The Night Express.

Out through the hills of midnight, Hurtling and thundering on, The night express from the outer world Speeds for the open dawn.

Out of the past and gloom-wrack Out of the dim and yore, Freighted as train or caravan Was never freighted before;

Built when the Sphinx's query Was new on the lips of peace; Hurled through the aching and hollow years
Till time shall have release;

Stealing and swift as a shadow, Sinuous, urging and blind Unpent as a jov or the flight of a bird, With oblivion behind ;

Down to the morrow country, Into the unknown land ! And the Driver grips the throttle-bar Our lives are in His hand

The sleeping hills awake; A tremor, a dread, a roar ; The terror is flying, is come, is past; The hills can sleep once more.

A moment the silence throbs,

Consorted to waylay?

The dark has a pulse of fire; And then the wonder of time is gone, A wraith and a desire. Demonish, toiling, grim, In the ruddy furnace flare,

While the Driver fingers the throttle-bar, Who stands at His elbow there? Can it be, this thing like a shred Of the firmament torn away, Is a boarded train that death and his crew

His wreckers, grinning and lean, Are lurking at every curve; But the driver plays with the throttle-bar; He has the iron nerve.

We are traveling safe and warm, With our little baggage of cares; Why tease the peril that yet would come Unbidden and unawares?

The lonely are lonely still, And the friend has another friend; Only the idle heart inquires The distance to the end.

We pant up the climbing grade, And coast on the tangent mile, While the Driver toys with the throttle- yourself? And gathers the track in His smile.

The dreamer weary of dreams, The lover by love relea-ed, Stricken and whole, and eager and sad, Beauty and waif and priest.

All these adventure forth, Strangers though side by side, With the tramp of time in the roaring And the haste in the shadow stride.

The star that races the hill Shows yet the night is deep, But the Driver humors the throttle-bar; So, you and I may sleep.

For He of the sleepless hand Will drive till the night is done-Will watch till morning springs from the

And the rails grow gold in the sun. Then He will slow to a stop The tread of the driving-rod, When the night express rolls into the

The November Number of the Delineator is called the Thanksgiving Number and illustrates a bewildering wealth of Autumn and Winter fashions, the collection of stylish and becoming garments being particularly complete. A novel departure in millinery is noted, and th colors and combinations in the season's dress goods and the glint and glitter of their spangled and jewelled trimmings are attractively described. Mrs. Roger A. Pryor furnishes a gossipy and circumstantial account of Dinner Giving in Society, and Juliet Corson writes interestingly on Domestic Service as an employ ment. The best kind of a Thanksgiving Dinner is described, with recipes for all its dishes; and a timely article on Carving tells just how to gracefully dismember the noble bird that occupies the place of honor in the menu given. Helen Marshall North details the varied industrial instruction to be had at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn. Both children and adults will be delighted to learn just how the Crepe Paper Brownies are made, and with the pictures of these amusing little figures. Harriet Keith Forbes shows how Burnt Work Decorations may be applied to friezes, portieres and furniture and Sarah Miller Kirby describes and defends Froebel's Own Mannal of Kindergarten Work. J. Bell Landfear gives illustrated instructions for a beautiful Greek Pantomime Drill. There is the usual entertaining Tea-Table chat, as well as papers on Oriental Rugs, some Artistic Screens, Floral Work for the month, a Novel Entertainment and the latest ideas in Knitting, Tatting, Lace-Making, etc. Address all communications To the Delineator Publishing Co., of Toronto, Limited, 33 Richmond St. West, LeBlanc. Dear Fellow Sunday School Workers:

I trust that all Pastors, Supts., Teachers. and others interested will read this note through. It refers to the Home Study Department. Six cents in stamps sent to Rev. A. Lucas, Sussex will bring you a pamphlet entitled "Home Classes or the Home Department of the Sunday School" by W. A. Duncan Ph. D. bought it and am exceedingly glad I did.

There are many people who cannot come to Sunday School, as sick people, busy mothers, aged people and other. Then, again, there are many who will not come. The pamphlet I have referred to tells how to reach them. Every man, woman, and child in your congregration should be studying the Bible. If hey are not doing so you can help to bring them to their duty.

I am sure every pastor will welcome any means by which he can promote the study of the word which he has vowed to proclaim. I therefore entreat all pastors who read this article to send for the pamphlet. There are young people in every congregation who are willing to work for their Master when their pastors show them the way. This pamphlet opens up a wide field of usefulness tor many works in every congregration.

Supts .- The Sunday School work must greatly devolve upon you. Your hands vices from Armenian sources report a termay be full but you can interest others. Armenians Massacred!

London, Oct. 28.-Frederick K. Rasch, member of parliament for Southeast Essex, who has just returned here from Constantinople, represents the situation there as being extremely grave. The Sultan, he says, sees nobody at all. He has become completely unmanned from fears of assassination, and keeps himself in strict seclusion. Mr. Rasch believes the Sultan may yet be assassinated by army officers who are filled with discontent and are asking questions which the Sultan cannot answer. They want to know among other things why it is that Musssulmen are taxed and driven, while concessions are made to Armeniaus. Mr. Rasch says the reports of atrocities received from Armenian sources are greatly exaggerated. He himself, he said, had not heard of a single instance of a woman being outraged.

The French despatch boat that has been at Constantinople for some time will be sent to Toulon to make repairs. She will be replaced by a somewhat formidable torpedo catcher which is heavily armed. This example will probably be followed by the other powers whose gunboats now at Constantinople are not believed to be sufficient to protect the interests entrusted to Horsee Greeley.

An acquaintance met Horace one day and said : "Mr. Greeley, I've stopped your paper." " Have you ?" said Horace. "well, that's too bad," and the old white hat went its way. The next morning Greeley met his subscriber again, and said: "I thought you had stopped the Tribune ?" "So I did." "Then there must be some mistake," said and the presses were running, the clerks were as busy as ever, the compositors were hard at work, and the business was going on the same as yesterday and the day before." "Oh !" ejaculated the subscriber, "I didn't mean that I had stopped the paper, I stopped only my copy of it because I didn't like your editorials." " Pshaw!" retorted Greeley, "it wasn't worth taking up my time to tell me such a trifle as that. My dear sir, if you expect to control the utterances of the Tribune by the purchase of one copy a day, or if you think to find any newspaper worth reading that will never express convictions at right angles with your own, you are
