THE JUDGESHIP MATTER.

The Fredericton Gleaner in discussing the judgeship question quotes the remarks of THE REVIEW, of last week, concerning Judge Landry and his chances of promotion to the Supreme Court bench, and ridicules the suggestion that Judge Landry's claims are in any way strengthened by the fact that he is a Catholic and that the Catholics are unrepresented on the bench. "We regret," says the Gleaner, "to find the plea of religion again entered in a contest for a judicial position. This imaginary claim was advanced with much feeling in the last two races for the bench, and it seems to be a part of the programme to persist in urging it until it succeeds. If our judges are to be appointed on the ground of religious leanings or prejudices, without regard to the general qualifications necessary for the position, our courts will soon be stripped of their usefulness, dignity and standing. Our Supreme Court appointments should be made from among the leading members of the bar of the province, and when any Roman Catholic arrives at this standing at the bar by reason of his ability, his religion will not stand in the way of his promotion." Our correspondent Senex, whose letter on the subject appears in another column, takes equally strong ground against dragging in the question of an applicant's religious faith in considering such appointments, and seeks to show that such a course would tend to degrade the bench and do incalculable mischief. We admit there is much force in this contention, and yet under the present condition of affairs it would be found difficult to entirely ignore such considerations. It could with equal force be contended that a man's political leanings should have no weight in a contest for a judicial position. Yet we doubt if even Senex or the Gleaner would expect the government to pass over its own friends and appoint a political opponent to the position unless it could be shown that there was no one competent among the supporters of the government. No one will dispute the assertion that public officials should be chosen from among those best qualified, irrespective of religion or nationality, and we have not hesitated in the past to denounce the race cry which has been repeatedly raised in this county, and to point out its evil effects. We have more than once seen in this county a good man passed over and a less competent one selected on account of his nationality. It cannot be denied, however, that questions of race and religion are bound to arise and do arise in all public appointments, whether to the bench or to the cabinet, and if the Roman Catholics of this province have a candidate qualified in every respect for the position it would seem only fair that their claims should be recognized. It cannot be successfully contended that Judge Landry does not possess the necessary qualification. He was appointed less than five years ago to his present position—a position no less important than the one to which he now aspires, and if he is competent to fill his present position it is difficult to understand what objections could be raised to his promotion on the ground of qualification.

Clarke, of Salisbury, was in town last Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Gordon Livingston and children, were visiting at Mr. Wm. J. Smith's. Miss Jamie McKinnon is visiting friends in Chatham. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lutes of Moncton, are visiting Mrs. Lutes father, Mr. John Scott, Richibucto. Mrs. Wm. White and Mrs. Wm. J. Smith, drove to Shediac last week. They returned Thursday. Mr. Frank Phinney, arrived Saturday from Fredericton, to spend a few days in Richibucto. Mr. John Ferguson, of Newcastle, is spending a few days in Richibucto. Mr. Charles Ferguson of New York, is spending his vacation in Richibucto. Miss Nessie Ferguson, left Monday, to take charge of the school in Mill Branch. Miss Emma Amereaux has taken charge of the Kent Junction school. Miss Katie Chrystal has resigned her position as teacher of the primary department, Richibucto. Miss Mary Chrysal, her sister, takes her place. Dr. Thos. Bourque, of Richibucto, Kent Co., was in town yesterday en route to Memramcook to visit his brother-in-law who is ill with typhoid fever.—Transcript. Rev. Mr. McConnell and bride arrived at Harcourt by Friday evening's train and were met at the station by many persons and escorted to the parsonage, which had number of bills which they were called upon to pass and provide for opened their eyes to the manner in which Mr. Blair is dealing with the municipalities, and they did not hesitate to rise in their places at the Council board and condemn such legislation. The Transcript gives the further information that the tendency of the measures cited in the resolutions "is in most instances to lighten the burdens which have always fallen upon the municipalities." It very carefully refrains, however, from pointing out where the "lightening" process comes in. The councillors had not the advantage of the Transcript's information when the bills were handed in and payment demanded, and the advice given them by the clerk of the peace was that the bills were legal and must be paid. If there is any "lightening" process by which the payment of several hundreds of dollars arising under these enactments, over and above the ordinary expenditure, can be avoided it would be well that the councillors should be informed of the fact.

"If anyone is curious enough," says an exchange, "to know just how much a bushel of grain is worth by the time it is distilled into spirits and passes through all the various trade changes till it gets to the lips of the drinker, he can refer to the report of the secretary of the treasury of the United States. In it he will find that in the ten years from 1883 to 1893 the average number of bushels of grain used each year for distilling purposes was, in round numbers, 20,000,000 bushels, from which 86,000,000 gallons of spirits were distilled. This gave four gallons, barring fractions, for every bushel of grain. Now the bushel of grain at one dollar has increased to eight dollars. A half bushel of that wheat in spirits can be bought for $4, or a peck for $2, and the spirits that was made from enough of that grain for a loaf of bread can be bought for about a dollar. But that bushel of wheat is drunk in the shape of distilled spirits. There are forty drinks in a gallon of whisky. At ten cents a drink $4 is paid for a peck and for the whole bushel $16."

The note said he would not return home, but intended to do away with himself. On Saturday his brother came to this city and consulted Dr. Carleton, clairvoyant, who told them he was in the woods near the house. Yesterday he was captured in a log cabin asleep and taken home.—Globe.
