A Scotsman once neatly turned the tables on an Englishman who had been alluding to the number of Scots in London. "Well," replied the Scot, "I know a place in Scotland where there are thirty thousand Englishmen who never go back to their own country. Why wherever can such a crowd be? said the Englishmen, to whom the Scot dryly remarked. At Bannockburn.

Personal appearance at first attracts the greater attention but personal character produces the most lasting impression. While dress and manners are to be duly cultivated, our chief concern should be to so feel and act that we may make the deepest, most vital and beneficial effect upon all with whom we come in contact.

A curious fact in the history of pins is that when they were first sold there was such a demand for them that a code was passed permitting their sale only two days in the year.

An amusing printer's error occurred in a recent issue of the London 'Times.' In announcing the marriage of a young city man to the daughter of a naval instructor at Sheerness, a few words of a telegram which apparently belonged to some notes from China or Armenia were printed after the interesting intelligence. They read as follows: 'Trouble is expected.'

Do you think professor, said the musically ambitious youth, 'that I can do anything with my voice? Well was the cautious reply, it may come in handy to holler in case of fire.

We blame others for slight things, and overlook greater things ourselves.

"Dere am one blessin' 'bout bein' black," said Rastus, as he stowed two chickens away in his bag the other night. "Yo ain't ap' to be so vicerable in de dark."

Doctors Say It Is The Best.

GENTLEMEN,—I recommend Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion with pleasure. Last July I took congestion of the Lungs and was in bed for four weeks. I was very weak and could not speak above a whisper. Dr. Lawson of Hamiota attended me and sent a bottle of Milburn's Emulsion. It is the very best made and soon restored my voice and brought me back to health again.

Truly yours,

ALF. SMITH,
Wheatlands, Man.Plain John Smith.

Plain John Smith is not very high sounding; it does not suggest aristocracy; it is not the name of any hero in die-away novels; yet it is good and honest.

Transferred to any other languages it seems to climb the ladder of style.

Thus in Latin it is Johannes Smithus; the Italian smooths it off into Giovanni Smithi; the Spaniards render it Juan Smithus; the Dutchman adopts it as Hans Schmidt; the French flatten it out into Jeun Smeets; the Russian turns it into Jonloff Smitowski; at Canton John Smith becomes Jahon Shimmitt.

The Icelanders say he is Jahne Smithson; among the Tuscans he becomes Tom Qu Smithia; in Poland he is known as Ivan Schmittiweiski; among the Welsh mountains they call him Jihon Schmid; at Mexico his name is written Jiontii F'Smitri; in Greece he turns to 'Ion Sirikton.

And in Turkey he is almost disguised as Yoe Seef.

The Baffled Blue Eye.

Blue or light-colored eyes are popularly supposed to most frequently carry the baleful influence, and to counteract this blue hoods are sometimes worn. Cases are cited of men able to overthrow a carriage merely by looking at it, to wither up a bean field, and so on. It is said that the belief in the evil eye among Christians, Jews and Mohammedans is stronger even than their religious beliefs. The peasants try to read good and bad luck from the color and growth of a horse's hair. This habit they seem to have got from the Bedouin Arabs, but are not so expert in the signs. A chestnut horse, for good luck must have either both hind legs or else the near leg white. If only the off hind leg is white, that is bad luck. Then by the way the hair grows on the fetlock it is augured whether the owner will be killed by a spear or a dagger; and, if a horse begins to dig with its feet, that means that the owner is soon to be buried.—All the Year Round.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

Symptoms: Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S EXTRACT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. A HOODOO PRIESTESS.

Arrested With Her Frogs and Snakes and Locked Up in Jail.

For months past people living in the neighborhood of the barracks have been complaining of the hoodoo dances and rites that were conducted in a negro cabin on Monroe street, near Royal. Three blocks above the barracks.

The hoodoo priestess was arrested yesterday afternoon by Sergt. Heyron Corp. Devaney and several patrolmen. She is a mulatto, about 45 years of age. She gave her name as Annie Gould. Her husband, who also presides over the mysterious rites of hoodooism at times, is about the same age and black. He would have been taken to the station also, but he was confined to his bed and begged piteously to be left undisturbed.

The house is situated some distance back from the street in a wide yard. In the front room the officers found the hoodoo shrine and a collection of weird objects which are used in the rites.

In one corner was an altar. A human skull, covered with tin foil, was the most prominent object on the altar, but around it were dog skulls, human bones and snakes and toads in large bottles. Everything was arranged with a view to making the altar appear as revolting and as terrible as possible and the keepers of the shrine had been successful in their effort.

The officers secured several sacks full of charms, paraphernalia and letters. Most of the letters were from ignorant whites and negroes, and there were some containing names of prominent citizens who it was desired to have hoodooed. On the altar was the photograph of a beautiful young woman taken in one of the Canal street galleries. Evidently she was one of the votaries, and had been rash enough to leave her pretty face with the yellow priestess, never expecting that it would fall into the hands of the police. The books of the negroes were captured, and the entries showed that they have been doing a rushing business for months past. The receipts averaged about $14 a day.

Scores of letters were found, all of them signed and revealing skeletons which it had never been intended to have dragged from the family closets. One of the most amusing documents was a prayer that two of the principal lawyers in the city be hoodooed.

Their curses were performed this way: The slip of paper containing their names would be placed under a large jar filled with moccasins and horned frogs in the middle of the room. Around this were placed lighted candles. A few imprecations were murmured by the priestess and the worshippers danced about in a circle, nude and trembling with excitement. As they danced a weird croon would be sent up that added to the uncanny scene.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

MUST HAVE THREE WATCHES.The Fashionable Woman Needs One for Every Occasion.

One watch is no longer sufficient for the woman of to-day. She requires at least three. The watch for a shopping tour is a deceitful little affair. It doesn't look like a watch at all.

Sometimes it has the appearance of an enamelled ball, which opens. This ball is suspended from an enamelled pin or brooch to match, and it does open because within is the watch. One of the latest designs shows a dark-blue enamel ball, ornamental with a gold monogram. Other watches look like a flower, but beneath one of the petals the face of the watch is hidden.

For traveling the watch is very inconspicuous. The face, beside the case, is usually dark. These cases are also of enamel in black, dark blue, wine color or bronze. Generally the hands are gold, but a traveling watch seen recently had turquoise blue hands against a black face. The face was black, the watch very small, and it hung from a black bar studded with tiny turquoise.

The watch to be worn at home is the most beautiful and artistic of all. It is resplendent with jewels, and has a case bright enough to be in harmony with them. Flower watches are much the vogue for the drawing room. A wild rose of pink enamel, with its petals gleaming with diamonds, will have at its heart a tiny watch.

All this sounds as though the gold watch had been exiled, but it still prospers, and is heartily appreciated by all those who are fortunate enough to own it. The latest novelties are not for the masses.—New York World.

STYLISH, BUT NOT HEALTHFUL.Bare Legs Are Not Good for Children—What a Boot-Maker Has to Say.

A chubby little boy, with several inches of brown bare leg between the top of his stocking and the bottom of his knee breeches, passed before the window of my boot-maker on Broadway. He was led by his nurse, and had evidently spent a summer in the country. He looked like a child who had been born well and had been taken the best of care of ever since. My boot-maker pointed him out mournfully and thus expressed himself:

"If that child doesn't die of consumption before he is twelve years old he will grow up to be a gouty young man probably die of apoplexy. Nothing is worse for a child of that age than bare legs at any time, particularly in the autumn. That's the way fashion kills off its victims. Every child should wear boots, I mean boots with legs on them, reaching up nearly to the knee, and for the matter of that so should every man. I have worn boots, all my life, both in summer and winter, and I have also seen experiments made by turning a draft of cold air upon the legs of men who were asleep. The effect is the same as when a wet bandage is applied to the feet of a sleeping man. It chills the stomach, congests the brain and generally disorganizes the system. The man who wears high-topped boots lengthens his life by ten years, and a bare-legged child is doomed to an early grave."—New York Press.

OFFICEFarm for Sale!

That valuable farm at Bass River, Kent Co., known as the Robert Brown farm, is offered for sale or rent.

The farm contains about 186 acres of the best land in the County, over 100 acres of which are cleared and under a high state of cultivation.
There is a large first-class, two-story dwelling house, two large barns, one stage house, grainery and stable combined, and other out buildings. It is situated in the most thriving and popular part of Kent County, within two minutes walk of the post-office, where a daily mail is received, and quite close to the superior school and within half a mile of Mr. E. Walker's lumber and grist mills.

For further information and particulars address the undersigned at Harcourt Station.
