THE STEVENS TRIAL.
 Cross-examined by Mr. Wells—My bed was a sofa bed. Mabel's bed was a little higher than mine. The room Mabel slept in was a very nice room; it was warm. It was all finished, except the bricks in the chimney were not plastered over. Mabel's room was a pleasant one. Mabel's own trunk was in the room and three other trunks were in the room. The window in Mabel's looked out on Botsford street. I had been with Mrs. Stevens from the 1st of October. Mabel took her meals down with the other children before she took them in her room. The difficulty about the dusters occurred the last week in October. I do not think Mrs. Stevens punished Mabel for taking the dusters. I never saw Mrs. Stevens punish Mabel while I was there. Mabel used to dust the parlor in the mornings before the handkerchief trouble. I prepared Mabel's meals, mostly all of them myself. She got all she wanted. Mabel had free access to the sitting room upstairs so far as I know. I don't think Mrs. Stevens was out during the day, that is the 3rd of January. I don't think Mr. Caldwell was out that day. Mrs. Stevens was always very attentive to anyone that was sick in the house. She gave me a dose of castor oil when I was sick and then she came in to see how I was during the night several times. She treats me as well as my mother would. When Mrs. Stevens knew Mabel was vomiting she went into Mabel's room. The vomit on the floor covered a space half as large as a newspaper. Mrs. Stevens gave Mabel syrup of figs. Mrs. Stevens put Mabel in my bed while I was down stairs telling David to go for the doctor. She said she did not want the doctor to come in that room where the vomit was. When I came down stairs I found Rose Landry in the kitchen. I told her that Mrs. Stevens said she need not wash to-day as Mabel was dead. Only Mrs. Stevens took breakfast that morning. When Mrs. Stevens was heating the oil she told me she was going to give it to Mabel as she was constipated. Mr. Stevens' house is heated with hot water. The heat is kept up night and day in the main house. The heat was kept up the usual way in January last. The 26 or 27 of January was the last time Mrs. Landry was at Mrs. Stevens' house. On this occasion Mrs. Stevens told Mrs. Landry that they were going to take Mabel's body up. Mrs. Landry said I cannot say that you ever used Mabel bad. When I looked at Mabel in the coffin her hands were not covered. I did not see any marks on Mabel's hands. Mrs. Stevens was very kind to Mabel while I was there. She gave her a set of furs Christmas eve. Mabel never said to me that Mrs. Stevens ill-treated her. Mabel told me Mrs. Stevens was very kind to her, as was also Mr. Stevens. Mrs. Stevens gave me a bottle of iron and quinine one time.

It was resolved to meet in the mornings after this at 9 o'clock.
 The examination of Miss Agnes Shea was concluded early in the afternoon. The next witness was Roland Keith. He was the coroner on this case. He made no particular examination of the body. He stepped away and gave the Jurors a chance to examine it.
 The next witness was James Marine. He was one of the coroner's jury. He said: I saw a blotch on the leg of the deceased, just above the ankle, about the size of an English eightpence. There was a spot on the bottom of the coffin about the same size. His opinion was that serum oozed from the wound. I saw three classes of marks; first, blotches; secondly, short marks from one to two inches long; thirdly, marks from five to seven inches long. The witness at some length described the marks, which testimony was similar to Mr. McManus' evidence given on Saturday. The night dress of the body was about a foot too long. There was a blotch on the wrist. It was of a dark color with a white border. The breast, and outer sides of the arms were very free from marks and looked natural.

J. S. Magee, another of the coroner's jury, was next called. His evidence was very nearly the same as Mr. Marine's. He would swear positively there were fifty marks on the body.
 Alex. Girvan was next called. He was one of the jury. His evidence was very similar to the rest.
 J. W. Whitehead was next called. His evidence was somewhat shorter than the rest and very similar.

The court adjourned at 6.30 to meet at 9 in the morning.
 DORCHESTER, June 15.—The court opened this morning at 9 o'clock.
 Simon Melanson was the first witness called. To Mr. Pugsley—I live in Moncton. I am a merchant. I was on the coroner's jury on the body of Mabel Glennie Hallett Stevens. I think the body was taken out of the coffin carefully. I don't think it could be done any better. There were some marks on the hands. There were three marks on the hands. I would not swear which hand these three marks were on. I observed a mark just below the left eye. It extended about half an inch below the outer edge of the eye. It was of a bluish color. The body was covered with a white dress. It extended about a foot longer than the feet. The sleeves of the night dress extended within one inch from the tips of the fingers. They had to take a knife and cut the shirt to get it off. The socks on the legs were too long. They came above the knees a good deal. I noticed when they took off the socks they took a very small layer of outer skin in some places. They looked just as if there was little pimples where the outer skin was taken off. I only noticed these pimples on one leg. The under shirt was removed with care. The drawers looked like woollen drawers. I saw marks on the body after the clothing was removed. I saw marks on the outer sides of the arms. I noticed marks below the abdomen. The skin where these marks were was smooth and just discolored. The skin under the arms on the breast looked natural. Some of the marks looked just like pimples. I will not swear which way the lines ran. They ran angling, but I would not swear which way. Below the knee there were quite a number of marks. Some of these marks were a half an inch or more long. The skin below the knees was very much discolored. There was a very dark discoloration just above the ankle. I saw a red spot on the cloth that was left in the coffin. It was a little lighter than blood. I did not look to see where that blood came from. There were marks on the back of the thighs. I will not swear which way they ran. These marks were of a very dark color. The marks on the shoulders differed in color from those on the front of the thighs.

They were of a greenish shade. There was odor from the body. There was lining in the coffin.
 To Mr. Powell—There was a very distinct smell from the body. I did not notice any marks on the back of the body, except those patches on the shoulders. I had a good opportunity to see the back. It was my duty to see the marks. I feel certain that if there had been marks on the back of the body I would have seen them.
 To Juror Frier—I saw something on the stockings about the color of blood; this was on one of the legs of the socks, about half way between the knee and ankle; I could not swear which leg. I thought the odor came from the body. The smell did not come from the body until it was turned over.
 To Juror Campbell—I did not notice any excelsior under the body.
 To Mr. Powell—I have no doubt this smell came from the body. I don't think I am mistaken about the blood on the stocking.
 H. G. Wadman sworn. To Mr. Pugsley—I reside in Moncton. Am a merchant. I was one of the coroner's jury that sat on the body of the late Mabel Glennie Hallett Stevens. The coffin was taken out of the grave by ropes. I saw the lid taken off the coffin. I think the body was taken from the coffin with care. The body had a white night-dress on; it was rather longer than the corpse; the embroidery on the sleeves reached down to the second joint of the third finger. I saw marks on the right wrist. The one at the top of the wrist was about the size of a dime and dark in color. I did not notice any mark on the left wrist. There was a mark on the left eye. I will not swear whether it was above or below the eye. I did not see any other mark on the face. I did not notice anything when the stockings were taken off. The shirt was cut down the front. I saw several marks on the legs. There were several marks on the front of the legs. The marks ran at an angle across the legs. I could not say how many marks were on the front of the legs. The width of these marks was from 1/4 inch to 1/2 inch. These marks seemed to be pointed at the end. These marks were of a darkish red color. The marks did not vary in color. I noticed a mark below the calf of the right leg. The skin was broken. I noticed a stain on the bottom of the coffin. It looked like blood. I did not notice any stain on the stockings. I saw a few marks on the shoulders. They were about an inch in width, and from two to three inches in length. They were of a very dark color. They were on the fleshy part of the shoulders. I saw no marks on the thighs. The abdomen was very dark. I saw no marks on the abdomen. The skin under the arms looked natural. I did not notice the inner part of the legs. I have stated all I noticed about the marks. I did not notice any odor from the corpse.
 To Mr. Powell—I have seen bodies that have been drowned. I do not recollect seeing any bodies that were buried and again dis-interred except Mabel's. I went purposely to inspect the body as a juror. I have given all the marks I saw on the body. I think if there had been any more I would have seen them. The legs above the knees had a marbled appearance. The clothes could not be got off without cutting them in order to preserve the body. The marks on the shoulders were on the fleshy part. I noticed the soles of the feet. The marks on the thighs were of a uniform color.
 To Mr. Pugsley—I have had some experience in handling dead bodies.
 To Juror Frier—I did not make an effort to discover any odor from the body.
 To Juror Purdy—There were no marks on the side of the wrist, they were all on the back or the front.
 To Mr. Powell—The wound at the base of the calf was the only one I saw.
 Mrs. Milligan was the next witness called. Her evidence was of no importance.
 The court adjourned at 11 o'clock, as the medical testimony was next to be heard and the doctors would not be in attendance until the 11.30 train arrived; hence the adjournment.
 The medical men did not arrive on the train as expected. A great deal of excitement existed when Mrs. Mary White gave her testimony. Her evidence varied some, as will be seen. She answered the examining counsel in somewhat of a short and confident way, notwithstanding her contradictions at some stages.
 To Mr. Pugsley she said—I live in Sunny Brae; I used to work for Mrs. H. T. Stevens; I remember one morning when I was there, I heard a cry from the coal shed; I saw Mabel near the coal shed door shortly before I heard the cry. I saw Mrs. Stevens come from the coal shed door after I heard the cry. This happened between 10 and 11 o'clock in the forenoon. I will swear that it was a genuine cry and not an imitation. When Mabel came out her hair was hanging down over her shoulders and her eyes were sore.
 To Mr. Wells—I did not tell Mr. and Mrs. David White that I did not know whether the cry came from the coal shed or from the street. I swear now that it came from the coal shed. If I told them that I told them a lie. I was not on my oath at that time, when I told them. I will swear Mabel had her head tied up sometimes.
 Bessie Babineau was next called. She said: I was in Mrs. White's shop; I saw
