They may talk of their horses and houses, The pictures that hang on the wall, The fine sparklin' rings on their fingers, The servants that come at their call, The swish of their silks an' their satins, Roast beef an' plum pudding each day, Faith! I envy no woman her riches, When Dennis comes home to his tair!

It's true, when he goes in the morning, With the children to dress and to comb, For the school, an' the place to make decent In the four little rooms here at home— With scrubbin' an' mendin' an' makin', An' dinner to get by the way, There isn't much time to be idle Till Dennis comes home to his tair.

But then we're as neat an' as tidy As if we had money galore; The stove like a cat's eye is shining, You could eat your three meals on the floor; The bit of a plant in the window Is as fresh as a morning in May; An' the children go wild with their non-sense, When Dennis comes home to his tair.

The kettle is singing a welcome, There's a good bit of beef in the pot, The table-cloth's clean,—for I wash it,— The dish of potatoes is hot, We're healthy, an' happy, an' hearty,— So thank God for his mercies I say, For it's we that have cause to be thankful When Dennis comes home to his tair.

For then with his pipe in the corner He can sit down as well as the best, With his bit of man's gossip to give me, While I have my minute to rest, An' to tell him the news of the neighbors, While the children go on with their play, O, I envy no woman her riches, When Dennis comes home to his tair. —Mary Elizabeth Blake, in Donahoe's Magazine for September.

Halifax, thinking the gales were over. Monday's terrible storm came and he was unable to make the hour and a half's sail to bring him into Halifax harbor.

William Hannah, engineer of the Dorcas, had been married a second time about six weeks ago, and his wife and children were on their way home after a visit to Cape Breton. All are drowned and a complete family is wiped out of existence.

This morning fourteen bodies of the twenty-four who were lost had been recovered. Capt. Ferguson's body and those of the two ladies are amongst those cast ashore. The list of those on board were: Capt. Ferguson, of Louisburg; H. McDonald, mate, Louisburg; Jas. McDonald, A. B., of Louisburg; John T. Sharp, A. B., of Weymouth; Benjamin Boom, A. B., of Louisburg; Norman McCarry, cook, of Louisburg; Alex. McVicar, A. B., of Louisburg; William Hannah, chief engineer, his wife and three children; Sadie Musgrave, of Sydney; D. Kennedy, fireman, Louisburg; William McGann, fireman, of Halifax; A. Tanquay, second engineer, formerly of Quebec, but now of Halifax.

Those on the barge were as follows: Capt. Spencer, of Louisburg; Wm. Price, mate, of Louisburg, formerly captain of the schooner P. Walsh; McVicar, George Kelly, Jas. Kelly, A. McDonald, Norman McCaskill, seamen, of Louisburg; David Baldwin, cook, of Louisburg. A gentleman who has just come from the wreck says the scene at Graham's Head, where the disaster occurred, was a harrowing one. The bodies recovered are lying in a barn awaiting instructions. Most of them are considerably disfigured and the clothing was torn to shreds, as they pounded upon the rocky bottom before being washed up on the shore. Some difficulty was experienced in securing the bodies, as the sea is yet running very high and the surf is tremendous.

The Etta Stewart has been broken into fragments and the shore is strewn with wreckage. The hull of the Dorcas is intact, bottom up, not more than a stone's throw from the rock-bound shore. There is $5,000 on the Dorcas and $1,500 on the barge in the Nova Scotian, and $2,500 each in the China and India on the tug. The coal is insured according to quantity. The Dorcas is 120 tons. She was built at Sackville, N. B., in 1888, and was owned by Geo. E. Franklyn. The Etta Stewart is 787 tons. She was formerly a bark of that name. She was built at St. John in 1872.

PARRSBO, Aug. 23.—The schooner Enterprise was found bottom up off Cape Blomidon yesterday afternoon by Capt. Davison of the steamer A. M. Weatherspoon. The Weatherspoon towed the vessel into Partridge island pier last night. In the cabin was the body of a man, evidently about twenty years old. An inquest was held in the Parrsboro town hall this afternoon, when the verdict found drowned was returned. The deceased had not been identified. It is reported that three men and two women were seen in the Enterprise when she was off Partridge Island on Monday. Women clothing was found in the cabin. The vessel was loaded with cordwood. She is supposed to be owned by John Kirwan of Ross Creek, Cornwallis. She was built at Parrsboro in 1881 and registered fifteen tons. The following vessels went ashore at West Bay in Monday night's storm: Sch. Three Sisters, Wm. Willigar of Parrsboro owner and master, a total loss; schs. N. H. Upham, Conlon; Etawanda, Jenks, J. W. Dean, McDade; Star in the East, Spinney, and Risk, McFadden, lost their anchors. The Star in the East will be floated. The schr. Ida M. Campbell lost her anchor and main boom. The schr. Cory McLellan, lost her anchor and chains. The Nancy Anna, Capt. George's pilot boat, was badly damaged. W. Gow's water boat is a total loss. Schr. Nelenia M., lost her anchor, but did not go ashore. The Norwegian bark Elnar Tamrarskjelver, Christoffersen, lost an anchor and was dragged some distance before she touched. The steamer Evangelin rode out the storm. She ran down the bay trying to make Digby, but the wind shifted and she ran back again.

Trout Brook. Aug. 21st.—As our section of the country is not favored with a reporter, we are not often heard from. But if you will allow me a little space I will try to give a few items which may interest your readers. The minds of the farmers, owing to the late rains, are in a more settled state for two reasons. First, because the forest fires are out, and second, because the crops are reviving from the long drought.

The fires did much damage in the way of destroying forests, tanbark, fences, crops and dwellings. Mr. J. Cail has in process of construction a large, beautiful and commodious dwelling-house on the site of the old one lately burned. The tea-meeting held in the grove at McWilliams' Corner on the 16th inst., in aid of the Presbyterian church, was—in line with former ones at the same place—a decided success. The proceeds, clear of all incumbrances, amounting to the neat little sum of $116.70. Under the able management of the committee appointed, everything was arranged and executed in the very best way. Refreshments were sold on the grounds all the afternoon. The amusements consisted of driving, walking, swinging and taking in the sights. Tea was served at three o'clock, and as usual everybody was more than satisfied. After doing ample justice to the inner man, all repaired again to the grove, where they had their attention attracted by the musical and stentorian tones of Mr. J. Thompson, who kindly acted as auctioneer to a sale of aprons. This gentleman being well known, and as you will remember it was largely due to him that the notorious tramp "Jim" was captured, everybody was glad to hear him and showed it by the way they bid on the goods. On the whole everything was to say the least of it, a grand success, notwithstanding the state of the weather and the copious showers of the evening.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. B. McLeod and Mrs. D. Johnson, of Harcourt, when returning home met with an accident. Their horse ran away, upsetting the carriage, breaking Mrs. McLeod's arm and Mrs. Johnson received some wounds in the head. We learn that they are both doing well. X. Y. Z.

A Perfect Cook. A perfect cook never presents us with indigestible food. There are a few perfect cooks, and consequently indigestion is very prevalent. You can eat what you like and as much as you want after using Burdock Blood Bitters, the natural specific for indigestion or dyspepsia in any form.

A Horse of Another Color. Higgins is troubled with an overweening curiosity about other people's affairs. Occasionally he gets taken down, however. He met Smithers in an omnibus; he does not know Smithers very well, but he "My boy's" him as if he were a life-long friend. "Been buying, eh?" he inquired at once. "Yes," said Smithers, deliberately; "I've been looking after a horse for my wife." "Have—eh? Well, let me look him over for you." "Oh, I've bought him." "Not without trying him? Was he sound?" "He appeared to be." "Doesn't sly?" "No, certainly not." "Good mouth?" "Y—e-s; I think so." "Good manners?" "But here Smithers arrived at his crossing. When he reached the door of the bus he called back to Higgins: "I neglected to mention the kind of horse my wife wanted. It was a clothes-horse."

Mining News. Mining experts note that cholera never attacks the bowels of the earth, but humanity in general find it necessary to use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for bowel complaints, dysentery, diarrhoea, etc. It is a sure cure.

The Criminal Eye. Eyes are the most certain revealers of the criminal nature. Many an expert detective tells a criminal by just one glance—not at him, but from him. The criminal eye varies greatly in setting but not so much in color. Sometimes it is deeply placed in the head as if it tried to hide, fearing the result of its own involuntary revelations. Sometimes it is bulky, protrusive like a frog and heavy-lidded. Such eyes, taken in connection with some other signs, denote treachery, lechery, loquacity, mendacity and general cruelty, with just enough cowardice to prevent the criminal from doing murder except insidiously or through others.

Of the criminal eye there are many remarkable anecdotes. The murderer, Francesconi, had little about him to indicate the ferocity that ambushed in his breast. His forehead was high and smooth, his beard was plentiful. To most people he rendered himself rather companionable, by a certain cheap facetiousness that often masquerades as wit, and on account of this social quality Francesconi's conceit was tolerated, and his huge egotism did not have its full chance to repel people. But years before his crime, a young girl—afterwards the Countess della Rocca—who had never left home and who lacked experience of life, recoiled from him violently when introduced, and refused to endure his presence. When questioned why she behaved thus towards one who stood so high socially, she answered: "If that man has not already murdered people, he will do so." This girlish prophecy very soon came true, and when Lombroso inquired by what sign she had foretold, she replied, "The eyes—I saw him in his eyes."—Henry Austin, in Donahoe's Magazine for September.

THREE DOLLARS A WEEK FOR LIFE Here is a Snap for Brainy People—The Latest Thing Out. In order to introduce The Canadian Agriculturist into new homes, the publishers have decided to present an unusually attractive reward list for their Great Eighth Half Yearly Literary Attraction for the summer of 1893.

How to SECURE A REWARD.—Those who become subscribers can compete free of charge. All that is necessary is to take a few sheets of paper and make all the words you can out of the letters in the three words, "World's Columbian Exposition," and send them to us, inclosing $1 for six months subscription to either The Canadian Agriculturist or The Ladies' Home Magazine, two of the choicest illustrated periodicals of the day.

The sender of the largest list will receive $3 per week for life; 2nd, $1,000 in gold; 3rd, $500; 4th, $250; 5th, $100; 6th, Ticket to World's Fair and ten days expenses; 7th, pianos, organs, ladies' and gents' gold and silver watches, silver tea services, diamond rings, and over 10,000 other rewards, making altogether the most valuable prize list ever offered by any publisher. Send for printed list of former prize winners.

RULES.—1. Foreign or obsolete words not counted. 2. Letters cannot be used oftener than they appear in the words "World's Columbian Exposition"—that is the word "riddle," for instance, could not be used, because there is but one "d" in the three words, etc. 3. Names of persons and places barred. 4. No prize for packing or shipping, but all prize winners will be expected to help us to extend our circulation. 5. All lists containing over 100 correct words will receive a special reward.

JUDGES.—The following well-known gentlemen have consented to act as judges and will see that the prizes are fairly awarded:—Commodore Calcutt, (Proprietor Calcutt's Line of Steamers), Peterborough, and Mr. W. Robertson, President Times Printing Company, Peterborough. AGENTS WANTED.—We pay $1 to $5 per day salary (no commission) to men, women, boys and girls. Write for particulars. Register all money letters. Address AGRICULTURIST PUB. CO., (LTD), Peterborough, Canada.

Rheumatism in the Knees. SRS.—About two years ago I took rheumatism in the knees, which became so bad that I could hardly go up or down stairs without help. All medicines failed until I was induced to try B. B. B. By the time I had taken the second bottle I was greatly relieved, and the third bottle completely removed the pain and stiffness.
