Blood Poisoned

In Dreadful Condition Till Hoed's Sarsaparilla Cured.

After Typhoid Fever the system is not only left in a debilitated condition, but the blood is often poisoned by the germs of disease, as in the following case: "My case has been such a severe one and I have suffered so much that I think ought to tell how I have been cured by only two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Four years ago I had typhoid fever-was sick about forty days and barely pulled through with health about ruined. The effects of poisoned blood manifested themselves in dreadful ulcers. They prevented my returning to work, and for three years I was able to labor only a few days at a time. The scree discharged continuously so that I had to keep them bandaged. I had six physicians at different times, and was given temporary relief. But as soon as I began to work hard the sores would break out again as bad as ever. For weeks at a time I could not get out of the house, and for over two years I could not bear my weight on my right leg and had to walk with a cane. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla in February, 1894, and in two weeks noticed an improvement.

The Terrible Itching and Burning grew less venomous and flery, and when I had taken only two bottles and used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment and two boxes of Hood's Pills, the sores had all healed, leaving only scars as a reminder of my dreadful sufferings. My general bodfly bealth has also wonderfully improved. I had been reduced almost to a skeleton, from 180 to 130 pounds, which I have now regained. Hood's Saraaparilla has restored my mental health also, and I can think, remember and act as promptly as ever. Typhoid fever ruined my for four years, and cost me $3000. Two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla have given me health and new ambition." E. E. RAMSAY Summervide, Prince Edward Id.
