The Kiss.

We have culled some of the good things that N. H. Cox tells us about "The Kiss' in Home and Country for January. Every one remembers the famous kiss attributed to Sam Weller. Sam had dropped his hat, which the housemaid picked up, and Sam kissed her.

"You don't mean to say that you did that on purpose?" said the pretty housemaid, blushing. "No I didn't then," said Sam, "but I will now." So he kissed her

Kissing baffles all attempts at analysis; Shakespeare speaks of kisses as "seals of love," and Sidney tells us "they tie souls together." Coleridge calls kissing "nectar-breathing;" others term it "lip-ser vice:" but, as Josh Billings says: "The more a man tries to analyze a kiss, the more he can't; the best way to define a kiss is to take one."

In the far West they have "kissing bees," and the rural husking frolic common to many parts of the country has been described by Joel Barlow, an early American Stolen kisses are the sweetest."

As for women kissing each other, the modern rhymester says : "Men scorn to kiss among themselves, And scarce will kiss a brother ; Women often want to kiss so much, They smack and kiss each other,'

Too Late for the Train.

It is impossible to "catch a train" when you are a minute too late, while on the other hand "catching a cold" is almost impossible to avoid. If you have "caught a cold " obtain at once a bottle of Haw. ker's Tolu and Wild Cherry Balsam; it will quickly put it to flight. It is a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all throat and lung troubles. Safe and pleasant to take, sure to cure. Sold everywhere, 25 and 50 cents a bottle.
