His cousin jumped in to save him without removing his clothes and both were

The Presbyterian church at Shediac was totally destroyed by fire last Friday evening about eight o'clock. The fire caught on the rear of the bnilding, on the outside. The origin of the fire is unknown; conjecture is that it was set by a spark from a passing locomotive. There is said to be $2,000 insurance on the building. The loss above this amount must be considerable.

It looks as if the independence of the Patrons of Industry might be something more than a name. At a recent meeting of an Ontario lodge two members were black-balled and expelled for voting and working in the interests of Dr. McKay, M. P. P. in the recent election.

> An Ottawa despatch says: A remarkable thing occurred on the farm of a Mr. Cousineau, in a village near the outskirts the other day. A well was being bored and when the depth of 120 feet was reached, the water came in a great volume, with such force as to raise a column of water forty feet. This spurting has continued and Mr. Cousineau was obliged to pipe the stream and throw the water into a creek near by. The water is slightly mineral in its composition.

> The trial of Rev. R. C. Horner on the charge of not taking the station assigned to him by conference and of conducting meetings within the jurisdiction of other ministers without consulting or obtaining their permission to do so, was held in the Methodist church Pembroke Tuesday. The committee appointed to hear the evidence decided to suspend Rev. Mr. Horner from the ministry of the Methodist church of Canada until next annual conference. Horner did not attend the trial, and said whether the committee condoned or condemned he was still a preacher and would continue in his course. His meetings are well attended and the result of proceedings against him has been to arouse a curiosity and create an interest in his work among the people. He may file a notice of appeal against this decision, but will say nothing about the matter at present.

Encounters are reported to have occur red between the Newfoundland and French fishermen on the French shore of Newfoundland, concerning the catching of lobsters. The British warship Cleopatra has gone to the scene, to investigate the trouble. The renewal of the troubles of two years ago is expected.

The Newfoundlanders claim that as lobsters are not fish in the proper sense that France has no right to erect lobster factories on the French shore, so-called, where, by treaty rights, French fishermen are allowed to cure their fish. But the French claim otherwise; they have the factories there and carry on the business, while the Newfoundlanders are not allowed to do the same in that locality. The friction thus engendered has, in the past, led to many personal encounters and sore heads among the French and native fishermen with the former generally the aggres-
