

DANIEL &amp; ROBERTSON, ST. JOHN

Proprietors of the London House (Retail, Dry Goods, Millinery, Etc.)

To gather the data for a most any city, or meets with few rare exceptions of marvellous business growth of comparatively small firms a few years back that have grown to be mammoth enterprises powerful in their influence on the trade not only in the section wherein located, but in distant provinces. Catalogued with this class of business is that of Daniel & Robertson, proprietors of the London House, Retail, Importers and Dealers in Dry Goods, Millinery and Mantles. The history of their career shows that year by year their business has steadily increased and expanded. The dire disasters of hard times have not been able to curb the ambition of the executive heads of the house. The individual members of the firm are Frederick W. Daniel, son of the late Thomas W. Daniel, of the dry goods firm of Daniel & Boyd, and Charles B. Robertson, formerly of Moncton. They established their business in April, 1889, purchasing their first business of Daniel & Boyd. The business made rapid progress, new departments were added, and consequently more room became necessary. About 18 months ago they added the large building No. 166 Union street to their extensive block at Nos. 1, 3 and 5 Charlotte street, thus giving them one of the largest dry goods establishments in the city, with two entrances on Charlotte street, and one on Union street. Internally the store is a hive of busy, well-ordered industry, giving employment to quite a large number of hands. The enormous stock carried by Daniel & Robertson, which has been accumulated from all the leading manufacturing centres of the world, will soon force the firm to add another building, as their present spacious premises are being over-taxed with goods. The stock found here embraces the finest imported silks, satins, velvets, dress fabrics in all textures, cottons, linens, hosiery, gloves, laces, ribbons, fancy goods, notions, millinery, cloaks and mantles, gentlemen's furnishing goods, etc. An examination of Daniel & Robertson's fall and winter imports in the dress goods and silk departments will satisfy everybody that this firm can safely claim to be one of the leading dress goods and silk houses in New Brunswick. They have secured special lines and patterns, and the result is a stock unique as it is lovely. The same high standard of excellence prevails in their millinery and mantle departments. In millinery they display the very latest London and Parisian styles while their stock of cloaks and jackets beyond doubt contains the most stylish and dressy garments in the market. Every department of this enterprising establishment is most complete, and are made bright by a lavish display of the very latest productions. The mail department of Daniel & Robertson is one of the distinguishing features of their house. The system pursued in this department is most perfect and affords to customers living at a distance the most satisfactory results. The way in which samples are done up and mailed enables patrons to make selections almost as well as though they were in the store. This unique and perfect mail order system has resulted in the building up of a very large patronage from all parts of the Maritime Provinces. Messrs. Daniel & Robertson are gentlemen of life-long experience in their particular branch of business. Their motto is "Onward." Their names are synonymous of pluck, perseverance and enterprise, and they give a substantial and progressive development to the city's commercial interests. They are gentlemen of sound commercial ability and integrity, and are held in the highest esteem by the entire community.—St. John Globe.

Buctouche Notes.

Wake up Buctouche and go to sleep right. I think the people of Buctouche must be taking an example from the bears and are going to sleep until spring. If not we would surely hear from them a little more often.

Well here goes for the news of Buctouche. Smelt-fishing is the order of the day.

We are beginning to hear faint sounds of Santa Claus in the distance.

The schooners of Buctouche are all laid for the winter. They arrived here in good time with no accidents.

Mrs. Wm. Jones spent a very pleasant visit with her sister Mrs. Matthew Smith, whom she had not seen for forty-two years. She has returned to Hingham Centre, Mass.

We are pleased to hear that Miss Lizzie Sutton, who has been very ill of typhoid fever, is now recovering.

Mrs. James Seely, who has been spending a short time with her daughter, Mrs. J. Elliott of Cocagne, has returned home.

Molus River.

Messrs. J. and J. Miller are engaged painting logs.

Fred Olsen is confined to his home by a cut foot.

Mr. D. Ward has made an early start to the woods with teams, men, etc. We wish him a successful winter.

Good sleighing to-night and our friend "George" enjoys it.

A large percentage of our young men who won to Maine for the Winter are receiving good wages. "Hughie" could not be spared by the fair sex, he says, but we are not pleased to learn that he travels so frequently the "Harley Road."

Miss Mary Dargavel has returned from Campbellton for a short visit at home.

Mrs. Peter Graham has spent a pleasant four weeks visit with her sister, in St. John. Her daughter Maggie accompanied her.

Xmas may bring us more than one interesting event to chronicle. "Coming events cast their shadows before."

Main River Notes

Catch of smelt's fair in this section.

We welcome Molus River boys amongst us especially our friend Albert.

Mrs. W. W. Graham, held School examination last Saturday, which was well attended, considering the inclemency of the weather. Pupils acquitted themselves well in all branches.

Miss Tithe Martin has been on Main River engaged in that delightful work—cross-making.

What with new dress, new coats, stockings, new sleighs, we may soon expect stirring times.

Mr. Ernest Ferguson has his logs all yarded and is now engaged fishing.

The government of Manitoba will not introduce any legislation into the Provincial House for the purpose of removing the grievance of Roman Catholics on the school question.
