THE WILSON BILL FROM A CANADIAN STANDPOINT.

The Kennebec Democrat of Waterville, Maine, deals with the Wilson Bill from a Canadian standpoint, and arrives at the conclusion that it will not be a "unmixed benefit" to Canada. It says:—

"While the Wilson Bill might, at first sight, or on shallow observation, be deemed a wonderful contribution to Canadian prosperity, a careful consideration of its many-sided formation might compel the conclusion that it is not an unmixed benefit. In the first place, it is not intended to be a panacea for Canadian ills. Such is not the idea that prompted its creation. It is a part fulfillment of a political antedecision, party pledge, and the answer of the Democratic politician to the cry of the American masses for cheaper living, and yet, while not intended, primarily, to benefit Canada, it may, in its operation, produce such a result along certain lines. Ever since the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty in 1866, this country has been teaching itself the lesson of self-reliance; and twenty eight years of Retaliation have instilled into us the Trojan suspicion of fearing the gift bearing Greeks. If a country can, as is eminently asserted, and fairly proved, only become great by manufacturing, is there much to be finally gained by allowing its raw material alone, to be admitted free, or at a reduced rate, into an adjoining state? and is not that about all the Wilson Bill does, or is intended to do, for Canada? eggs free; potatoes nearly free; coal free, or nearly free; lumber, in the rough, free; stone, but partly dressed, free; limestone free; fish nearly free; does not all this simply mean that the American workman has at last acknowledged the advantages of cheap living, side by side with the greater advantage of additional raw material, which by making a greater demand for, will proportionately increase the value of his work."

Of course the Canadian farmer, and the Canadian fisherman will regard it, for the time as the "open sesame" to a wider and probably, a better market for their produce. The former will send across the line his eggs, and his potatoes; and should make a greater supply meet the greater demand; and, so far, will think himself enriched, but on such an uncertain highway to prosperity, uncertain because a Republican victory in three years might close it, will he not be induced to abandon the means which a happy necessity has compelled him to invent, towards making his farm a factory for turning out higher-graded stock, butter and cheese, of which last article alone, he last year sent nearly Fifteen Million Dollars worth to England. Can he be trusted to stand by that higher and apparently more difficult mode of farming which the demands of the great English market have lately called upon him to adopt, when he finds that a simple turning over of the soil will render him a return sufficient for his daily needs.

And the fisherman: what after all is the boon held out to him by the Wilson Bill? The fresh water fisherman of the Lakes may gain much by it; the hardy fisherman of the coast little or nothing. Frozen fresh water fish, under the new Tariff-law will be admitted free, while the old rate of 3-4 of a cent per lb. will be exacted on frozen salt water fish; and thus our salmon, mackerel, bass and smelt fishers will be left just where McKinley placed them. It can be readily understood that much benefit may ensue from such a tariff regulation to the American Citizen who has invested his capital in the fisheries of the Great Lakes, and for him, particularly, is intended the advantage of getting his pack free into the American Cities, while the coast fisherman fights him with a handicap of 3-4 of a cent per lb. on every pound he handles. So it will appear, on sober reflection and careful study, and the experience of the near future will prove it, that the Wilson Bill is essentially intended to help the American, and in some few respects, incidentally only, will it be of any benefit to the Canadian.

MR. GLADSTONE'S RESIGNATION.

There is great excitement in political circles in Great Britain over Mr. Gladstone's resignation. Lord Rosebery will probably succeed him as premier, notwithstanding the opposition of the Radicals who look with disfavor on the idea of selecting a leader from the House of Lords. Mr. Gladstone has been Prime Minister of England four times. He succeeded Disraeli 6th December, 1868, and held office five years and seventy-four days. Disraeli again came in on February 21, 1874, and was again succeeded by Gladstone on April 28, 1880, and this ministry lasted five years and fifty-seven days. Then came Lord Salisbury for two hundred and twenty-seven days. On February 6, 1886, Gladstone again took the helm of state, holding it for only one hundred and seventy days. After six years of Lord Salisbury's second time, Gladstone was again called in and took office, as the result of a general election, on August 19, 1892. His last term numbers one year and one hundred and ninety-seven days.

West Branch.

FEB. 24th.—In glancing over the pages of THE REVIEW and seeing the correspondence from the various parts of the county I fail to notice any from this quiet corner. I will therefore make a faint endeavour to note a few items.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. Glendinning and Mrs. Robertson, who have been ill are improving.

Mrs. James Morton who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. B. McLeod, at Harcourt, has been very low with pneumonia, but under the skillful treatment of Dr. Chandler and Keith is improving.

Miss Bessie Murray has been confined to the house for a few days with neuralgia.

Miss Lill Morton is home for a few weeks from Kingston, where she has been learning dress-making.

Messrs Wm. and John Murray have been engaged for the past week unloading a car of hay at Harcourt.

Mr. Lennox McMichael has returned home from Canaan Station, where he has been studying telegraphy.

Owing to the amount of snow our young men have come out of the lumber woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Girvan, of Coal

portioned amount assessed for the deaf and dumb of that county returned to-day, and upon the back was written the following:—"No funds on hand at present."

The County Treasurer has for some time been complaining that the exactions to meet burdens imposed by recent legislation were fast draining the treasury. It seems that the bottom dollar has at last been reached, and the Deaf and Dumb Institution will have to await the return of the tax collectors of the county.

The Best of All.

MILBURN'S Cod Liver Oil Emulsion is superior to all other preparations of Cod Liver Oil in digestibility, curative power, and strengthening properties. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

Stonehaven.

FEB. 24th.—Although your paper comes regularly to hand, there is seldom any local news from these parts in it. We would like to hear from our old friend Jessie. Surely he can spare some of his time from the knitting machines to give us a few notes, and while he is gathering his thoughts, I will send a few fresh ones.

Mr. W. Knowles has invented a new kind of a threshing machine. It does good work, but as most of the grain is fed this winter without threshing, it will have to be idle for another season.

Henry Daly, who has been laid up with la grippe most of this winter, is getting around slowly. In his case the Dr. strongly recommends—marriage.

This is one of the coldest and most stormy winters we have had for years, and while the snow is so deep and the weather so cold that little can be done, people are enjoying themselves with parties, of which there is one almost every night. A few years ago it was religion; again amusements. Oh, for a revival! We need it now. How people's minds change.

Mrs. N. Good, of Clifton, has opened a store where you can buy anything from a needle to a shovel, and from a handkerchief to a blanket. She has everything which is generally kept in a country store, and at reasonable prices.

W. B. Collins is home this winter, and having a good time. He says he has already received six valentines. Will is a general favorite.

Report says that liquor is freely sold here on the sly. This should not be. Where is our boasted Temperance Society? One time liquor was driven out of Stonehaven. If it is sold in violation of the law, it should be stopped. There is no license in the parish.

Frank Comeau was busy getting out a house and barn frame, when he was suddenly taken sick. Some say it is la grippe, others, that it is news he received from the West.

Henry Scott, our general agent of fruit trees, silverware, etc., has gone wild on knitting machines. He says he can knit anything, wool cotton or straw, and make good clothes out of it. He was for some time your correspondent here, but can't write now, he has no time for anything but yarn. I hope he will get better.

By the signs of the times it will shortly be my duty to report some weddings here.

E. A. Dempsey, the lobster manufacturer is preparing for next season's work. If all his calculations are correct, he will be busy this summer, as he has the net yet he wrote about last spring, and expects a heavy catch.

H. T. N. Hornbrook, the defeated candidate for municipal honors last fall, is alive and well, and he says as good as ever.

J. D. Theriault, who was reported drugged in Yarmouth, N. S., was taken to insane Asylum, where he died. His body arrived home last Thursday.

Acadieville Notes.

MARCH 2nd.—March came in like a lamb. How will it go out?

Messrs P. E. Gallant and A. Pineau have done a brisk business in pulp wood this winter. We understand they bought over 500 cords of spruce besides a quantity of cedar and hemlock ties.

Last Wednesday Mr. Michael McGinis

Branch, passed through here en route to Galloway to-day.

Mr. James Johnstone, of Coatesville, spent Sunday with Mr. Wm. Lennox.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Warman, of Molus River, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Curran on Thursday.

Our school is under the able supervision of Miss Annie Forster, of Galloway, and is well attended.

Mr. John McMichael went to Harcourt yesterday.

When is Geo. going back to Harcourt, or is he afraid of being storm-stayed? ZEPHYR.

Fall River, Mass.

MARCH, 1st.—Reading, last week, some notes from here, I add a few more with the editor's kind permission. The weather is quite spring like now. Three blizzards struck here since January, but they are mild compared to Wisconsin storms. In no part of this state has the glass registered the cold below 20 this winter.

At present there is greater depression than ever in trade circles, owing to the action of Congress on the Tariff question. Last week 2000 laborers assembled at the Mass. State Capitol requesting the Governor to take some steps in order to get them employment, and this week 5000 assembled on Boston Common. No one really knows their object, but the police prevented any speech-making of a violent or threatening character. Aitho' times are thus in the east, they are worse in the West. In cities of 30,000 population there are over 3000 unemployed on an average. Fall River has 93,000 people, and in "good times" was a booming city. Now the cuts in wages have caused strikes in many mills and in the near future, very many will be unemployed, and to mill hands this means more or less want. Your correspondent likes the "States" fairly well but never has Canada seen such depression in financial circles.

School-teaching here receives good remuneration, and as Mass. is one of the many States having "Compulsory Education," there is work for all in this profession.

Mrs. Thurrott, recently of Kent, N. B., has not been promoted to the principalship of a building but only to be principal of a room. Her salary has been increased three dollars per week since last quarter, and she is well satisfied to be clear of the responsibility of a large building.

The friends of Mrs. Horton, formerly of Moulis River, will be pleased to learn that she and family are enjoying their usual good health, and in July Mrs. H. purposes taking a trip to Michigan to visit her son.

St. Margarets.

FEB. 26.—As I have not heard any notes from Dikie of late, I thought I would write a few to let the readers of THE REVIEW know how things stand around here now.

We are having very cold weather at present, and lots of snow, there is about five feet now and more expected, but the roads around here are very good. Messrs. Thos. McDonald and John Flanagan are splendid road makers. They make the snow plow hum.

Mr. Patrick Brophy is seriously ill with la grippe. He was removed to the Hotel Dieu on Saturday last.

Messrs. M. Holland, and Hugh McCaffarty are busy getting out pulp wood. Major and the red coat are daily visitors to our little settlement.

The residence of Mr. Peter Whalen was slightly damaged by fire on Tuesday last.

Our young people are very busy preparing for a bag party which is to take place in our new hall on the 27th of March.

Rev. E. J. Bannon passed through here en route to Chatham on Monday last. RED JACKET.

died at the advanced age of 94. He was the oldest man of the Parish.

One of our leaders (councillors) registered his name S. B., on a visit to one of our schools not long ago. Our councillors are threatening to fine some of their Parish officers who refuse to act. It is hard for a man to attend breaking road in block 14 who is working in the South Branch.

Times will be more than usually dull this spring on account of the scarcity of hay. But we are in hopes that we will be able to get through without calling on the whole country for assistance.

A number of our Parish officers decline to act. They claim they have been appointed by a councillor who holds his seat illegally.

The Patriots of the county have so far failed to enter their great libel suit of $2,000. What is the matter with Joker? can't he help his friend Aime?

The man who has written so much about English and Irish treachery towards the French, should now raise his voice and condemn French hypocrisy and proclaim fair play to all.
