BARK DUNSTAFFAGE.—Further particulars have been received from the Bark Dunstaffage. This vessel is owned by Geo. K. McLeod, and commanded by Captain Faulkner of Kingston. Nazoni Doucett a former Kingstonian joined the vessel at Rio Janeiro, and before he had been long on board was taken ill and died of smallpox. Another sailor also died, and it is reported that Capt. Faulkner was attacked by the disease. The vessel put into Montevideo where she caught fire and was damaged to the extent of $24,000. She will doubtless be condemned.

AN ACADIAVILLE MAN IN TROUBLE.—John M. Vantour, of Acadieville, has been arrested on a charge of larceny, preferred by Sheriff Wheten. It appears that a few days ago the Sheriff made a levy on some property belonging to Vantour under an execution on a judgement obtained against him by a St. John firm. The sale of the goods was fixed for October 11th, but when the day arrived everything seized had disappeared. The Sheriff made a complaint before Justice Hutchinson at Buctouche, and Vantour was arrested and taken before him last week. Owing to the absence of a material witness the case was postponed till Friday when it was taken up and again postponed till next Friday. Mr. D. Grant appears for the prosecution, and C. Richardson for the defence.

A TRAMP ABROAD.—A tramp, who gives his name as James Doyle made things lively around town Thursday afternoon. He was formerly a seaman on board the barque C. S. Parcell, and has been lately at work in St. Margarets. He came into town Thursday forenoon, and after loading himself with whiskey, proceeded to "paint the town red." He first made himself conspicuous at Miller's corner, brandishing a knife and threatening to use it on some of the citizens. He next proceeded to the residence of Mr. John T. Caie, and finding only women in possession, proceeded to make himself at home. Mr. Caie was sent for and, notwithstanding his recent illness, succeeded in ejecting the intruder, receiving in doing so a blow from a heavy stick which the tramp carried. Mr. Tramp next wended his way up street, where he met a laborer, and, without any provocation or word of warning whatever, hit him a severe blow on the head with his stick, cutting him badly. He next invaded the premises of Mr. A. C. Storer and after kicking in the door, demanded something to eat from the women, who were the only occupants. On being refused he threatened to kill them, but the servant girl armed herself with a hatchet and told him to be gone. He thought discretion the better part of valor and left. He then wandered from house to house, battering in doors and frightening women and children, until he reached the Episcopal church. By this time a crowd of citizens were on his trail, and on seeing them he turned and rushed at Mr. Fred Sayre with a knife, threatening to carve him in pieces. A blow from a club cut short his threats, and he was carried down and lodged in jail. He was taken before Stipendiary Richardson Saturday, on a charge of assaulting Louis Robichaud with intent to do grievous bodily harm. He acknowledged the assault, but denied any malicious intent, and pleaded in excuse that he was drunk and that this was his first offence. The examination was concluded Monday, and he was sent up for trial. He has determined to be tried under the Speedy Trials Act.

—Messrs. Estabrooks and McDougall, of Sackville, who have been at Callanier's Beach goose shooting, returned home on Wednesday. They report fowl plentiful. During the first few days they bagged a large number.

The Bible.

In the course of his remarkable address on journalism to the young men of Union College, Chas. A. Dana of the New York Sun, said: "What books shall the young men contemplating a newspaper career read? Of all, the most indispensable, the most useful, is the Bible. There is no book from which more valuable lessons can be learned. I am considering it now not as a religious book, but as a manual of utility, of professional preparation, and professional use for a journalist. There is perhaps no book whose style is more suggestive and more instructive, from which you learn more directly that sublime simplicity which never exaggerates, which recounts the greatest event with solemnity, of course, but without sentimentality of affection, none which you open with such confidence and lay down with such reverence. There is no book like the Bible."—Ex

He Knew the Color.

One of those fellows who know a thing or two—in his own estimation—was elbowing his way through the crowd in the aquarium one day, when he caught sight of a lobster that was perched on a rocky pinnacle in one of the tanks. He had never before seen a live lobster, and its appearance caused him much surprise. Grasping his companion by the arm, he exclaimed in an awe-struck tone: "Oh-h-h! what is that curious creature?" "That's a lobster," was the reply. "Well, I guess not. You can't make me believe that. That ain't no lobster; 'taint the right color; it's green, and all the lobsters I've seen were red!"

—St. John Progress on Saturday returned to its charges against Post Office Inspector King, and gives the names of the parties connected with the case. P. of Queens, which never was delivered, and for which Railway Mail Clerk Fred Estey was held responsible. It is declared that Mr. Estey paid to the Inspector the sum of money the letter was supposed to contain and that, though Messrs. Hilyard Bros. many times spoke to Mr. King on the subject, they did not get a settlement until this month. The settlement, it is alleged, was made by Mr. King, who gets the monthly pay checks for the men in his department, taking that of Railway Mail Clerk John P. Hipwell into the bank getting it cashed though it was not endorsed, and retaining from it $50, sending the remainder to Mr. Hipwell with a note of explanation asking him to endorse it.
