When The Note Falls Due.

You may say that life is trouble
When the clouds are in the blue;
But a fellow finds it double
When the Note Falls Due!

Sorrow's nothing but a bubble
That will vanish from the view;
But it's trouble, trouble, trouble
When the Note Falls Due!

And the corn it goes to stubble,
And the rose—it withers too;
And it's trouble, trouble, trouble
When the Note Falls Due!

Go it single file, or double,
There'll be work enough for you
In a living world of trouble,
When the Note Falls Due!

Land of Amazons.

An interesting and well-illustrated book on Dahomey is written and published by Henry Marcel, which name is the pseudonym of a well-known French resident of Philadelphia.

Dahomey was until recently the most important negro monarchy in Africa. It was especially famous for two things—its corps of Amazon warriors and its human sacrifices. Both these institutions are at an end since the French conquest of Dahomey.

The Amazons were the only instance in the modern world of a body of female warriors. They formed the body-guard of the king, and were as remarkable for their fidelity as for their courage.

Every Dahomeyan was bound to present his daughters to a sort of medical board, which selected those suitable for the king's service. Little girls taken in war were also trained to be Amazons.

The Amazons were ordinarily compelled to remain celibate all their lives, but the king occasionally permitted one to marry a deserving male soldier. They were always very well formed, and some of them were handsome, in figure at least. The number of them was about 1,000, and they formed only a small part of the army. In addition to being brave on the battlefield, it is said that they were more cruel than the men soldiers, and very hard drinkers. Woman suffragists should find much food for thought and possibly encouragement in these facts.

The human sacrifices were first instituted in 1600. They were based on religious beliefs. Man is believed to be subject to the same wants in the next world as in this; so he must be buried not only with food and weapons, but provided with wives and servants if he is an important person.

The burial of a king was always attended by an immense slaughter. When King Guizo died more than 600 human lives were sacrificed, including chiefs, musicians and slaves. He was buried in a big cave. His wives seated themselves round him in order of their rank and poisoned themselves. Basketfuls of heads and calabashes full of blood were piled on his tomb.

Wholesale sacrifices were also held at fixed periods. A traveller describing them says that during the night of these sacrifices everyone found in the street was clubbed to death. Companies of musicians walked about playing painful music. At midnight a volley of musketry announced the beginning of the executions. The victims were brought into the square by thirties. Sometimes death was produced by the breathing apparatus. Some of the dead bodies were arranged in life-like attitudes.

The Dahomeyan coast is favored with some remarkable sea creatures. Among them is the manatee, or sea cow, an animal of the seal family, which has some resemblance to a human being. The female has very prominent breasts when nursing her young. It is suggested that this animal is responsible for the legends of mermaids and sirens.

Whales are common, and as they are not hunted they are very bold and roll themselves up high and dry on the beach in order to rub themselves free of weeds and parasites. This Mr. Marcel says is a very strange spectacle.

Nothing Like It.

Rev. Charles F. Y. Bourque, P. P., St. Alexandre de Kamouraska, Prov. Quebec, Canada; "As to the merits of your medicine K. D. C., I can assure you that it has been a great benefit both to myself and to one of my parishioners, for whom I had requested several packages. If I am ever troubled again with dyspepsia I shall not hesitate to make use of your remedy."

We shall be glad to forward to any address free sample of this wonderful working Remedy. K. D. C. Co., Ltd., New Glasgow, N. S.

Mr. Heth, the United States officer, who took it upon himself to stop desirable emigrants from entering the United States at Vauclero, as noticed in these despatches, has been recalled owing to the many protests from those stopped and from the railway companies, whose traffic receipts were being cut down.

FOR NERVOUS WOMEN.

How they may overcome their greatest enemy.

Nerve action is so intimately connected with all the processes of life that it is absolutely essential to health to have the nervous system always in a state of healthy action. Weakness and depression of the nerves reveals itself in symptoms that are very often mistaken for those of such diseases as dyspepsia, heart trouble, kidney diseases and many others, and the patient is perhaps treated for those, when in reality the whole trouble lies in nerve exhaustion. There is no disease so common amongst women and none so variable in symptoms or so distressing, the finer physical organization of woman making her an easier prey.

The greatest skill of medical science has been directed to the solution of the problem: How shall diseased nerves be made strong active and healthy? After years of careful study, the originator of Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic presented his remedy to the public confident that he had produced one that would effect a complete cure of all diseases of the nervous system. The subsequent history of Hawker's nerve and stomach tonic has completely proved that he was right. Thousands upon thousands of men and women who were victims of shattered nerves have been by its agency restored to perfect health. Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic is a great blood and flesh-builder as well as nerve restorer invigorator and aid to digestion. It is a certain cure for diseases peculiar to woman, giving tone to the nerves and stomach, vigor to the mind and body, and strength to the blood, restoring the bloom of health to the pale and delicate.

Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic is for sale by all druggists and dealers. Price 50 cents a bottle, six bottles for $2.50. Manufactured only by The Hawker Medicine Co. St. John, N. B. and New York City.

Canada's Fisheries.

The report of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries shows that the total value of the Dominion fisheries last year was $20,719,583, about the same as in the year before. While in 1890 the number of American vessels taking advantage of modus vivendi was 119, it fell off last year to 53, which, the minister says, clearly demonstrates the fact that the practice of United States fishing vessels securing bait from Newfoundland has largely increased. As regards the catch for 1894, Nova Scotia shows an increase of $140,107, New Brunswick $60,545, and Quebec $84,481. The prince Edward Island catch fell off $13,630. The British Columbia catch declined $493,484 in value. The total capital invested in vessels, boats, nets, seines and buildings connected with the Nova Scotia fisheries is placed at $3,361,972; New Brunswick, $1,680,912, and Prince Edward Island, $468,736. The total value of the Dominion fisheries aggregated $375,139,892, from 1870 to 1894, inclusive, of which $155,655,341 is credited to Nova Scotia, $71,737,732 to New Brunswick, and $23,089,129 to P. E. Island. The total number of men engaged in the Nova Scotia fisheries is placed at 25,477 for Nova Scotia, 11,650 for New Brunswick, and 3,329 for P. E. Island. The total number of claims received for fishing bounties in 1893 was 13,977, a decrease of 850 as compared with 1892. The number of claims paid was 13,655. Of the total amount paid out in bounty, $158,794, Nova Scotia received $108,066; New Brunswick, $12,524, and Prince Edward Island, $9,329. Of the amount going to New Brunswick, $4,427 went to Charlotte county, and $6,972 to Gloucester.

A Resurrection Day Poser.

One of the strangest coffins ever told of is that for which the British War Department is said to be responsible. The story is that a workman engaged in casting metal for the manufacture of ordnance at the Woolwich Arsenal, lost his balance and fell into a caldron containing twelve tons of melted steel. The metal was at white heat, and the man was utterly consumed in less time than it takes to tell it. The War Department authorities held a conference and decided not to profane the dead by using the metal in the manufacture of ordnance, and the mass of metal was actually buried and a Church of England clergyman read the service for the dead over it.
