CAPT. J. F. SMALLMAN DEAD.

At His Post To The Last.

Capt. J. F. Smallman has made his last voyage. The well known commander of the steamer City of Milwaukee passed into the other world at ten minutes to five this morning, at his apartments in the Norris House.

For the past six years Capt. Smallman has been suffering from diabetes though he has never given up to the sickness except for a short time last fall. For the past two weeks many have noticed that the captain looked ill and seemed to be making an effort to keep up. His illness took a serious turn at Milwaukee Sunday, but he kept to the boat. Yesterday the steamer City of Milwaukee made a special trip to this port to bring its ill commander home. The steamer arrived here at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Capt. Smallman was tenderly carried on a cot, from the steamer to his home.

The sight was a sad one and seemed to be a premonition of his death, within a short time. Many faces were turned on the patient sufferer as he was carried to his home, and many an expression of sorrow was heard for the sick man. After reaching his home the captain appeared to rest more easily and at about 8 o'clock rallied somewhat and talked to those about him. From that time until 5 this morning he lingered, and at that early hour he passed away and his suffers were over.

Capt. J. F. Smallman was born on Prince Edward's Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, 36 years ago the 15th of last August. The geographical position of the island of his birth would naturally incline a youth to a sea faring life, and when 15 years of age he took to the ocean and has ever since been on the water. His first trip was to the sunny land of Italy.

During the war Capt. Smallman commanded Gen. Foster's staff boat, the John C. Farron, which plied from New York and along the southern coast.

Since 1866 the captain has been in command of boats on Lake Michigan. In fact since 24 years of age he has been a commander and was one of the youngest captains on salt water, at that time. It was he who brought out Goodrich steamer Muskegon, which boat is still in service. The ill-fated Alpena and the Muskegon were sister boats and on the night that the Alpena went down, Capt. Smallman passed her with the Muskegon, when the storm was already raging.

In 1881 the steamer City of Milwaukee came out. She was one of the handsomest boats on the Great Lakes and Capt. Smallman was put in command of her. He has piloted that boat through many severe storms and perilous positions since but always came into port unharmed. During his long years as captain, not a man under him on ship board has been killed. He had the reputation of being one of the safest captains on the lakes to which his good record would attest. In calm, storm or fog the City of Milwaukee was always on time, many times when the other line boats would be hours late.

As a lake commander Capt. Smallman has no equal, and in his death the Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee line lose their oldest and best officer.

Capt. Smallman leaves a wife and two children; Mrs. A. P. Burland of Chicago and Geo. Smallman of this city. His mother and other relatives are also still living in Charlottetown, Prince Edward's Island.

The funeral will occur Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his home under Masonic auspices and his remains will be buried in Lake Forest Cemetery.

Capt. Smallman has lived in Grand Haven for 25 years and always took pride in the city. His death will be mourned by a large circle of friends, who can only express their sympathy to the bereaved family.

Capt. Smallman belonged to the Masonic order and was a lover of Masonic work although he did not have much time to devote to it. He requested that his funeral be under masonic auspices. He was admitted to Grand Haven Lodge No. 139 F. & A. M. by demit from St. Andrews Lodge, No. 16, New Brunswick, on Feb. 9 1881. On June 27, 1882 he joined Corinthian Chapter, No. 84, R. A. M. of this city.—Grand Haven Tribune, Oct. 10th.

The funeral of Capt. Smallman occurred this afternoon from his home and was one of the largest ever held in Grand Haven. The Masonic fraternity, fellow-officers and sailors and many friends from here and elsewhere attended. The funeral sermon was by Rev. R. Lewis. The remains were interred in Lake Forest cemetery and a good man and modest citizen was at rest.—Tribune, Oct. 12.

Main River Notes.

In last week's issue, I read some notes signed by "Buck," who says I have left the country and he will try and supply my place for a season. I cannot imagine what strange hallucination has led "Mr. Buck" to think this, unless it is that I am so securely wrapped within my non de plume that I can roam at will and still be unknown. I felt pleased to read my contemporaries' notes, but I must say that he made two false statements which I feel called upon to correct. First, in regard to the Main River bridge, which he says is unsafe for carriages. Although the bridge was impaired by the storm, carriages are still crossing. And, secondly, when he says that some of the ladies of a neighboring district got "badly smitten" on a certain captain. Now, I must say in justice to all parties, the young ladies were perfectly well aware that the said gentleman was married before he ever anchored at the Main River bridge, and there was no reason why they should not, as the captain never thought of concealing the fact that he was married. "Buck" must not think of confounding kindness and cordiality with that "all absorbing passion," known as love or as he vulgarly terms it "badly smitten."

Mr. Anthony Roach has a fine residence in course of construction. This is only one of the many improvements going on. Mr. Sullivan has also been shingling his house.

The annual school meeting was quite largely attended here. Mr. Wm. Clare was elected chairman, the old trustees still retaining office. This school building is now completed with all necessary apparatus, and only a few dollars in debt, reflecting much credit on the district.

There has been considerable sickness here of late, and I am sorry to note that Mr. D. McWilliam still continues in poor health.

I congratulate Mr. Ernest Ferguson on being the successful winner of a handsome set of nickel mounted harness at the recent lottery drawn at Mr. Palmer's on Monday.

OCT. 21th, 1893.—The County Court was opened at Newcastle on Tuesday, 17th inst., Judge Wilkinson presiding. There was a large panel of grand jurors present, David T. Johnson, Esq., being chosen foreman. His Honor, on addressing the jury, said he had great pleasure in speaking to one of the most intelligent juries that ever stood before him—representing the various interests of the county. He was pleased for two reasons: First, because of their fine intelligent appearance; and secondly, because they would have to deal with a matter of a very grave nature, whereby too young women had lost their lives. The judge then took up the evidence as it was taken at the coroner's inquest, charging somewhat against the prisoner. The jury, after retiring to their rooms for two hours, returned into court, finding "no bill." The next case was Geo. Reed vs. McAleer, on a promissory note. E. P. Williston, for plaintiff; L. I. Tweedie, for defendant.

On Friday evening a public meeting was called to ascertain the public pulse on the question of the incorporation of the town. The high sheriff was called to the chair and explained the object of the meeting, favoring the object. Hon. Senator Snowball being called upon, made some remarks on the line of improving the town. He regretted very much the bad state of our roads, and would endorse any act that would go towards making them better without greatly increasing the taxes. Robert Murray, Jr., read the bye laws, etc., adopted in some of the small cities, which he thought would apply to our town. Ex-Councillor Kerr made a vigorous speech, dealing with the management of the town affairs, etc., giving some good wholesome advice. Mr. Cunningham also spoke, saying he had travelled over a large part of the world, and had lived in cities both large and small, and had seen more dirt, filth and squalor in incorporated towns than he ever saw during his 14 years residence in the town of Chatham. W. S. Loggie, Esq., seemed very anxious for incorporation, saying we would feel the benefit in our school system. He made some very striking remarks about our new post-office, giving it a name which probably will stick to it so long as one stone lays upon another. The town is evidently not prepared for incorporation, and so the promoters appointed a committee of six gentlemen to draft a bill to present to the Local House at the next session, but which must be adopted by the rate-payers before it can become law. The next meeting is called for 21st November.

On Saturday, 21st inst., there passed away one of the best known men in our county—Mr. John Sadler.

We are pleased to see that the editor of THE REVIEW has received the appointment as Indian Commissioner, and trust he may fill the position as worthily and as long as did his predecessor.

OCT. 20th.—Farmers are nearly done digging potatoes, which are a good crop. The diggers are very thankful for the fine weather they have had.

School meeting were held in all our schools on the 12th instant.

Mass of Sunday was celebrated by Rev. M. Carrier, of Quebec.

Mr. L. R. Doucett, of Bathurst, was here this week.

Mr. M. Barrieau, of St. Louis, was also here on Sunday.

We are happy to state the recovery of Mr. U. Vantour from his recent illness.

Municipal election took place in this parish on Tuesday, the 17th. Four candidates had been nominated: A Pineau, J. Babineau, F. Bordinge, S. Barrieau. It was the hottest municipal election ever had in Acadiaville. Meetings were held in all parts, and, according to Mr. S. Barrieau, we were convinced that he was to lead the poll. Alas! how disappointed he must have been on seeing that he was defeated. What a loss for the poor inhabitants of the place, who, after hearing Mr. Barrieau's speeches, thought they were going to enter into a new era of happiness. By his intelligence and energy, Mr. B. had acquired the power of giving wings to his supporters, and no more money had to be spent on roads and bridges. Our greatest surprise was his defeat, on knowing the influence and eloquence of his devoted canvassers. But with all these good qualities they could not penetrate the heart of our voters. We will be represented in Council by A. Pineau, our old councillor, and F. Bordinge, both much esteemed by all. Mr. Bordinge is a young man, residing at the lower end of the parish, and we trust that he is the fit man with Mr. Pineau to look after our interest.

An revoir, HERO.

Cocagne Notes.

OCT. 23.—Last years councillors, Bourgeois and Porier, as was generally expected, have been returned by a large majority.

The annual school meeting was held lately. D. L. Goguen was elected a trustee and A. K. Dysart was re-elected auditor. Financially, affairs were not in too prosperous a condition.

On Tuesday evening last, Prof. Robinson gave a lecture on dairying to a large and appreciative audience. Mr. J. B. Gogain, M. P. P., was elected chairman. The Prof. explained the various methods of farming and warmly recommended dairying to the farmers of this locality. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the beauty of the farms of Cocagne, and their fitness for dairying purposes; showed the necessity of keeping a large number of cattle and the cheapness of feeding them by the use of corn. Going into the details of corn-raising, Mr. Robinson threw much light upon the subject, saying how profitably it could be utilized as compared with English hay etc. He proved conclusively that dairying was remunerative from the simple fact that one pound of butter or two pounds of cheese could be produced at the same cost as could a pound of beef; advised the people to build a cheese factory in preference to a creamery, the former in his opinion being better suited to the requirements of the place. The lecture was practical to the letter, and notwithstanding the speakers inability to address his audience in the French language, it was evidently appreciated by all.

Mr. Smith, School Inspector, was here officially last week.

Miss Ella May Elliot is home on a vacation from New York.

Miss Alieia C. Dysart, was visiting friends in Buctouche, last week.

Miss Bertha Gaddis of Cherryfield is here visiting friends.

Mr. B. H. Foley expects to move into his new dwelling and store some time this week. He has at least, one of the best houses in Buctouche.
