NORTH ONTARIO.

So accustomed has THE REVIEW become to recording Liberal-Conservative victories that the success gained the other day in North Ontario will excite no surprise, though the majority was much larger than was expected by the most sanguine ministerialist.

The riding is an old one, established before confederation. The population of about 23,000 is made up of six-sevenths Protestant to one-seventh Catholic. The chief occupation is farming. The political record of North Ontario has been a varied one. In 1867 it returned a Liberal to parliament by 276 majority. In 1872 it reversed this and elected a Conservative by a like majority. In 1874 the Liberals had the victory again, though by less than 100.

Thus dawned the era of the recent contest caused by the death of the sitting member, there had been nine parliamentary elections in North Ontario of which five went Liberal. The recent contest was a triangular one. Mr. McGillivray, the government candidate, an Orangemen, too, by the way, was opposed by Mr. Gillespie, Liberal, and a Catholic in creed. The Patrons, backed by Mr. Dalton McCarthy, also put a candidate in the field, and he gained second place in the contest, leaving the Liberal candidate at the foot of the poll.

Mr. McGillivray, the victor in the fight was about 1,000 votes ahead of the Patron and still further in advance of the straight Liberal candidate. Since election day the Liberal press has been busy trying to explain their ill-success. They claim that the combined vote of the Liberal and Patron candidates would have been sufficient if cast for one man, to have defeated Mr. McGillivray. This is true. It is a sufficient answer to say that the Conservative vote cast in 1895 was slightly in excess of that cast for Mr. Madill in 1891.

There is really very little significance attaching to this by-election, though owing to the near approach of the session and the general elections it has been very much talked about. The constituency is a close one, as we have seen. The government majority was much larger than was expected by either party apparently. The Patron vote was relatively large, but seems to have been drawn chiefly from the Liberal ranks, showing that the ministerial party is still solid in Ontario. There will doubtless be cases in the general election in which the Patron vote may turn the scale the other way, but in this particular by-election it certainly did Mr. Laurier no good. The school question seems not to have materially affected the relative strength of parties, though it has been in Manitoba and Ontario constituencies that it was expected to be of some use to the opposition, if anywhere.

AN IRON HAND IN A VELVET GLOVE.

Lord Salisbury alights nothing of the traditional vigorous foreign policy of his party. He keeps England well to the front in Turkish affairs. Her fleet now at the entrance of the Dardanelles, is approximately equal to all the other powers there combined. Thus powerfully backing up his diplomatic demands upon the Sultan almost at the gates of Constantinople he keeps still the army of occupation in Egypt as a significant warning to all concerned that if the Turkish power is to fall to pieces Britain will hold the lion's share of the fragments.

He recently blocked the game of Russia in the far East when she sought to practically acquire a slice of China's coast territory under pretext of building a railway.

W. W. SHORT, Richibucto.

On this side of the Atlantic he sets the American jingoes at defiance and will compel Venezuela to pay roundly for her outrages on British subjects and British territory. In fact all around the world just now British interests are being upheld with a firm hand, and with a diplomatic skill that commands the respect of foreign powers while challenging the admiration of British subjects everywhere.

CLARK WALLACE RESIGNS.

The resignation of Hon. Clark Wallace, controller of customs, has been tendered to the premier and accepted. Mr. Wallace is Grand Master of the Orange Association of Canada, and is opposed to the proposed remedial legislation in regard to Manitoba schools. His position of controller of customs was created but a few years since, and he was the first to hold it. The salary is $8,000. A like salary attaches to the controller of inland revenue and the solicitor general. These three positions are not within the cabinet proper, though those who hold them are required to be members of parliament, and must share the fate of the administration in case of its defeat or resignation.

The title of "honorable" attaches to a controller only during the time he actually holds office. The members of cabinet retain the "honorable" for life, however short may be their term in office. Mr. Wallace is therefore no longer to be officially known as "Hon." Clark Wallace. He retains his seat in parliament and will vote against the remedial bill, but otherwise is as strong a supporter and as ardent a conservative and protectionist as ever. His resignation will not be displeasing to the government's following in Quebec by whom he was thought to hold extreme views. In a country like Canada, populated with different races and creeds, it is desirable that the administrators of the government shall be men of moderate opinions and actuated by a spirit of the broadest charity and forbearance.

There is every reason to believe that the resignation of Mr. Wallace will be as little harmful to the administration as was the defection of Mr. Dalton McCarthy a few years ago. Both are able men, but the hostility of Mr. McCarthy to the use of the French language with the English in parliament and in the courts was distinctly injurious to the ministerial party while he remained a member of it.

Since our last issue Sir Charles Tupper has arrived in Canada, via New York. He states, as was anticipated by THE REVIEW, that his mission is one of public business purely, that his stay will be short and that he will be regretfully compelled to return without visiting his native province of Nova Scotia.

Parliament will meet January 3rd, and as the present term expires by limitation on April 25th, there will be time for a session of 113 days, inclusive of Fridays and holidays before the break-up. We may therefore count upon the work of the session being begun and carried on with more than usual spirit and vigor.

Each Year Heart Disease Claims as Victims Tens of Thousands of Our Best Citizens.

It is almost impossible to pick up a paper without seeing a notice of the sudden death from heart failure of a prominent citizen, who, prior to the attack, was in the very best of health. But this condition was only apparent; the disease had been at work for months, perhaps years, and its warning had been unheeded. Such a course is suicidal. When any of the symptoms of heart disease are noticed, treatment of some kind is imperative.

An Attempt Made to Kill Two Chicago Millionaires.

CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—A bold conspiracy to assassinate Geo. H. Pullman and Phil D. Armour has just come to light, and every effort is being made to apprehend the perpetrators of the plot. This morning two packages were received at postal station "L" directed to P. D. Armour and Geo. H. Pullman respectively, and the packages were finally turned over to Post Office Inspector Stewart for inspection. They proved to be infernal machines, which had they reached their destination and been opened without suspicion by the men for whom they were intended, would have probably blown them into eternity. The packages were taken up by Collector Philip Kirkwood of station "L." One of them he found on the mail box at Wabash avenue and 14th street and one at Wabash avenue and 31st avenue. The packages were laid on the box just as the collector approached. He saw a man of rough appearance lay a package on the box and walk away. When he reached the mail box he found the package to be similar to the one he had picked up at 41st street and addressed in the same handwriting. Each package weighed about twenty-four ounces, and the poorly scrawled address were alone enough to attract the attention of the carrier. The postal authorities were already on the lookout for suspicious packages for Mr. Armour, as a stranger had notified the office that an infernal machine was on its way to Mr. Armour through the mail. He claimed to have overheard an exposure of the conspiracy from two men talking in an alley.

Italy and the Pope

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Sir T. W. Reid, editor of the Speaker, who recently had interviews with leading Italian Statesmen, gives semi-official importance to a startling declaration in issue of that paper today regarding the intention of Italian ministerialists in event of the Pope's death. The sum of his long argument, which it was stated represents the views of the Italian government, is that the conclave which will elect the next Pope must be held outside of Italy. The government means to provide for what is called an honorable exodus of the conclave. "The practical common sense of the Italian people," it is declared, "is beginning to see that a foreign Pope would be practically unable to pose as a pretender to a temporal throne in Italy, while to an Italian pope residing abroad such an attitude would involve the loss of the spiritual supremacy of the Italian church, and the state protecting him would be bound by the international laws applicable to pretenders disturbing the peace of other states."

Sleighs, Pungs.

We invite inspection of our large and varied stock of PUNGS and SLEIGHS, which we guarantee to be first class in every particular. Our prices are so low, when the quality of our work is taken into consideration, that we are in a position to defy competition. Parties thinking of purchasing a Pung or a Sleigh would do well to buy the home-made article in preference to the imported, as the latter is usually shod made and inferior to the product of our factory in every way.
