San Del Vecho Mucial, an artist, and his wife tried to commit suicide together at New York on Friday. The woman, who drank carbolic acid, was successful, but the man failed to kill himself and is now in Bellevue Hospital suffering from the effects of carbolic acid and a gash on the neck with a razor. He will probably recover.

Some people laugh to show their pretty teeth. The use of Ivory White Tooth Powder makes people laugh more than ever. It's so nice. Price 25c. Sold by druggists.

The Dominion trade returns for August are not of a very encouraging character. The exports for the month have fallen off two millions and a half and the imports show a slight increase, but for the two months there is a reduction of half a million dollars. The duty collected during July and August is three quarters of a million less than last year.

Reports of destruction by Friday night's cyclone in Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin indicate the loss of life in the neighborhood of 75 and the injured number several times as many. Some of those hurt are expected to die. It is not unlikely the list of dead will number 100. The property loss is not less than $1,000,000. More persons were killed in Kossuth county, Iowa, than in any other one county through which the tornado passed. Nineteen funerals were held at Algoma on Sunday.

Dr. Anton Palitschek, late Austrian consul general to the United States, located New York, has been dismissed in disgrace from the consular services of the Austro-Hungarian empire. When acting imperial and royal commissioner general to the Chicago Fair the ex consul is said to have compelled Austrian exhibitors to pay for space in manufacturer's hall. It is charged Dr. Palitschek embezzled $15,000 bequeathed to hospitals by John Ruzitz, a wealthy Hungarian who died in New York.

A serious state of affairs prevail at Shelburne, N. B. The western countries are overrun with Italian navvies working on various railways under construction. They have been unmercifully swindled by contractors. The town is overrun with Italians who have worked for all the summer without pay, have spent every cent they had and are now penniless, starving and are unable to obtain their wages. They threatened to crucify the contractor and fire the town. The contractor sought the protection of the authorities and was lodged in jail, guarded by armed men to save him from the fury of the mob.

Hon. H. R. Emerson and G. O. W. Chandler's residences at Dorchester, were broken into early Friday morning and a quantity of meat, bread, preserves and other eatables taken from each house. It is supposed that the two convicts who escaped from the penitentiary, on Wednesday were the perpetrators, as a convict's hat and handkerchief were found in a field adjoining Mr. Chandler's house. Another theory is that two ex-convicts who were lately out of prison were seen around town and that they might have seen the escaped men, secured one of their hats and handkerchiefs and put there so as the officers would be called away from the bridges and such places and give the prisoners a chance to get away.

RED JACKET.

Alix Lowers the World's Record.

GALTSBURG, Ill., Sept. 19.—Fifteen thousand people yelled themselves hoarse this afternoon when the great trotting queen Alix beat the world's record by coming under the wire in 2.03.3.5. The track was in good condition, when at five o'clock Alix passed the judge's stand for a preliminary spin. The start was made in splendid style. Alix coming up regularly and steady as clock-work, with her head down and her short ears twitching nervously. When the quarter was reached there was a general exclamation of "thirty and a half," which was her exact time.

From the half she seemed to fly, making it in 1.01. The third quarter she increased her pace a trifle, making it in 1.32. Then she came down the home stretch moving without apparent effort, finishing the mile in 2.03. The performance of Alix is the talk of the horsemen to-night. Driver McDowell said it was a remarkable mile. Alix did not seem worried a bit by the effort, but came out as fresh as she went in. Her action was perfect. The whole distance I never spoke to her or raised a whip; it was not necessary. When I reached the half mile pole I knew that she would break the record.

Mammoth Block of Mahogany.

The largest log of mahogany ever imported into the United States was received at Messrs. Nemith Brothers' mahogany and cedar yard, Greenport, N. Y., on the schooner Laguna, of Port Jefferson, N. Y.

The log, measuring 44 feet 4 inches long, 60 inches by 56 inches at the base and weighing 21.66 tons, was felled in the Sierra Chisee, in Guatemala, and floated down the Rio de la Pasion and Rio Usunucanto to Laguna, Mexico, a distance of over 300 miles. It was to have been sent to the World's Fair, but all vessels refused to carry it. After lying at Laguna over a year the log was sawed in two and Captain S. S. Bayles took it aboard his vessel and brought it to this city, where it was inspected and measured. A fair idea of the enormous size of this block may be obtained from an engraving in the Scientific American, which represents it after it was cut in two for delivery and shows only about half its original length. Those who have a fancy for inviting their friends to stretch their legs under their own mahogany would here have a chance of procuring a table 22 feet 6 inches long and 5 feet wide, made of one solid piece, at which thirty-two guests could be seated without crowding. Twenty-eight such tables each two inches thick could be cut from this magnificent piece of wood.

The Delineator for November which is called the Thanksgiving number is the first of the three winter issues, and presents a Table of Contents that is most varied and interesting. The fashions for the month appear even more attractive than usual, and with such becoming styles womanhood should appear at her best during the winter at hand. A timely illustrated paper on evening and dinner dresses supplements the regular articles, and appropriate contributions for the season are the Thanksgiving Dinner, a Thanksgiving in New England, Table Decoration, and how to serve apples and pears. The initial paper of two new series appears in this number; one treats of the house, its location, etc.; the other of the relations between mother and a son. One of the most interesting papers of the month is a real conversation between Elith Thomas and Dr. Elliott on the subject of woman and war, which is followed by a charming little poem on the subject in Miss Thomas' best vein. The third article on the Kindergarten takes both teacher and student through attractive work, and there in fascinating employment provided in venetian iron work, and the uses of crepe and tissue papers. Mary Law McClintock writes of the women's college of Baltimore, and Lucia Gilbert Runkle contributes an able article on Private School Teaching as an occupation for women. What to do in illness contains good advice for the mother of a family, and there are also the popular tea table talks, the description of a China wedding, and special papers on crocheting, knitting, netting, tatting and lace making.

The subscription price of the Delineator is only One Dollar a year, single copies, fifteen cents each.

What He Knew About Stoves.

"There are all kinds of stoves, Willie," he said in reply to a question. "For the son of a hardware merchant you are very ignorant."

"Yes, sir," said the boy meekly. "You have run around the store enough to know something about what is kept there. You ought to be more observing if you expect to succeed me in business when you grow up."

"Yes, sir," said the boy. "You've rummaged around those old stoves, asked questions and made yourself generally enough of a nuisance to be pretty well posted. Don't you know anything about them?"

"Yes, sir," returned the boy. "You do! Now that's better. Do you remember the time I had to punish you for pushing a stove over?"

"Yes, sir," said the boy sorrowfully. "Well, that was a—Willie, what is a base burner?"

"A shingle," replied the boy promptly, and so the lesson ended.

A Broken Habit.

She—I am so glad you've given tobacco up! It cheers my heart; it really fills my cup with thankfulness.

He—You're glad, dear? Then my joy is in the sacrifice.

She—You sweet, good boy! How nice of you to say so and to show such strength, such courage! You must know, I know, Your smoke each night, and just about this hour.

It makes me wonder, dearest, at your power Of will—or don't you care a little bit? I did at first, but I've got over it.

He—You see, it's merely habit, and as such I've freed myself with freedom from its clutch. I'll henceforth—yes, no doubt, I'll—oh, I will—

She—What are you looking for, my dear? I'll fill its place with pleasure of a higher type. And—oh—Great Scott! I'm looking—for my pipe.
