

LOCAL NEWS.

THE WEATHER.—Nearly a foot of snow fell here in the storm of last Friday night. It was followed on Sunday by a thaw which when it again froze, left a thick crust. On Tuesday evening another heavy storm set in and the roads are almost impassable.

SCHOONER WRECKED.—The schooner "S. G. Marshall," owned by Captain Matthew Smith of Buctouche, was driven on Shemague Bar during the storm last Friday night and made a total wreck. She was loaded with coal and supplies for Buctouche. The crew were saved.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.—Some time ago, Miss Campbell of Little River, Buctouche, answered an advertisement which appeared in an American paper, signed by a gentleman in New York requesting some young lady or ladies to correspond with him with a view to matrimony. Photographs were exchanged, a general correspondence ensued and on Wednesday last the two were united in marriage at Buctouche by Rev. N. McLaughlin. They immediately set out for their home in New York.

SMELT FISHING.—There was a general scramble among the smelt fishermen to get to their places on the 1st instant at the opening of the season. All the old buyers are in the field this season. Geo. W. Robertson & Co. will run two sheds, one in the north end and the other in the south. A. & R. Loggie are adding an addition to their last year's quarters. W. S. Loggie will occupy the same shed as last season. They all have representatives in Kouchibouguac, St. Louis and Buctouche. Mr. Jas. D. Irving is also buying at Buctouche.

ANOTHER BURGLARY AT KINGSTON.—Mr. H. M. Ferguson's shop in Kingston was raided last Wednesday night, and a quantity of clothing stolen. The thief was evidently pretty well acquainted with the locality and appears to have gone about the business in a cool, systematic manner. He first paid a visit to Mr. Alex. Girvan's residence, let himself in by raising a window and proceeded to the pantry where he helped himself to everything within reach. After making a square meal, he let himself out by the way he got in, went to the barn, procured a ladder and used it in breaking open an upper window in Ferguson's shop. When Mr. Ferguson arrived next morning he found his desk broken open, books and papers scattered at out in every direction and several suits of clothes missing. The ladder was still standing against the shop and two vests which had dropped out of the midnight visitors' bundle, were lying near it. The object of the visit was, no doubt, to secure money, and after searching through the desk and finding none he turned his attention to the clothing in the shop. On the Monday night previous, an attempt was made to break into Mr. Wm. Bowers' store. An upper and a lower window were broken open but the shutters prevented the visitor from erecting an entrance. Wm. Gould, who stole $71.00 from a bedroom in Melnerney's hotel a few days ago, is suspected of being the guilty party.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONCERT.—Stormy weather prevented a large attendance at the St. Mary's Sabbath School concert, last Saturday evening. Those who attended however, enjoyed a very pleasant evening. The pupils were well trained and the performance excellent. The following programme was presented:—Full chorus, "Oh! the sports of childhood"; Solo, "Hush! my baby," by Hazel Hudson; Dialogue, "A dog story," by Willie Hannah and Austin Weeks; Solo, "Little Maggie May," by Mabel Barnett; Dialogue, "Scene from Mother Goose," by Gladys Hudson, Katie Stevenson, Herbie Hudson and Ernest Stevenson; Solo and Chorus, "The Spanish Guitar," by George Marshall, Herb Hudson, Dave Barnett, John and Gordon Long; Recitation, "I want to be your Grannie," Hazel Hudson; Solo, "Peanut Song," by Vaughan Long; Recitation, by Roy Stuart; Recitation, "Our future man," by Willie Graham; Full Chorus, "Merry Xmas Bells"; Chorus "The old black cat," by 22 little children; Play, "Thirty minutes for refreshments," by Misses Panny Sayre, Anna Phinney, Sadie Hudson and Willie Wheten, Smith Scott, Robert Bell and Irving Stevenson; Solo, "Little Buttercup," by Gladys Hudson; Dialogue, "Keep cool," by George Marshall and Herb Hudson; Chorus, "Hark! the vesper hymn is stealing," by Misses Sadie Hudson, Panny Sayre, Maude Hains, Maggie Barnett, Winnie and Nina Hains; Dialogue, "Almost run away," by Mabel Barnett and Vaughan Long; Solo, "Who was it?" by Gladys Hudson; Dialogue, "Four celebrated characters," by Nina Hains, Emma Hudson, Stella Amoureux and Emeline Hackenley; Song, "Too late," by Sadie Hudson, Fanny Sayre, Maggie Barnett, Winnie and Nina Hains; Dialogue, "Scap in for the ladies," by 12 girls; Recitation, by John Long; Song, "Whispering will," by Maggie Barnett, Maude Hains, Winnie and Nina Hains; Full Chorus, "Tramp Song"; National Anthem. The proceeds of the evening will be devoted to the purchase of new books for the Sabbath School library.

Point Sapin. DEC. 4th, 1893.—We are having real winter weather. Our farmers have had a beautiful fall for ploughing and getting through with their fall work. There is a scarcity of cattle feed and our neighbour Joseph Duplay has been very busy dressing beef and hogs, to do which he is an excellent hand. We are pleased to again report another of those pleasant and interesting gatherings which took place at the residence of Mr. Robicheau, on the occasion of the marriage of Miss Mary Robicheau, eldest daughter of Lazor Robicheau, Esq., to Mr. Joseph Savoy, of lower Bay du Vin, Northumberland County. We tender the happy couple our best wishes. We have to chronicle the death of Mr. E. Saunders which took place at the residence of his son-in-law, ex-councillor O'Leary, at the age of 95 years. Mr. Saunders in his younger years was one of Northumberland's most prominent lumber men, and his history carries us back to the days of Gilmore Rankin & Co., and the Cunards, the days of shipbuilding and timber shipping etc., better known as the golden age. Mr. Wm. McDermaid left here for his home in Chatham last week. This is the last of our floating population which visit us every spring in connection with the fish trade. Mr. James Kelly & Alex. Jimo have a large contract to supply the cord wood for Messrs R. & R. O'Leary. Mr. Andrew Goinett is getting on finely with his boats.

Send name to above address, and receive instructions and stationery. —The new Orange Hall, erected by the Orangemen of Bathurst, was dedicated Thursday evening. The erection of the building was commenced on the 12th of July last, the local brethren observing the day in this manner, instead of taking part in the usual walk. The building is a large one and is a credit to the place and to the Orange Order. It is a two storey structure with hall on the second flat and two stores below. The ground part has been taken by Mr. Norman Desbrisay, who runs a general store. The dedicatory service took place in the presence of a large number of people, the hall being crowded. Mr. McIntyre, of Sussex, in the absence of Grand Master Fowler, acted as Grand Master. In addition to the local Orangemen present, there were 23 from Newcastle, 7 from Campbellton, and a number of brethren from other places. After the beautiful dedicatory service, speeches were made by Mr. MacIntyre, acting Grand Master; Deputy Grand Chaplain, P. E. Heine, Moncton; Donald Morrison, County Master of Northumberland; Revs. Messrs. Sellers and Thompson. The different speakers eulogized the noble efforts of the Bathurst orangemen and referred in very complimentary terms to the magnificent building erected.

BOSTON COMEDY CO.—The Boston Comedy Co., arrived Tuesday and opened in the Temperance Hall to a crowded house, producing the new comedy, "The Honey-moon, or how to rule a wife." To-night, (Wednesday) the play will be Mirakla, and the farce of "The loan of a lover." Tickets for reserved seats for sale by play at K. B. Forbes' store. The play last night was admirable and the dresses elegant.
