Lecture and Entertainment at Kingston.

Built during the hottest part of the battle between the advocates of prohibition and license that preceded the abortive attempt of Hon. S. L. Tilley and his colleagues to make New Brunswick the Maine of Canada, the old Temperance Hall of Kingston has had its walls to echo the voice of the most eloquent speakers of the Dominion, and has been the theatre of both comedy and tragedy.

Blown up with gunpowder during the heat of the temperance contest, the scene of the celebrated east tearing episode, in which a torn coat tail cost several thousands of dollars to society, county and province, it yet marks the former centre of the then busy and prosperous town of Kingston, or the Yard as it was at one time called.

The days of the old hall are, however, numbered, and the ladies of Kingston have decided that it must be replaced by a structure more in accordance with modern ideas. Some $300.00 was raised by subscriptions, and on Friday evening, March 24th, R. Nelson, Esq., of Manitoba, who has been giving a series of lectures through the county, descriptive of the Northwest, gave one in aid of the new hall.

The old hall was filled to its utmost capacity with the most deeply interested audience that has for many a day crowded its ancient portals. After giving a series of over 100 magnificent views of Manitoba, the Northwest generally, and British Columbia, Mr. Nelson was requested by the chairman to take the platform and tell the audience what he knew of Manitoba.

The offer was accepted, and the lecturer explained that he was here, not for the purpose of making people dissatisfied with the Lower Provinces and inducing them to leave the country, but on the contrary to show them what a magnificent heritage we have in the great west.

After giving a brief description of the country, its soil, its climate and its various resources, the speaker told of his own experience. How he had gone out as a pioneer, tramped over the prairie for three weeks with his ox team, selected his home and broke his land, struggled against all the difficulties of the situation, and now there was a village growing up on one of his lots.

Last week while one of our young men was hunting near Coal Branch lake, he discovered at the outlet a large quantity of fish, and managed to scoop out a large basketful. Since then, a large quantity has been caught. They resemble a bass somewhat, and are from nine to twelve inches in length. They are quite acceptable, coming at this season. This lake is situated about four miles from the railway track, and is quite an extensive one, being about two miles long and one and a half miles wide, and the water in some places is thirty feet deep, with hard, sandy bottom.

more law-abiding, intelligent people in the world than were in Manitoba. And as it was now well known that the brainiest people in the Dominion were found down here by the sea, Manitoba hungered for the fine population that was leaving these provinces. Here they would find the best of schools, the most energetic churches and a system of education not surpassed in the world. He hoped that the kindly hearts of some of New Brunswick's fair daughters would lead them to pity the condition of these western bachelors after they had seen their sad condition. He concluded by an effective appeal to all who heard him to weigh the advantages of Manitoba against those of any other country in the world, promising all who should conclude to cast in their lot with Manitoba a warm welcome to their new home.

He spoke of the cheap excursion now going out that takes one from any part of the Lower Provinces to Winnipeg at $13.50 a fare. Mr. Nelson is a fluent speaker, with a strong Scottish accent easily recognized as being first lisped in Annandale whence came the fathers of most of his audience. When he warmed up to his work in speaking of the people of his adopted country, his trials and achievements and prospects, he developed a combination of humor and pathos that came dangerously near being true eloquence.

The Indian Remedy quartette then sang in fine style a couple of songs. Mr. Leavigne gave an impromptu organ recital. Councillor Ferguson moved in a neat speech a vote of thanks to Mr. Nelson and his assistant, which was duly tendered. Mr. McKinley, Esq., did the same for the Indian Remedy troupe, and a most enjoyable and instructive evening was closed by singing God Save the Queen. If this Canada of ours had more men whose enthusiasm was awakened by the greatness of our own country, and whose sympathies would embrace the whole of our great national domain we should see less people making the mistake of going to an already overcrowded market to sell their labor and their good name.

Coal Branch Station.

Spring is again making its appearance, and the fields are almost entirely clear of snow.

There is yet a large quantity of logs to be hauled to the brooks, also a lot of pulp wood and other kinds of lumber to be gotten out, and the lumbermen are in hopes of there being snow enough yet to make sledding.

Mr. David Lawson is hard at work finishing his new store and dwelling house, and purposes moving his family here shortly.

Mr. Thomas Swift had his hand quite badly injured one day last week. While unloading logs from a sled he got his hand caught in the binding chain, and, but for the timely assistance of Mr. Adam Robinson, who happened to be near, might have lost his fingers.

Mr. W. Howard has returned home from New Hampshire, where he was working in the lumber woods.

Last week while one of our young men was hunting near Coal Branch lake, he discovered at the outlet a large quantity of fish, and managed to scoop out a large basketful. Since then, a large quantity has been caught. They resemble a bass somewhat, and are from nine to twelve inches in length. They are quite acceptable, coming at this season. This lake is situated about four miles from the railway track, and is quite an extensive one, being about two miles long and one and a half miles wide, and the water in some places is thirty feet deep, with hard, sandy bottom. During a few weeks of the spring and fall the lake swarms with wild geese and ducks, there being a fine feeding ground surrounding it.

I understand that Mr. W. Hudson, of this place, purposes erecting a house near the lake to provide accommodation at a moderate charge for those persons who wish to enjoy a day's shooting or fishing.

I notice by your last week's issue that notes from a Coal Branch correspondent were not published on account of writer not sending his name. It is to be regretted that the person made this omission, as I have no doubt the notes would be interesting.

A Cure for Croup.

Croup kills thousands where cholera kills tens. For this dread disease no remedy can compare in curative power with Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It loosens the phlegm, gives prompt relief, and soon completely cures the most violent attack.

Ford's Mills.

Spring is on its way. Wild geese are coming, robins have been seen, and the industrious goose has awakened to a sense of her duty, and is busy laying eggs for Easter.

Mrs. C. A. Taylor, we are glad to say, is improving. She expects to be able to come home in a few weeks.

Mr. McWilliams is still busy preparing his mill for the coming season's work.

Our old friend, C. C. Carlyle, delivered a lecture at the public hall on Thursday evening. C. C. C. was, as usual, entertaining and instructive. He has a good opinion of the North West, and did much to show our folk that think of leaving a good place to make a home. Mr. C. was ably seconded by the agent who was with him. Several are now speaking of going out to the new El Dorado.

There is said to be a wedding trossseau being prepared not many miles away.

The head members of the sewing circle organization are going to have a basket social and apron fair on Wednesday, the 29th of March. The proceeds will go to continue the sewing circle. A good time may be expected.

Hay is very scarce in this vicinity, and commands a good price. Mr. David Robertson, the only farmer who has any to sell, is busy hauling to Harcourt to ship it and on account of the bad roads he is afraid he will not get it all disposed of. But we hope to see more snow yet this season.

Mr. James Brown has finished sawing lumber on Bass River and intends moving his mill to Richibucto. Mr. E. Walker is getting his mill fitted up for the spring's operation.

We had an interesting lecture the other evening, the subject of the discourse being alcohol and fermented blueberries. The lecturer was a lady.

Mr. James Hanson has the job of fencing the school of this place, and a good job may be expected as Mr. Hanson never fails in anything he undertakes.

Mr. Hanson seems to wear a mournful face these days. We can only account for it by the fact that he is going to lose his only daughter by marriage. But then he should not be so sorrowful, as we believe he is going to get a daughter-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson have been made happy by the arrival of a thirteen and a half pound boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Thompson entertained a few of their friends one evening with a molasses candy pull. All went home well pleased with their evening's enjoyment.

MAR. 28th.—Lately we are having an unusual share of entertainments. The lecture and views of Western Canada was well attended, and, judging from the number of votes of thanks, everyone was satisfied. The only hitch in the programme was the difficulty experienced by the chairman in getting the national anthem started. Finally it was started, and the audience joined in singing it.

We have the Kickapoo company with us yet. On Monday evening they gave the proceeds of their entertainment to the fund for the new public hall.

Mr. Thos. Burns is having a wharf built near his saw-mill so that schooners can load directly from the mill. He visited Amherst and Truro lately, getting some new machinery.

Mr. Geo. Hudson has purchased the house and property in Kingston owned by Mrs. Donald McArthur.

Sad Accident.

"Delta," the croaker, is dead. D. J. G., the trained hunter, drove a 50 calibre ball through him at half a yard distance. He aimed at the "Chien de Chasse" and killed poor "Delta." There were very few crows at the funeral. He is now practicing firing at the bull's eye, so that he may be more expert in future. As for me, I think I had better keep quiet, for my master seems angry, and I may get a licking some of these days. He can stand a good deal, but when he takes the whip, woe to the poor victim.

So, I retire to my quarters, and will remain there till I am bothered by the croakers.

Amended School Regulations.

The Fredericton Gleaner says: The new manual of the New Brunswick school law, just issued, contains the amended regulations of the provincial board of education. The principal changes are those in respect to the examination and licensing of teachers, and the high school leaving and university matriculation examinations. These latter examinations, with the Normal School entrance examination, are to take place on the second Tuesday in July, at Fredericton, St. John, Moncton, St. Stephen, Chatham, Bathurst, Campbellton, Woodstock, Andover, and such other places as the board of education may determine. The Normal School entrance examination will be graded according to class of license applied for by the candidate, and will include some of the subjects which have heretofore been left for the closing examination. The final examination for teacher's license will, therefore cover less ground than formerly, though the requirements in scholarship have not been lessened. Third class licenses after this year are to be valid for only three years. After next year the differences in requirements of male and female teachers are to disappear, and an examination in Latin will be required of those who wish to qualify for the principalship of a superior school.

AWFUL HEADACHES. 2 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

LIFE A TORTURE.

Kendrick Outhouse, of Thierston, N. B., says: For several years I suffered from severe attacks of biliousness, which came on periodically, about every ten days. I had awful headaches and the smell of anything cooking turned me sick. I became weak and nervous, and had no ambition or strength to work. I passed many sleepless nights, and for days could not retain food on my stomach. I suffered intensely with piles and hemorrhoids, and my life was a constant torture to me. I became so weak that my friends gave up all hopes of my recovery. My brother brought me a bottle of HAWKER'S NERVE AND STOMACH TONIC AND LIVER PILLS. Saved My Life. I hereby certify the above statement is correct in every particular.

HOLLAND OUTHOUSE. Sold by all Druggists and general dealers. TONIC 50cts.; PILLS 25cts. Manufactured by HAWKER MEDICINE CO., Ltd., ST. JOHN, N. B.

MAR. 28th.—The report given in last week's issue of THE REVIEW of Mr. J. Heber Haslam's illustrated lecture on the North West calls to mind to some extent the somewhat amusing experience of a lecturer who was billed to speak in St. John's, Newfoundland. Before leaving Halifax it is said that he wrote a glowing report of his lecture as delivered before a magnificent audience in the colonial metropolis, which he instructed to have published in a certain issue of a provincial paper. But, alas! he made no calculation for the steamer's detention for some days in the ice, while his friends were reading the account of his anticipated lecture. Well, Mr. Haslam was not quite so unfortunate, as he arrived on time, but he evidently did not calculate on the explosion of his apparatus when he had taken his hearers no farther west than Manitoba—hence the discrepancy in the anticipated report. It is good to take time by the forelock, but not safe to be too previous. Some thought that this was the regular way of impressing the audience with the fact that Manitoba was the proper place to stop when they went west. Mr. Haslam, however, is exonerated from all design in the matter, for it is hard to see, see, see so far away, and one can't tell what will happen before they get to the sea, sea, sea on the other side. No doubt Mr. C. C. C. would have said just as he was reported had it not been for the circumstances. The lecture and views, so far as shown by Mr. Haslam, were very much enjoyed, and, although the people felt they had received the worth of their money, they regretted not having the pleasure of hearing the programme in full. Such lectures cannot but create a deep interest in our North West. The explosion did no damage save breaking a chair, and knocking a hole in the ceiling.

Mr. Wry, who has been living with his son, Mr. Clarence Wry, died rather suddenly on Sunday last. Mr. Wry has been in ill health for some time, but his death was not expected so soon. Mrs. C. Wry and John Lete are at Marysville, attending the funeral of their sister, Mrs. McGinnis.
