At Anita mine, in the Florencia district of Mexico, a fight occurred between John Merritt, an American superintendent, and about fifty Mexican miners. Merritt and three Mexicans were killed. The trouble grew out of the discharge of several miners by Merritt.

Why Medicine Does No Good.

There are scores of persons—aye, thousands of them—who by careless and irregular habits of eating contract dyspepsia. Then they try this remedy and that, without paying the least attention to diet or regularity of habits and finally denounce all remedies as frauds because the impossible does not happen, and their health comes back to them. The very worst case of dyspepsia can be cured by Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic and Hawker's liver pills, if at the same time sound judgment as to diet, exercise and general regularity of habits is observed.

Brakeman Albert McInnis, of the I. C. R., was fatally injured at Milford Station Wednesday morning. He was braking Brown's special proceeding to Halifax. A report compiled by the British board of agriculture on Canadian cattle is published. It announces that it is beyond question that a mark in the lungs, in the opinion of the men, is contagious pleuropneumonia, which could not develop to the extent shown on slaughter in England unless it was contracted before leaving Canada. The board reminds the Canadian people and government that if they wish the slaughter order rescinded they must take precautions in Canada.

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Loathing of Food, Dyspepsia or Biliousness, take HAWKER'S LIVER PILLS. They will cure you. Recommended by leading Physicians as a most reliable medicine.

A riot on the Wiscasset and Quebec railroad at Unity, Me., has been quelled. Eight Italians surrounded a house in which were Contractors Mills, Taylor, Perkins and an Italian boss, whom they determined to kill. They were armed with clubs and dirk knives and demanded food and money. On arrival of officers from Boston the gang of fifteen leaders ran. Eight were captured. Others are still in the woods.

As the funeral of Mr. John Bourgeois, J. P., was leaving his late residence at Memramcook last week for the church, one of the late horses in the cortege suddenly bolted. Mr. Moses O'Brien the occupant was thrown heavily to the ground and severely bruised and his shoulder dislocated. The horse dashed along the entire cortege, knocking the wheels of two or three teams, disappearing in the direction of Dorchester.

A BOOM TO HORSEMEN.—One bottle of English Spavin Liniment completely removed a curb from my horse. I take pleasure in recommending the remedy, as it acts with mysterious promptness in the removal from horses of hard, soft or calloused lumps, blood spavin, splints, curbs, swellings, stifles and sprains.

GEORGE ROBB, Farmer, Markham, Ont.

Sold by W. W. Short.

The Sussex dairying company this week sent away by rail 350 boxes of cheese of superior quality, ranging from 65 to 71 lbs. each and aggregating about 12 tons to Hodgson Bros., cheese dealers in Montreal which will be forwarded to the English markets by next steamer for that port, it being the second lot shipped from New Brunswick and the first from Kings Co., N. B. Mr. Shipp, who is the main mover in this work, says that while they have disposed of this lot out and out to the Hodgson Bros., it is an experiment on their part as far as New Brunswick cheese is concerned, and the result will be looked for with the greatest anxiety by all interested in the business of sending cheese to the English market.

They Want Names.

Frank S. Taggart & Co., 88 King Street, West, Toronto, Ontario, desire the names and addresses of a few people in every town who are interested in works of art and to secure them, they offer to send free, "Cupid Guides the Boat," a superbly executed water color picture, size 10 x 12 inches, suitable for framing and sixteen other pictures about same size, in colors, to any sending them at once the names and addresses of ten persons (admirers of fine pictures) together with five three-cent stamps to cover expense of mailing, etc. The regular price of these pictures is $1.00 but they can all be secured free by any person forwarding the names and stamp promptly.

Note.—The editor of this paper has already received copies of above pictures and consider them really "Gems of Art."

POPGUN SHOTS.

Wife—How people gaze at my new dress. I presume they wonder if I've been shopping in Paris. Husband—More likely they wonder if I've been robbing a bank.—New York Weekly.

Brig.—While I was on the deck with Miss Lingerly last night her brother threw a firecracker right into her lap. Griggs—He was aiming at you, I suppose.—New York World.

Bungle—Nature has been very kind to Mrs. Blusener. She the roses on her cheeks? Miss B's rival—Yes, indeed. O we must have a natural gift to paint like that.—Arkansas Traveler.

"Did your daddy give you any fireworks for de Four?" "Naw. He told me to butt me head agin de lamp s an' I could see all kinds of stars an' 'd'd be all me own, too."—Indianapolis Journal.

The Tailor—If you don't pay me at once I shall commence a suit. The spendthrift (impudently)—If it's like all the rest of your suits go ahead. Nobody'll believe it's meant for me.—Chicago Record.

"It's a sure thing that Black has lost his mind." "Well, it reflects a great deal of credit on his doctor." "Great Se it! Why?" "That he was able to discover the loss of such a tiny thing."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"They say" (and she dived into the pockets of his clothes at 5 a.m.) "that women (one, two, two-fifty, two-seventy-five, three, four, six) would not make good politicians (seven, eight, eight forty-four), but I know better!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Miss Amy—I wonder how old that Miss Miles is, any way? Mr. Scrubbles—Twenty-four, I believe. Miss Amy—Nonsense! What makes you think that? Mr. Scrubbles—Isn't she told me so every year since I met her?—Chicago Record.

Mr. Dun—But, my dear fellow, this account has been running seven years. Scientific doctor—That's right, old man. But you know every atom of a man's system changes in seven years. I am not the man who bought the goods.—Chicago Tribune.

He—Is that your dog I hear howling so? She—Yes. Poor Flo is so devoted to me he guards me all the time, and won't even let papa put his arm around me. He—Faithful creature! I can't bear the thought of his being chained on my account.—Vogue.

FATHERLY ADVICE.

Daughter—But you will like George, he is such a straightforward, conscientious man. Father (a business man)—Straight forward and conscientious, eh? Then don't think of marrying him; you'd starve to death.

When old General Humidity assails us with torridity, and a fellow with avidity guzzles beer and causes fate, and the stream of words torrential is sulphurous and horizontal, and the danger imminent to his future's suit to state:

When his clothing seems aggrivating, and his collar limp and mutinous, and his very blood's diluting as he sweaters on the street.

When the tricking perspiration gets red-hot with the whole contentment of the train due to heat—

Then it elevates his dander, when some human Salamander sees he really lives to wander where the mercury's on the "high."

Some paternal and outrageous clasp with cheek and gull audacious, who is fool enough to face us with a sweet and sunny smile.

And to see the indignation of the steaming population would evoke the condemnation of a fund from snail's snail.

As it enters its diageon, armed with gnat and stone and bludgeon—and the suicidal quignon is a gross sick, nothing more.

And the corner and his jury find, de facto and de jure, that the wave of public fury was excusable, oh quite!

"Justifiable manslaughter. He was killed because he'd oughter. Such a verdict deserves no quarter," said the verdict post-mortem.

SHORT AND SWEET.

Widow as Old as the Hill—Dressed Out in New Toggery. Our duties are about to don cor-sets bonnets.

The Georgia girl who was born without a "chin" is a long-fell want. A number of young ladies have determined to give their chins to the dentist.

A man has a stall in a Cincinnati market who lost both legs in the army. What a splendid customer he would make.—Texas Sittings.

Nasty of Her.

Miss Mischief—Do you dance much? Mr. Bachelor—Not often.

Miss Mischief—If I thought not, (Mr. B. didn't enjoy the dance after that at all.)

Bridegrooms' Bonds in Delaware. To get married seems an easy thing to the young man whose fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.

But when it comes to the actual ceremony there are a thousand and one terrors which surround and threaten to overcloud him. Marriage in some states is easy; in others it is as difficult as obtaining a divorce.

A well-known Philadelphian was about to be married to a beautiful young woman who lived in the State of Delaware. He had no idea that the marriage laws of that State were of an appalling nature. He had secured his license and thought that was all that was necessary.

"Have you filed your bond yet?" said some one to him the day before the wedding.

"What?" gasped he.

"Your bond," repeated the questioner. "You know every man who is married in this State has to file a bond for the protection of the State."

The bridegroom was rather dubious, but was finally persuaded that this was a fact.

"I'll see a lawyer about it in the morning," said he. So he went to a friend, who was a legal light, and said:

"See here. I've just had to have to give a bond to the State when I get married."

"Certainly. Haven't you done so?" in a surprised way.

"No, I never heard of such a thing before. What kind of bond is it?"

"Oh, any real estate will do."

"But I haven't any real estate."

The lawyer looked at him a moment. Then he solemnly said:

"Haven't you any friends who own property?"

"None that I care to ask to bind it up that way. I can't ask my uncle's relatives, you know."

His friend looked at him pityingly. "You can't postpone the wedding, can you?"

"What?" fairly shrieked the unfortunate.

"Of course, of course not," said the legal light soothingly. But the poor bridegroom looked stricken.

"Oh, tell you what I'll do, old man, I'll tend to the matter for you. Don't give yourself any more concern about it."

The young man about-to-be-married grasped his hand. He could not speak for a moment, and then he poured forth his thanks. He placed his hat in a moment, and he walked to the door. He returned.

"Give the man a ring to ask you how much a state amount of the bond requires."

"Fifty cents," said the lawyer.

Pass.

His was the fiercest of desperation. "You may take me just as I am," he exclaimed, "or not at all."

For an instant only she contemplated him.

"As you like," she observed, "not without a tincture of regret in her manner, but I am sure you will be sorry."

She reached for her hand.

"—that you didn't look pleasant and held your chin just a trifle higher."

Evils, it Really on the Shore. She tips and gambles merrily. Along the grill old ocean's shore, Wash'ng on her mind, forehead, And on her person barks more.
