Constipation Cured. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Jas. M. Carson, Banff, N. W. T., will speak for itself:—"I have been troubled with constipation and general debility and was induced to use B. B. B. through seeing your advertisement. I now take great pleasure in recommending it to all my friends, as it completely cured me."

Distress in the States. (Toronto News, 11th.) Last week 300 Italians and about 500 Scandinavians passed eastward from Chicago en route to Europe. And this is only a small section of a similar movement that is going on all over the republic.

More striking evidence of the distress now prevailing in American cities could not be presented. Prospects are the reverse of bright both in Italy and Sweden. The former is suffering from commercial distress, and is, apparently, in grave danger of revolution, and in Sweden the difficulty with Norway may at any time provoke civil war.

When, therefore, people prefer to share in such conditions as now prevail in northern and southern Europe, rather than remain in the United States, the state of affairs existing across the lines may be imagined; they cannot be described.

Arlington Heights, Mass. DEAR SIR,—I have had Rheumatism in my arms and hands for two years, have been employed as a book-keeper in Boston for eight years. Details of the earthquake disaster at Kuchan, Persia, recently are arriving. The first shock, which occurred November 17 at 17.30 in the evening, completely destroyed the town and all the villages within a radius of thirty miles. The official reports confirm the previous advices that 12,000 persons and 50,000 animals perished.

Private reports, however, place the number of dead at a much smaller figure. The shocks continued daily until November 24. About 100,000 persons were killed. On November 23 a great storm set in, with heavy rain in the day time and snow at night. This greatly increased the suffering thousands of persons whose homes had been destroyed. Supplies of provisions and clothing are being forwarded from Meshed, which also experienced several slight shocks.

Our Family Physician. DEAR SIRS.—I was troubled with eczema (salt rheum) for about two years, but I don't bother with it until it began to itch and spread over my head. I then took four bottles of B. B. B., which completely drove it away. It was by my son's advice I took B. B. B., as B. B. B. is our family physician. J. S. MILLS, Collingwood, Ont.

Little Girls. Where have they gone to—the little girls, With natural manners and natural curls? Who love their dollies and like their toys, And talk of something besides the boys? Little old women in plenty I find, Mature in manners and old in mind, Little old flirts who talk of their "beans" And vie with each other in stylish clothes, Once in the beautiful long ago, Some dear little children I used to know; Girls who were merry as lambs at play, And laughed and rollicked the livelong day. They thought not at all of the "style" of their clothes, They never imagined that boys were "beans"; "Other girls' brothers" and "mates" were they, Splendid fellows to help them play. Where have they gone to? If you see One of them anywhere send her to me, I would give a medal of purest gold To one of these dear little girls of old, With an innocent heart and an open soul, Who knows not the meaning of "flirt" or "style."

Killed by Laughter. "Laugh and grow fat," is a well-known adage, but the reverse was the case with poor Mr. Mirando, pickle merchant, of Spitalfields, who has just died from over indulgence in laughter. He was at a public house in Commercial street, and somebody told a funny story which tickled his fancy. He accordingly "laughed very heartily," was seized with a fit of coughing and fell down. In falling he struck his head against a form, but this was not the cause of his death. The doctor certified that he died simply from suffocation, for which the prolonged guffaw, terminating in a cough, seems to have been solely responsible. Apart from the sad aspects of such an incident, it would certainly be of interest to know what story it was which was of so highly mirthful a kind as to produce these disastrous results on a strong and healthy man. Humor of the "killing" description is rare. The Spitalfields raconteur ought to make a fortune as a story-teller, not only for himself, but for corners, if paid by fees.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Worth its Weight in Gold. DEAR SIRS.—I can truly say that Haggard's Pectoral Balsam is the best remedy ever made for coughs and colds. It is worth its weight in gold. HARRY PALMER, Lorneville, Ont.
