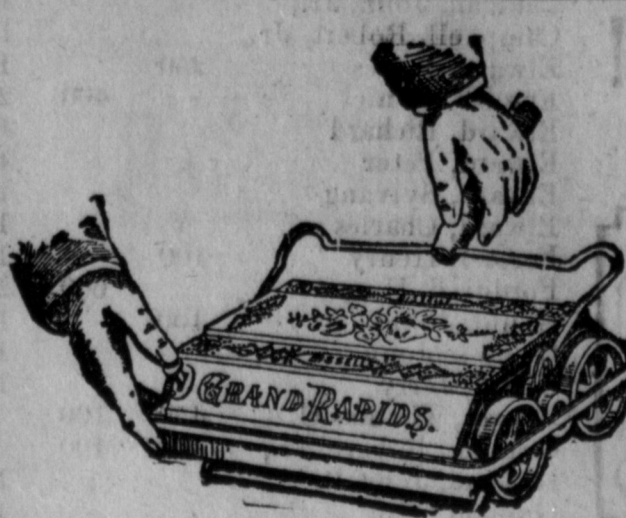

The debate on McCarthy's trade resolution was then resumed by Hon. Mr. Ives, followed by Davin and Coatsworth who had the floor at recess.

McCarthy's resolution was debated till 1.40 when it was defeated, 64 to 116.

OTTAWA, Mch. 17.—The House has been engaged in supply and routine business to-day. The attendance of members to-night is the smallest of the Session, due to the many St. Patrick's entertainments in progress.

Replying to a question in the Senate to-day, Hon. Mr. Bowell said Canada had not communicated with the Imperial government touching the American movement to annex Hawaii. England acted wisely in not protesting, as had she done as President Harrison would have been forced by the voice of the American people to have completed the annexation of the islands at once.
