Coal Branch. APRIL 20.—The weather is somewhat milder and the snow seems to be leaving us very rapidly the last few days; in consequence, making the roads very bad. Andrew Burgess and his brother Thomas started for Maine last week, where they have hired to stream-drive for the summer. Mr. James Wiley and his brother, who went to Maccan, N. S., a few days ago, have returned, and report work very scarce in the line of stream driving. Miss Mary Shirley, of Harcourt, was the guest of her aunt Mrs. Wilson Spencer, for a few days last week. Miss Sadie Buckley of Harcourt, was the guest of Mrs. Patrick Swift, last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Havelock Warnan, agent for Clarke & Lounsbury, of Newcastle, spent a few days with us last week. Mr. Calder Spencer of this place, left for Boston Friday. The I. O. G. T. is progressing nicely. We trust it may enlarge and be a benefit to this locality. Mr. H. M. Buckley, of Rogersville, gave us a call yesterday. Will Pomp never come back any more? We hear that Brother Bart, has started a boxing school at Birch Ridge. HUGHIE.

Newfoundland Notes. Following fast on the failure of the seal fishery has come one of the most severe and trying political crises that was ever experienced in any British colony. To understand it fully one must know something of the past history and present position of the colony. The fishermen that first landed on the shores of Newfoundland did so in spite of the wealthy merchants that controlled the trade of the island. The latter were determined that the attention of the men should not be diverted from the fisheries and the most outrageous cruelty was practised on the bold men who dared disobey the orders of their masters. At length the British Government was correctly informed as to the facts and put a stop to this persecution. The settlements of the island gradually increased till people were allowed a system of Government. This, owing to the ignorance and poverty of the fishermen was, however, almost entirely in the hands of the merchants. To oppose their will meant starvation for the people were hemmed in by the sea and could not escape. A fisherman's party was, however, formed in opposition to that of the merchants and the strife waxed warm. At last the passage of the ballot act put into the hands of the fishermen the golden opportunity, and in 1889 the merchants sustained a severe defeat. Sir William Whiteway was returned to power.

and the fishermen were jubilant. Once in power, however, the so-called fishermen government showed more anxiety to secure a goodly share of the spoils than to conserve the rights of the class that put them there. They were fast losing their popularity when the great fire of St. Johns occurred. The influx of money caused a great expansion of trade and the government made the most of it as was natural. They also arranged for the construction of a railway across the island. This was a most excellent idea and one that contained the germ of future prosperity. They however made a most serious mistake in the location of the road owing it is said largely to the misrepresentation of certain facts by the surveyors who were entrusted with the task of reporting on the country through which it passed. The road instead of being some two hundred miles in length was made to be over five hundred miles in length. The house of Assembly having expired by limitation of time the election last fall was largely run on the question of a continuation of the railway policy of The Whiteway party. A close and hot contest followed in which the Whiteway government was well sustained. During the contest however, the government used the public funds in the most unblushing manner to secure their own return to power. Thousands of men were employed on the roads and other public works up to the very day of polling and as soon as their votes were polled, discharged. The mail steamers were taken off the routes and used for the convenience of the government candidates. A host of needy parasites were fed at the expense of the colony. It cost according to the accounts nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to hold an election for a colony of two hundred thousand people. Booths which in Canada cost $12, cost here $64.00 and so in a hundred cases. As soon as the election was over, the opposition, but few of whose leaders were returned, took steps to bring it before the courts. It was supposed at first that it was only an idle threat, but when the cases first tried resulted in the unseating and disqualifying of the surveyor general and his colleague who was convicted of wholesale bribery, a shout of rage went up from the government supporters who realized that the whole party would be swept away. All the executive were involved in the scandals. Every effort was at once made to obtain a dissolution from the Governor. The Supreme court was assailed in a most outrageous manner, both in the House and by the Government organ, and everything was done possible to inflame the passions of the populace. The governor, bluff and honest old Irishman stood firm, the Supreme court asserted its dignity by punishing the insults leveled at them and the Government driven into a corner, resigned. Before doing so they passed a number of most insulting resolutions reflecting on the Governor and the Supreme court. A new government has been sworn in with Goodridge, Premier; Marine Col. Sec.; Morrison, Att. Gen.; Furlong, Board of Works; Chas. Dawe and Jas. Pitts without portfolio. The house is now prorogued and no one knows what may be the next move. An intense excitement prevails. G. W. COX. For the past five or six years I have been troubled with DYSPEPSIA. In the winter of '92 I was completely "niced up," so much so that I tried three doctors without receiving any benefit from their treatment. I tried other dyspepsia medicines without success. During that period of trial and experiment I was so poorly that I could not work steadily for one half hour at a time without going to my house and lying down. At last I went to W. E. Thistle's drug-store to get something to relieve me, and he recommended GRODE'S SYRUP. I have taken two bottles and am now COMPLETELY CURED. I feel like a new man; I can eat or drink anything and enjoy my food. I have recommended you remedy to others. I cannot say too much in its favor. Yours truly, G. W. Cox.

P. S.—I am confident that Grode's Syrup will cure any case of Dyspepsia if it is properly used. Others who suffer as I did should know of the intrinsic merit of your remedy. For some time I have felt it my duty to write you and let you know just what two bottles of your medicine have done for me. This statement is to be used as you think best. It is true in every particular, as my friends can testify.—G. W. C.
