A Mania For Mutilating Ears.

A lunatic of a particularly dangerous kind is at large in Paris. He seems to have a mania for cutting off the lobes of people's ears. The facts have come out in a little borax in the water used for batha strange way. A boy went into a wine- ing. shop in the Rue de Reuilly and asked for a glass of brandy. It was noticed that there was blood on his face and clothes, and before any questions could be asked carried to the St. Antoine Hospital, where with a sharp instrument. When he reand address, and described a very unpleasant adventure he had met with. While walking in the street an elderly, well-dressed man spoke to him, and in the course of conversation said: 'You have a spot on your nose. You must be careful or it will get worse. If you like I will remove it for you by rubbing it with a little harmless fluid.' The lad, who took him for a benevolent doctor, went with him to a lonely spot in the Bois de Vincennes, where, after making some pretence of the heart, shortness of the breath, spells of examining the nose, he suddenly took at night, making it necessary to sit up in out a pair of scissors and cut off the lobes of the lad's ears one after the other, and then ran away .- 'London Daily News.'

Was Paradise at the North Pole?

In an interesting and highly instructive article, Edward S. Martin, in the October Ladies' Home Journal, reviews the numerous theories advanced by scientists in the endeavor to solve the perplexing problem as to exact location of the site of the Garthe writer concludes that the question is no nearer answered than it was two thousand years ago, and that there are no present indications that the matter will ever be definitely settled by any man. To one of the latest and most ingenious theories Mr. Martin thus refers: The North Pole will seem at first thought to the average investigator the most unlikely site on earth for Paradise to have occupied. Nevertheless several sober and thoughtful books and pamphlets have been written in support of the North Pole's pretensions. tell us that the earth was excessively hot "A word with you," said he solemnly. when it first began its course-much too hot to admit of the presence of any living creatures, except, perhaps, a salamander. #### Question and Answer.

Why does Hawker's balsam cure coughs

Because it assists nature to throw off all inflamed and congested matter and soothes and heals the irritated organs of the throat and the lungs.

It contains balsam of tolu, extract of wild cherry bark, and with these a combination of other ingredients endorsed by the highest medical authorities on throat and lung diseases. The season of coughs and colds, bronchial and lung affections, is at hand. It and woman should know where to turn for relief the moment relief is needed. Hawker's balsam of tolu and wild cherry has stood the test better than any other remedy. Children like it and will take it when other remedies are rejected. It has no equal as a remedy for coughs and colds. Be sure that you have it in your house, and in your satchel if you go abroad at this season. It is put up in 25 and 50 cent bottles, and is manufactured only by the Hawker Medicine Co., (Ltd.,)
