MR. BLAKE AND THE LIBERAL PARTY.

It will be remembered that the sudden and at the time unaccountable, defection of Hon. Edward Blake from the ranks of his party on the eve of the last general election, tended very much to injure the prestige of the Liberals in that contest, and no doubt contributed largely to their defeat. The reasons given at the time for Mr. Blake's course were not generally accepted as the true reasons, and very many electors suspected that the trade policy of the party as laid down by Sir Richard Cartwright and other leaders was not acceptable to Mr. Blake, whose strong sympathies with the mother country would prevent him subscribing to the Commercial Union fad, which Mr. Wiman had induced the party to accept and with which they foolishly expected to beguile the Canadian electorate. After the elections, and the Liberals again found themselves in opposition, they began to see the mistake they had made, and then for the first time was given to the public, the letter written by Mr. Blake to the Secretary of the Reform association of his former constituency (West Durham) declining the nomination because of his dissatisfaction with the new trade policy of his friends.

Since then, however, the Liberal party has once more modified its platform on this question, and at the Ottawa Convention adopted a resolution more in harmony with Mr. Blake's views, and that gentleman now writes the Secretary of the Durham association asking permission to say how glad he is to think that the reciprocity resolution of the late Reform Convention has ended the difference which led to the severance of his connection with the riding and that though no longer to be associated with them as their representative, he is not to be divided from them in opinion. Mr. Blake is therefore once more in harmony with his party, or rather the party has placed itself again in harmony with its old leader, and although he is not now so closely identified with Canadian public life as he formerly was, this incident will no doubt prove helpful to the Liberal cause.

It will be remembered that simultaneously, with Mr. Blake's defection, a number of prominent gentlemen in all the provinces, who had hitherto worked and fought in the Liberal ranks, bolted from their party, principally if not solely because of the trade question, and by their course contributed very largely to the Liberal-Conservative triumph in the last campaign. In New Brunswick such life-long liberals as A. A. Stockton, Howard Troop, George McLeod, Silas Alward and other well known gentlemen, joined the conservative ranks on this issue, very much to the annoyance of their former friends who subscribed to the Commercial Union scheme.

Now, however, inasmuch as the Liberals have abandoned that plank of their platform and adopted a modified Reciprocity resolution, and Mr. Blake has returned to his allegiance, it will be interesting to observe what the attitude of the other bolters will be. If they should decide to follow Mr. Blake's example, the Conservatives will lose the support of a strong party especially in St. John, and the prospects of a Liberal victory would be much improved. It is known that a good deal of dissatisfaction with the government policy prevails, and more unlikely things have happened in political circles than the return of what are now known as the mugwumps to their first love. The next election may witness considerable overtures in existing parties, and the results may not be wholly unsatisfactory.

GLOUCESTER ELECTION.

The Bathurst Courier in its last weeks issue says that it is "authorized by Mr. J. Sivewright, M. P. P., to announce that the date has been fixed for the bye-election necessary to fill the seat of Mr. Theot. Blanchard, M. P., in the local legislature," and that nomination will take place on October 29th, and polling on November 5th.

We had not previously understood that Mr. Sivewright had assumed the duties of the Provincial Secretary's office so far even as the County of Gloucester is concerned, but we have no doubt that exceedingly versatile representative has succeeded in leaving the impression on his constituents that the local government machine at Fredericton is moved entirely under his direction, and that his orders are obeyed in the most minute particulars. The Courier further informs us that Mr. Sivewright has graciously decided "not to make any choice in the name of Government," from amongst the candidates whose names it mentions, but to leave the result entirely in the hands of the electors—to choose the one who in their opinion will prove the most capable representative, and it congratulates Mr. Sivewright on the wisdom of his decision. All this sounds somewhat funny. The statement has been made that Senator Burns claimed for some years to control the county, and that when he left the Commons for his present position, Mr. Blanchard was put forward as "Mr. Burns' candidate," and elected as such, but we will be surprised to learn that Mr. Sivewright can successfully fill the same role or that he carries the constituency in his pant's pocket.

The candidates named are Mr. P. J. Veniot of Bathurst (Editor of the Courier,) Mr. Joseph Poirier, of Grand Anse, and Mr. Prosper E. Paulin, of Caraquet. Mr. Veniot is we believe a native of Richibucto and will be remembered by our town's people. He is said to be a ready speaker and active canvasser. He warmly supported Mr. Doucette in his contest against Mr. Blanchard for Ottawa, and as questions of local provincial politics entered largely into that election, it was generally supposed that Mr. Veniot would not prove a very ardent sympathizer with the local government. We judge however, that for local reasons, he now considers it advisable to announce himself a government supporter.

Mr. Poirier, who represented the county for a term at Fredericton, and gave the Blair Government very strong support, is not, it appears, to receive any encouragement from the administration in this contest, but is left to fight the battle single-handed without even Mr. Sivewright's smile of approval. This, to say the least of it, is very ungenerous treatment.

As to Mr. Paulin, we are not informed. His residence at Caraquet, and the fact that the other representative resides in the upper end of the county, at Bathurst, would seem to improve Mr. Paulin's chances. So far as possible it is advisable that both sections of the county should be fairly represented.

TRADE IN THE UNITED STATES.

The last issue of Dun's Review sees in the present business of the States, little for encouragement and not much for discouragement, other than that the business affairs of the country still stand at a low ebb, and the tide of prosperity has not yet set in. It says:—

"Plenty of material for encouragement, and also for discouragement, can be found by those who seek that and nothing else. But business men who want to see the situation exactly as it is find accounts so far conflicting that it is difficult to strike a balance. In those departments of industry and trade in which the deferred business and the demand for replenishment of stocks have not been exhausted there is obvious improvement, and in some the business is not only larger than last year, but larger than two years ago. In others the exhaustion of the temporary demand has brought disappointment, because it was smaller than was expected, and because the remaining demand appears uncomfortably light. In the aggregate, business is about a tenth larger than last year, but still falls about 25 per cent below a full volume for the season.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION.

The Teachers' Institute of Kent County, meets at Kingston, during the present week, and a public meeting to be addressed by the Inspector and other gentlemen, is advertised to be held on Thursday evening. Many important questions in connection with the great topic of Common School Education, will no doubt, engage the attention of the teachers who assemble in this local educational parliament, and will also receive consideration at the hands of the public speakers. We take the liberty of suggesting an interesting and practical topic of debate, the one which forms the caption of this article, a subject upon which educators should be prepared to express an opinion, and the discussion of which will undoubtedly interest a public audience.

It is one that has been discussed for years and has both its advocates and opponents. Those who have opposed the enactment of a law making the attendance of pupils on the common schools compulsory, have done so upon the ground that the parents' duty to their children in this regard, is a moral obligation, and the people should be educated up to a proper appreciation of their duties, and that little progress can be made in the way of persuasion with a threat of force behind; that such a law is an improper infringement upon personal liberty; that it is so much in conflict with British and Canadian ideas of personal freedom that even where the compulsory school law has been adopted it has been rarely enforced, and so on.

On the other hand, however, the sentiment in favor of compulsory education has been steadily growing both in the United States and Canada, and a large number of the States and some of the Provinces have crystallized it into law. While educators and philanthropists acknowledge the force of the objections raised, the law of expediency overbalances the objections. The law which makes it a crime for a parent or guardian to abandon a child or ward, is one dictated by considerations of humanity and in this age of sharp competition a young man or woman unequipped with at least a fair education, is worse than abandoned. The principle of the compulsory law is that, because of considerations of public policy, humanity and philanthropy every child should be educated—that ignorance and crime go hand in hand as also do education and respect for law. The law of compulsory education is one of expediency, a law that abridges personal liberty for the greatest good of society. It seems to be absolutely required to properly complete and give full effect to the successful operation of a free school law such as that now in operation in this Province.

A BOON TO HORSEMEN.—One bottle of English Spavin Liniment completely removed a curb from my horse. I take pleasure in recommending the remedy, as it acts with mysterious promptness in the removal from horses of hard, soft or calloused lumps, blood spavin, splints, curbs, swellings, stifles and sprains.

BUCOTUCHE NOTES.

OCT. 15.—Last Thursday the annual school meeting was held. Messrs. Jude J. LeBlanc and John C. Ross were unanimously elected to fill the two vacancies in the Board of Trustees. $200 was voted for the repair and re-furnishing of the building. Mr. B. H. Foley was re-elected auditor. New out-buildings are to be built at once.

Yesterday was one of the most disagreeable days of the season. Sch. "Ocean Bride," Capt. P. A. Smith, sailed into the harbor about noon, he reports a very high sea outside. Sch. "Lochiel," Capt. Bliss Smith, arrived early in the morning.

Miss Maggie E. Foley left to-day, for Worcester, Mass., on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Bigman.

Messrs. Curran and Girvan, of Kingston, were in town, last week.

Another of the series of social dances was held at the residence of Mr. Chas. McManus. An oyster supper was served at low twelve. An enjoyable time was spent.

Last Wednesday, J. A. Bourque left for Houlton, Maine, to buy potatoes for a Boston firm.

John Hutchinson, Jr., left for Mount Allison, this morning.

Dr. D. V. Landry visited Memramcook, last week.

Work on the public wharf is about completed, and the wharf presents a very creditable appearance.

Last Thursday evening the Methodist S. S. concert was held in Barnes' Hall. There was a good attendance and the concert passed off very successfully. $25 were realized, which is to go toward an addition to the library. The programme was successfully carried out, which consisted of recitations, readings, music, cornet solos, dialogues, farces and tableaux.

Acadiville and Vicinity.

OCT. 15.—Mr. P. E. Gallant left last week for Boston, to accept a position on a railway as telegraph operator. Success. We are again without a post-master at Acadia Siding.

Messrs. James Fitzgerald and J. David Gaudet have gone to Kouchibouguac Bay on a shooting trip of ten days. They bring lots of birds every time. They took plenty powder and lead.

The man with a big character has spent his fall vacation in Richibucto.

The crops will not be up to the average in our localities this fall. Potatoes are reported good in some parts of the parish.

The foundation of our new church is completed and ready to receive the frame.

Mr. S. Barriault is about done his trip with the thrasher. Messrs. Goguen and Vautour are busy threshing in the North Fork.

A well-known politician has been laid up, it is said, on account of having too freely partaken of a chicken dinner.

Several strangers were here during the summer with the intention of making their future homes.

This season has passed without a cent of Bye Road money being spent on our roads, and they are not in a very good condition. CHICKEN.

McNairn.

OCT. 11.—The rain has come at last, causing the millers and ploughmen to rejoice. Messrs. Morrison & Cameron have threshed for the farmers of this district, grain fifty per cent. less than last season.

The patrons who patronized the St. Mary's cheese factory are well satisfied with the returns, and intend sending a larger supply of milk next season.

The residents of this district have decided to postpone the building of the Presbyterian Church; there will therefore be no turkey supper held here this Thanksgiving, which will prove a disappointment to many.

Mr. Wm. McNairn, whose ankle was so severely sprained, we are pleased to state is able to be about again.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McNairn, of Galloway, have been visiting their numerous friends here.

Mrs. H. Ainsworth and Miss Annie Murray, of Portland, are the guests of Mrs. James Johnson.

Mrs. Allison's friends here, extend to Mr. Allison, of Derby, their congratulations in securing so esteemed a young lady for a life partner.

Paper Horseshoes.

When paper horseshoes were first introduced into the cavalry service of the German army a few years ago they excited a good deal of interest. Several cavalry horses were first shod with the paper shoes and the effect observed. It was found, says the Chicago Herald, that not only did the lightness and elasticity of the shoe help the horse on the march, making it possible for him to travel faster and farther without fatigue than horses shod with iron, but that the paper shoe had the property of being unaffected by water and other liquids. These new sheets of paper are pressed closely together, one above another and rendered impervious to the moisture by the application of oil and turpentine. The sheets are glued together by a sort of paste composed of turpentine, whitening, gum and linseed oil, and then submitted to a powerful hydraulic pressure. Paper horseshoes are also made by grinding up the paper into mass, combining it with turpentine, sand, gum, litharge and certain other substances pressing it and afterwards drying it. But these shoes are less tough and elastic than those made of thin sheets of paper laid one upon another. These shoes are fastened to the horse's feet either by means of nails or with a kind of glue made of coal tar and caoutchouc.

The Great Diphtheria Cure.

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—At the Vienna congress of German naturalists, Behring, of Halle, and Dr. Ehrlich, of Berlin, made some further disclosures regarding their serum cure for diphtheria. According to Dr. Ehrlich the mortality in diphtheria cases, when treated with the serum, has gone down in Berlin hospitals to eight per cent. He said diphtheria was no longer to be dreaded in civilized countries. The remedy, as produced jointly by Doctors Behring and Ehrlich, is a fluid of a pale reddish yellow color and is sold hermetically sealed. It is prepared in three degrees of strength. The first contains 600 antitoxic units, the second 1000 and the third 1500 for immunizing purposes. The tenth part of a simple dose is sufficient, but to cure advanced cases the concentrated remedy is required. It is applied with a Koch injector in such parts of the body where the skin lies in loose folds.
