His liabilities will be large, but there is a probability that arrangements will be made for him to continue.

Mr. John C. Vautour's store was again burglarized Monday night, and about $7.00 in cash stolen. Nothing else in the store was touched. The doors were locked and the windows fastened down as usual and Mr. Vautour is puzzled to know how an entrance was effected. He believes that the guilty party whoever he may be has a key which will unlock the door. A portion of the money stolen was post office funds.

Mr. Fred Ferguson and bride arrived home Thursday afternoon and were given a very warm reception. In the evening the young people of the town armed with tin cans, whistles and guns, gathered in front of the residence of the newly wedded pair and gave them an old time charivari. A cannon belonging to Mr. H. O'Leary was borrowed for the occasion, and the noise could be heard for miles around. After the cigars had been handed around the crowd dispersed.

Inspector Menzies raided the Central House today and captured some whiskey. The constable effected an entrance, while the inspector kept watch outside. At the sight of the officer within a woman ran out to the woodshed with an armful of bottles. Inspector Menzies followed her and took the bottles from her. Then he turned to go away with his prize, and William Conway, against whom the warrant had been issued, met him with a hammer and made a blow at the bottles, smashing two of them. The inspector shielded his prize as well as he could, and Conway struck several times with the hammer. The inspector got off with the bottoms of two square faces containing a little gin, and a broken bottle nearly full of whiskey. His hand was cut with the broken glass so that it bled pretty freely. Chatham World: "The late George Johnstone left a will which makes no mention of his wife or children. It bequeaths $600 to Mrs. John Falconer, with whom he was living, $100 to John Falconer, $50 to Miss Bessie J. Dickson, $100 to Miss Mary A. Morton, $100 to Robert Frederick Falconer, $50 to Chatham Lodge of Sons of Temperance, and the residue to the "British Home and Foreign Missionary Society." The estate is believed to amount to about $1,200, all personal. Mr. G. B. Fraser is sole executor. The will was made Aug. 23, 1894, and is witnessed by Messrs. Daniel Ferguson and John Hutchinson. There is no such society, we believe, as the one mentioned in the will, and there will probably be no residue for it anyway. Mr. Johnstone has been living with the Falconers only a few months. Mrs. Falconer was his step-daughter." Mrs. Robert Main, of Galloway, is a daughter of deceased.

Mr. Luke Johnson, of St. Paul, who was in town Monday and Tuesday, says that the forest fires have done great damage to the parish of St. Paul. The forests of the parish have been swept from one end to the other, and a large quantity of wood and lumber destroyed. Several buildings and nearly all the fences in the district have been burned. A large quantity of hay was consumed. One farmer alone lost fifty tons. Three horses were burned to death.

Mr. Charles LeBourgne of Louisburg Settlement, Weldford, died very suddenly last week. He engaged a butcher to assist him in killing a cow and undertook to hold the animal's head while it was being dispatched. As the cow fell, LeBourgne staggered back and fell to the ground dead. His death is believed to have been caused by heart disease. He is said to have been of a nervous temperament and on several occasions has fainted at the sight of blood.

A warrant was issued by Stipendiary Richardson, Saturday, on the complaint of Thomas Fitzpatrick against Edward Wilson for assault and battery. It appears that Wilson had, the previous evening forcibly entered Fitzpatrick's house and after abusing the inmates for some time, struck Mrs. Fitzpatrick when she ordered him out. Wilson got word that proceedings were being taken against him and left town before the warrant could be executed.

Two barns belonging to Ebenezer Sherwood, of Coatesville, were destroyed by fire early on Tuesday morning of last week. It was about two o'clock when the fire was first discovered and before anything could be done the contents of the barns were entirely consumed. Three horses, a cow, three wagons, plows, harrow, mowr and other implements, eighteen tons of hay and Mr. Sherwood's crop of wheat and oats which had been stored in the barns were destroyed. There was no insurance and the loss will probably reach $1000. Mr. Sherwood and a relative, Mr. Jephthah Sherwood, whose lots adjoin, recently had some controversy over the dividing line of the lots. It developed into a lawsuit, and the victim of the fire does not hesitate to accuse his kinsman of having set the fire. He started for Moncton next morning to secure legal advice with a view to having the matter inquired into.
