So Koll took up the tale and greatly bepraised Gudruda's beauty ; nor in truth much. He t ld of her dark eyes and the whiteness of her skin, of the nobleness of her shape and the gold of her hair, of her grew afire to see this flower of maids.

"By Thor, thou Koll," he said, "if the girl be but half of what thou sayest, her luck is good, for she shall be wife to White, Lucerne and Trefoil Clover, Ospakar. But if thou hast lied to me Timothy, and Red Top Grass.

Now a man rose in the hall and said that Koll spoke truth, for he had seen Gudruda the Fair, Asmund's daughter, and there was no maid like her in Iceland.

"I will do this now," said Blacktooth. "To-morrow I will send a messenger to Middalhof, saying to Asmund the Priest is not for thee ; she is far above thee, who the Yule-feast ; then I shall see if the girl pleases me. He was splendidly apparelled, and with him came his two sons, Gizur the Lawman and Mord. young men of promise, and many armed thralls and servants. Gudruda, watching at the women's door, saw his face in the moonlight and loathed him.

"What thinkest thou of him who comes to seek thee in marriage, foster-sister?" asked Swanhild, watching at her side.

"I think he is like a troll, and that, seek as he will, he shall not find me. I had rather lie in the pool beneath Golden Falls than in Ospakar's hall."

" That shall be proved " said Swanhild. At the least he is rich and noble, and the greatest of men in size It would go hard with Eric were those arms about him." "I am not so sure of that," said Gudruda ; "but it is not likely to be known." "Comes Eric to the feast by the road of Golden Falls, Gudruda ?"

"Nay, no man may try that path and live."

"Then he will die, for Eric will risk it." Now Gudruda thought and a great fire burned in her heart and shone through her eyes. "If Eric dies," she said, " on thee be his blood, Swanhild-on thee and that dark mother of thine, for ye have plotted to bring this evil on us. How have harmed thee that thou shouldest deal thus with me ?"

Swanhild turned white and wickedlooking, for passion mastered her, and she gazed into Gudruda's face and answered 'How hast thou harmed me? Surely I will tell thee. Thy beauty has robbed me of Eric's love."

"It would be better to prate of Eric's love when he had told it thee, Swanhild." "Thou hast robbed me and therefore I hate thee, and therefore I will deliver thee to Ospakar, whom thou dost loath-ay and yet win Brighteyes to myself. Am I not also fair and can I not also love, and OF NORTH AMERICA.
