WOMEN'S CHINESE TEMPERANCE UNION COLUMN.
All Communications to this Column Should be Addressed to Mrs. J. Stevenson, Secretary W. C. T. U., Richibucto.

And Asa cried unto the Lord his God, and said, Lord it is nothing with thee to help whether with many or with them that have no power; help us O Lord our God, for we rest on thee and in thy name we go against the multitude. O Lord thou art our God; let not man prevail against thee.—2 Chronicles, 14, 11.

Wine of the Bible.
"Bill, ye may argify all day, and ye can't get them words out of the Bible where it says 'wine that maketh glad the heart of man,' and 'give strong drink to the heavy-hearted,' and 'use a little wine for ver stomach's sake,' and 'give strong drink to him that is ready to perish,' and more of the same kind, which I'll find for ye if I wasn't in such a hurry to git that hair in from the south meeder."

That evening the weekly paper arrived, and Bill—otherwise William H. Newberry, aged twenty-two, graduate of the State Normal school, son of Farmer Newberry, studying to fit himself for teaching—came upon a notice of a lecture by a woman, entitled, "The Bible on Wine," to be given at the village, four miles distant, a few evenings later. When the time arrived he rode to the village on horseback, provided with paper and pencil, and determined to take full notes.

The lecture was just what such lectures are almost sure to be since the women came to the front with their sharp wits and mountains of argument. That is, it was quiet and graceful in delivery, intensely earnest and unanswerable in the positions taken. William was entranced. He learned in one hour more than he could have collected for himself in a week. Being a rapid writer, he noted every main point and many of the details. He also spoke to the lady after the meeting readily obtaining permission to copy her list of Bible references, and when he returned home felt that he could do more than "offset" his father's verses.

The next day proved to be rainy, and as the "south meeder" was cleared of hay and the other work well in hand, Farmer Newberry was very willing to hear William's account of the lecture. After breakfast and a drop of gin he seated himself in a broad-armed rocker on the verandah and said: "Now, Bill, sail in and tell us what she said. Let me hear how she got over the 'wine for yer stomach's sake' and about the wine at the wedding."

"The word used in the Bible is kalon, and it is the same word that Jesus used when speaking of the tree that brought forth good fruit," said William. "And he never said wine, but always fruit of the vine. But even if we admit that the words—well, admitting that the words used leave the case evenly balanced as to the fresh grape juice and intoxicating liquor, the scale is easily turned by asking whether Jesus would be likely to furnish a liquor to make people drunk instead of a delicious and health-giving beverage, such as he is making in all the grapes as they grow; and I do not think anyone will be long in—"

"Bill, that's enough! After this, when I hear of Bible wine, I'll first find out what kind is meant before I think of a lot of drunken, sprawling patriarchs. But how about the other kind of wine, the kind that makes folks drunk—if they take too much, which I don't."

"There's plenty of condemnation for that, as we all know; seventy-one texts against it in the Hebrew Scriptures, five of them requiring total abstinence; terrible denunciations everywhere, and woe pronounced upon those who make others drunk; but there was not time to consider both sides in one lecture.

"And then, the principal reason these women have for looking up this question is to show that the word wine, when used with bread for communion, does not necessarily mean intoxicating liquor."

"Look-a-here, Bill, do they use regular liquor in churches?"

"Nearly all churches did use fermented wine until the last few years. Now that the women have taken up the matter, many have abolished it, and the prospect is that very soon nearly all will follow."

"I declare! I never thought before of liquor in the church! Why, they'd be wanting a drink up in heaven! I ain't no church member, but if I wanted to be one I wouldn't go where they'd hold liquor under my nose. Why, if a man should swear off and get a taste in church it might knock his new-leaf resolutions higher'n a kite."

"Yes, that is precisely what has occurred in many cases, and is what the women are trying to prevent."

"Let 'em do it? And I'd help 'em if I could."

And then he dropped his voice and asked in a hesitating manner, "Bill, d'ye s'pose my takin' a drop now and then, when I don't feel well, or want it for some other reason—d'ye s'pose anybody, that is d'ye think anyone else would be led to—to take more'n he ought to?"

Well father, I did not intend to mention the matter, but I did overhear a remark last evening that made me wish your example was on the side of total abstinence. Neighbour Smith whispered to the man at his side that he guessed he could take a little if old Newberry could."

"Did Smith say that? Why he's half drunk every few days. It follows my example in drinking. I wonder if he'd follow me if I'd stop. Maybe I could help him, and save his wife, and children from a lot of trouble." And with a resounding whack on the arm of his chair while his voice melted into reverent determination, he exclaimed: "Bill, write out the strongest kind of a pledge and hand it to me. I'll sign it, and try to save Smith."—Union Signal.

William A. Lehr of Kendallville, Ind., says Hood's Sarsaparilla is

King of Medicines
And His Cure Was
Almost a Miracle

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.
"Gentlemen: When I was 14 years of age I was confined to my bed for several months by an attack of rheumatism, and when I had partially recovered I did not have the use of my legs, so that I had to go on crutches. About a year later, Scurfula, in the form of

appeared on various parts of my body, and for eleven years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed six years. In that time ten or eleven of these sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. Several times pieces of bone worked out of the sores. Physicians did not help me and

I Became Discouraged
"I went to Chicago to visit a sister, as it was thought a change of air and scene might do me good. But I was confined to my bed most of the time. I was so impressed with the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla in cases similar to mine that I decided to try it. So a little was bought, and to my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better. This strengthened my faith in the medicine, and in a short time I was

Up and Out of Doors
To make a long story short, I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for a year, when I had become so fully released from the chains of disease that I took a position with the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since that time have not lost a single day on account of sickness. I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I endorse for it has been a great blessing to me, and to my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the King of all Medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, No. 2 North Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.
