DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Parliament at Ottawa will probably prorogue on Saturday next, having been in session since the fifteenth of March last. The session has not been unproductive of important legislation, and valuable discussion of public affairs. We cannot resist the conclusion, however, that it has been needlessly long and that much valuable time has been frittered away to the serious loss of individual members and the country generally. Business is not expedited as rapidly as it might be, and the debates have occasionally been unnecessarily prolonged. Government papers are disposed to throw the blame of long sessions upon the members of the Opposition who, they say, occupy too much time in debate. We do not think the responsibility rests upon the Opposition, at least to the extent alleged. The country looks for full and free discussion and a careful probing of all government measures and transactions by those who sit on the Opposition benches and time spent in proper investigation is not unfairly or unnecessarily spent. The Government should, however, have their measures well prepared before the opening of the session, and we have no doubt that the leaders on both sides of the house could effect some arrangement by which the session could be shortened and it would become unnecessary for members to remain in Ottawa until the middle of July. A little more business-like activity, and a little less red-tapeism and adherence to form would effect a marked improvement in legislation at the Dominion Capital.

THE LOBSTER TAX.

It is only fair to assume that the information obtained by the department of Marine and Fisheries in reference to the mode of conducting the fishing and the preservation of fish life is the best and most trust-worthy available. It may also be reasonably supposed that the Minister at the head of the department is desirous of administering the law and regulations in the best interest of the people generally and especially that large and influential section of the population in the maritime province, who depend for their business and living upon the fishing industry. We would, therefore, under ordinary circumstances hesitate to criticize or at any rate, to condemn any law or regulation designed to conserve this valuable industry, but the latest enactment promoted by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper appears to us so unreasonable and so ill-calculated to effect the object aimed at that we cannot understand why it was permitted to pass through parliament without more strenuous opposition than it appears to have received. We refer to the proposed tax of ten dollars upon each lobster factory. It will readily be admitted that the lobster fishing, especially on this coast, has been overdone and that it is advisable that for some time at least, operations in that line shall be curtailed, but it is absurd to assert that the imposition of such a tax will have this effect. The only result of it will be to render the government unpopular, and to place in the hands of the Opposition a canvass which they will be prepared, not unreasonably we admit, to use against government candidates and to the advantage of the Liberals. In our opinion it is a short sighted policy. A bounty is given to vessels engaged in the cod fishing while a tax is imposed upon the lobster factories. We cannot understand how the two can be reconciled as consistent.

PROGRESS OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The cause of equal suffrage is gaining ground rapidly even in those New England states where the people are so slow to break away from old traditions and customs. At the recent annual meeting of the New England Woman's Suffrage association the report of the Chairman of the executive committee was given as follows: "Never since its formation in 1868 has the New England W. S. A. come together with so bright an outlook. For the first time, the Massachusetts house of representatives has passed the municipal woman suffrage bill, on three successive votes, by a clear majority of the whole house; and it was defeated in the senate only after unprecedented efforts on the part of the opposition, and by methods so discreditable that even The Boston Herald, which is strongly opposed to woman suffrage, protested against them. In Maine, the municipal woman suffrage bill passed the senate and failed in the house by only nine votes. In Vermont, where in its constitutional convention of 1870 woman suffrage received only one vote, municipal woman suffrage passed the last house of representatives 146 to 83, and came so near passing the senate that a change of six votes would have carried it. Rhode Island has amended its property laws for married women. Connecticut, which has obstinately voted down school suffrage year after year, has passed it at last by a handsome majority, and thousands of Connecticut women have voted under the new law, without detriment to their womanliness or to their homes."

THE KINGSTON RACES.

A Heavy Track and a Small Field: Sir John Wins First Money in the 2.38 Class and Lucy H. in the County Race.

Owing to the heavy rain the track was in very poor condition for the races at Kingston, on Thursday. The first race on the programme was the 2.38 class in which there were three starters, Sir John, Lady Wallace and Black Morris.

First heat—The horses got away at 3 50 o'clock with Sir John at the pole and Black Morris and Lady Wallace in the order named. Some rather pretty racing was witnessed in this heat, the horses seldom being more than a few feet apart. Sir John took the lead at the start and maintained it to the finish with Black Morris and Lady Wallace 2nd and 3rd respectively. Time 2.46.

Second heat—The interest in this heat centered in Sir John and Lady Wallace, who made quite an exciting race passing and re-passing each other repeatedly. Sir John won by a neck but was set back for running and the heat given to Lady Wallace, who trotted squarely throughout. Sir John 2nd, Black Morris 3rd. Time 2.53.

Third heat—Lady Wallace took the lead at the start and maintained it for the first lap when she was passed by Sir John who continued to lead to the finish, Lady Wallace 2nd, Black Morris 3rd. Time 2.47.

Fourth heat—Sir John led from start to finish, the heat being merely a procession, Lady Wallace 2nd, Black Morris 3rd. Time 2.48.

COUNTY RACE.

In this race there were three starters, Jack Chief, Lucy H. and French Sport. It is perhaps no exaggeration to say that it was the poorest exhibition of horse-racing ever seen on the Kingston track. Following is the result by heats:

First heat—The horses started in the following order:—Lucy H., pole; French Sport, 2nd; and Jack Chief, 3rd. French Sport went quickly to the front and held her position for some little time, but finally broke and was passed by the other two, Jack Chief winning the heat with Lucy N., 2nd and French Sport, 3rd. Time 3.05.

Second heat—This heat was won by Lucy H., with Jack Chief 2nd. French Sport, who had shown considerable speed acted very badly and was distanced. Time 3.07.

Third heat—Won by Lucy N., Jack Chief, 2nd. Time 3.15.

Fourth heat—Also won by Lucy N., Jack Chief, 2nd. Time 3.08.

Immediately after the finish of the County race an exhibition mile was trotted between R. Hebert's Lucy H., and L. T. Joudry's Tat. Lucy H. won. No time was given for this race, though it was nothing very fast. The judges were, W. A. Brennan, Summerside; D. Hogan, Moncton; and W. A. Ferguson, Kingston. Distance judge, Geo. Wilson, Kingston.

They Want Names.

Frank S. Taggart & Co., 89 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario, desire the names and addresses of a few people in every town who are interested in works of art, and to secure them they offer to send Free, "Cupid Guides the Boat," a superbly executed water color picture, size 10 x 13 inches, suitable for framing, and sixteen other pictures about same size, in colors, to any one sending them at once the names and addresses of ten persons (admirers of fine pictures) together with five three cent stamps to cover expense of mailing, etc. The regular price of these pictures is $1.00 but they can all be secured free by any person forwarding the names and stamps promptly.

Note.—The editor of this paper has already received copies of above pictures, and consider them really "Gems of Art."

Ford's Mills.

JULY 16.—As I have not seen any notes from Ford's Mills for a long time, I will try and scribble a few lines.

The crops are looking fine, notwithstanding the dry weather.

Mrs. Sodie Campbell has been visiting friends at Ford's Mills.

Mrs. Lizzie Lawson has been visiting at Ford's Mills.

Mrs. C. M. Taylor went to Marysville, a few days ago.

We are pleased to see Mrs. McWilliam able to be about again after her long illness.

Mrs. Mary Carruther has arrived home from Normal School.

Old Devices, All.

"The nickel-in-the-slot machines afford a striking illustration of the old aphorism that 'there is nothing new under the sun.'" said a gentleman. "The principles of the modern telephone were known to the ancients, who used it as a toy, the water clock antedated the clock of weights, wheels and springs several hundred years, and a model of the steam engine was in the Alexandrian Museum in the time of the first Christian Emperor. The nickel-in-the-slot machine is not a modern invention. It was in existence before the time of Christ and Paul. It was not, however, a gambling device. On the contrary, it was modelled on the style of those innocent machines of our day, which give forth candy, gum or other commodities—those machines which gave value received for one's money before the game of chance feature was introduced. Hero, of Alexandria, in his 'Pneumatics,' gives a description of it in these words: 'A sacrificial vessel,' which flows only when money is introduced. When the coin is dropped through the slot it falls on one end of a balanced horizontal lever, which, being depressed, opens a valve suspended from a chain at the other end, and the water begins to flow. When the lever has been depressed to a certain angle the coin falls off and the valve, being weighted, returns to its seat and cuts off the supply.' It will be observed that the modern machine is constructed on very much the same principle. Historians are not agreed upon the date of Hero, but the discrepancy is no greater than the variety of opinions as to Paul's time, and he is supposed, by the best authorities, to have lived from 117 to 181 B. C."

A Visitor's Impression of Richibucto. To the Editor of The Review:

I had the pleasure, last week, of visiting Richibucto and spending a few days in what is one of the most attractive summer resorts of New Brunswick. Your town is prettily situated on the banks of a fine river, within a short distance of the sea coast, the air is delightfully cool and invigorating the fishing, boating, and drives cannot be excelled, the bathing is superb (that's the word), the hotel accommodation is good (though in this respect if your advantages as a watering place were better known some improvement might be made.); The people are hospitable and obliging, while attending to their own business and permitting a stranger to attend to his, a characteristic which one does not always find manifested in small places, and the hotel and boarding house rates, and the prices of goods in your stores, are reasonable, compared with those we have met both in the United States and other parts of Canada. Your paper, THE REVIEW, is a very creditable weekly, one of the best county newspapers I have met in the Province, well printed, clear, convenient in form, well edited and well supplied with local news. Every man, woman, and child in your county should be proud of their local newspaper, and give it a helping hand. I hope there are few mean enough to subscribe for it or read it without paying for it. I have met with such contemptible specimens of humanity in other places but thank Heaven! it was not my misfortune to have anything to do with them during my visit to your town. You have a good Public Hall, a little on the small size, and a neat school house and churches. But the Post Office! what shall I say about that? On inquiring for what I expected would be a respectable and convenient public building, I was utterly amazed when my informant pointed out the structure to me, and at first supposed he was attempting to play a practical joke on me, until my attention was called to a diminutive sign on a narrow door, which bore the legend POST OFFICE. I expected to see the Canadian Coat of Arms in juxtaposition. It may be there but I couldn't see it. The sign though small, I discovered was large in proportion to the size of the office, so called. I got inside and was glad my companion did not follow me. If he had we would have found it necessary to steer round each other to get in and out. By actual measurement the place into which I gained admittance was 2 ft. 10 in. x 8 ft. I presented myself at the Hole in the Wall, and waited for some one to present himself on the other side, but I waited in vain, until growing impatient, I knocked gently and getting no response, knocked again somewhat sharply, when a gentleman who had been measuring ribbon in a store which I observed through the "hole in the wall," made his appearance, and after some deliberation attended to my wants and furnished me with the requisite three cent stamps, with Her Majesty Queen Victoria's portrait on them. The Post Office proper, appeared to be about the size of the outer compartment, and I pity the post master, even though he be the person who so leisurely waited on me, if he has to sort the mails there on a hot day. I was glad to get through my business and get out again. On another occasion I made an attempt to post some letters in the drop box in the office door but had to give it up. The box was either too narrow for my letters or the letters were too large for the box. What a Post Office! I learned with pleasure that your central government at Ottawa is expected at an early day to give you a grant for a public building, in which you will have accommodations for your Post Office and other

RUN DOWN WITH DYSPEPSIA STOMACH AND HEART LIVER AND HEART AFFECTED. Almost in Despair But Finally CURED By Taking AYER'S PILLS

"For fifteen years, I was a great sufferer from indigestion in its worst forms. I tested the skill of many doctors, but grew worse and worse, until I became so weak I could not walk fifty yards without having to sit down and rest. My stomach, liver, and heart became affected, and I thought I would surely die. I tried Ayer's Pills and they helped me right away. I continued their use and am now entirely well. I don't know of anything that will so quickly relieve and cure the terrible suffering of dyspepsia as Ayer's Pills."—JOHN C. PRITCHARD, Brodie, Warren Co., N. C.
