

The Terrors of Dyspepsia

A DISEASE THAT MAKES THE LIFE OF ITS VICTIMS ALMOST UNBEARABLE.

A Sufferer for years tells how She Obtained Relief—A Bright Ray of Hope for Those Similarly Affected.

From the Bowmanville News.

The editor of the News, in company with Mr. Jury, of the well known firm of Stott & Jury, visited the home of Samuel Wood, in the township of Darlington, for the purpose of ascertaining the particulars of another of those remarkable cures happily brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It was Mrs. Wood who had thus been released from suffering, and when the newspaper man made known his mission she said, "Yes I can give you a bright testimony in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I believe that if they did not save my life, they at all events released me from untold misery. Some three years ago dyspepsia came upon me in a severe form. I doctored with one of the local doctors for more than a year, but all the time was growing steadily worse. The medicine I took cost me a dollar a bottle, and the expenditure was worse than useless for it did me no good. Then my husband thought as I was growing worse, it would be better to try something else, as they felt that unless a change soon came I was doomed to live through the terrors of a dyspeptic's life. Sometimes I would be fairly doubled up with the pain, and it seemed as if a knife was cutting into me. I then tried a number of medicines recommended for dyspepsia, but none of them brought the hope for relief. We had so often read of the remarkable cures achieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I determined to give them a trial. I got a supply and before the second box was gone I found myself getting better. I continued the use of the pills until I had taken eleven boxes when I was fully recovered. This was a couple of years ago, and I have not now the least sign of dyspepsia." Mrs. Wood further said that her husband had been a victim of kidney trouble for a long time and had taken a great deal of medicine for it but to no avail. When it was seen that Pink Pills were doing his wife so much good Mr. Wood determined to try them, and they acted like a charm as he is now entirely free from his complaint, and he attributed all to the use of Pink Pills and would not be without them in the house.

Messrs. Stott & Jury informed the News that Pink Pills have an enormous sale. They have handled Pink Pills for years and say that they cannot recall a single instance in which a customer came back and said they were not perfectly satisfied with the results. This is certainly a remarkable record, but then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is a remarkable medicine, and cures when other medicines fail.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper (printed in red ink), and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail by Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

An Honest People.

Life and property are thoroughly secure in Finland. Trunks and parcels are left for hours in the street, to be found when wanted by their rightful owner. In the country districts the houses are never barred and bolted, even in the absence of their owners. Then, again, it is no uncommon thing for a blooming girl of 17, or a young married woman, to drive alone in her car at a distance of 50 or 60 miles through dense forests, and by the shores of gloomy lakes, conveying the family butter cheese and eggs to market in town, and then to return home alone with the proceeds. In trade the Finns are not only scrupulously honest, they are heroically, guillotically so.

A tradesman will tell you the whole truth about his wares, even when he knows perfectly well that by so doing he loses a customer whom the partial truth would have secured. This seems exactly the kind of apparatus I am looking for," I said to a merchant in Helsinki for some months ago, in reference to an article that cost $75, "and I will buy it at once if, knowing what I want it for, you can honestly recommend me to take it." "No, sir, I do not recommend you to take it, nor have I anything in stock just now that would suit you." And I left the shop and purchased what I wanted elsewhere.

"Here's your fare," I said to a peasant in the interior, who had driven me for three hours through the woods on his dragsky, handing him $1. "No, sir, that's double my fare," he replied, returning one half the money. And when I told him he might keep it for his honesty, he slightly nodded his thanks with the dignity of one of nature's gentlemen.

Take K. D. C. for sour stomach and sick headache.

He Didn't Care Who Knew It.

"For yourself and wife?"

As the hotel clerk uttered these words the newly arrived guest, a tall, spare man of forty, with side whiskers, looked up from the register with a smile as he said: "Yes, sir, for myself and wife, and not only that, but I don't want a room on the seventh floor, several blocks away from the fire escape and where it will take the call boy all night to reach. I want the bridal chamber, and if there is a choice of bridal chambers I want the best one. I make no bones of it. No, sir," he went on with an authoritative wave of the hand, "I was married at noon to-day and I am bound to face all the consequences, and I don't care who knows it. We had a house wedding, at which there were present 150 guests of the family, and all sent presents, which in array and magnificence are not equalled anywhere. We arrived on the five o'clock train and my blushing bride is now in the ladies' reception room, waiting with quivering heart for my return.

"As you will observe there is some rice on the brim of my hat, and our name is festooned in bright red letters on the end of our new trunks. I am wearing a brand new suit of clothes, bought especially for the joyous occasion, and you would know my bride was genuine a mile off by her light gray travelling costume, her spick-and-span new hat and her general air of timidity. We have been out only four hours, but I have already addressed my wife as 'dearest' five times in the presence of total strangers, and she has responded with 'darling' in each instance, and we propose to keep this up during our wedding trip, which will last six weeks and cover Niagara Falls, Washington, the Natural Bridge of Virginia and other principal points of interest.

"My name is Amos R. Able, and I am out on my wedding trip with the dearest, sweetest little woman in the world. I have money to burn, there is no deceit in my heart. I want the best of everything, and I want the whole world in general to know that I am the happiest man alive. Now is there anything more you would like to know?"

"Nothing, sir," replied the clerk, as he closed the ledger, took down a key from the board and rang the gong for the hall boy.

Hypnotized A Week.

CLEVELAND, O., July 12.—A week ago a hypnotist named Santonelli secured the consent of the parents of Leonard, living in Ravenna, to attempt a seven days' test, during which all the physical functions except the heart were to be entirely suspended. During an ordinary seance on June 30 Leonard was commanded by Santonelli to leave the auditorium in which he was exhibiting and go to a tent that had been erected some hundred yards away and to lie down and sleep. Leonard obeyed instantly.

The tent in which he lay has been open to visitors ever since. At night the subject was guarded by a young companion, who refused to leave him during the test. When he fell asleep his pulse was 84. This was reduced by hypnotism to 64, and on the following day to 54 and then 44. It afterward rose to about 50 and remained about that point until just before he was awakened.

"During this time young Leonard has not had his clothing changed and has not left his couch except as he was ordered to 'stiffen out' so that he could be raised by two attendants and photographed a day or two ago. His guards are willing to make oath to the fact that he has remained without food or stimulation and that his physical functions have been dormant all this time. Leonard was taken out of the trance by Santonelli in the presence of a large crowd of people. His pulse had risen to 120, but subsided to about 90 soon after.

He expressed ignorance of the fact that he had been asleep, and supposed the crowd about him was the one he had left a week before. Two doctors who attended him manifested the greatest interest at the result of the experiment, claiming that with the exception of gun-shot wounds in the abdomen when a suspension of the functions would materially assist recovery, the use of hypnotism would be of vital importance. Santonelli proposes to make a two weeks' test under the supervision of physicians in a few weeks.

If you would have an abundance of dark, glossy hair, if you would have a clean scalp, free from dandruff and irritation, humors, or if your hair is faded and gray, and you would have its natural color restored, use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is unquestionably the best dressing.

Another sanguinary depredation by seventy-five Indians upon a settlement of rangers and cowboys in the Yaqui river valley, Mexico, has taken place. The Indians were fully armed and equipped for war, and made an attack at night. Manuel Peraza, a cattleman, his son, and three cowboys were killed.

One Sunday, while a bailie was in charge of a collection plate, an old lady came, and, dropping a penny into it, passed the newly arrived guest, a tall, spare man of forty, with side whiskers, looked up from the register with a smile as he said: "Yes, sir, for myself and wife, and not only that, but I don't want a room on the seventh floor, several blocks away from the fire escape and where it will take the call boy all night to reach. ### Four Cents Worth of Fun.

American naval officers now in Washington, who were recently in China, tell of a day they spent ashore looking for sport. For a few yen, amounting to about four cents, they secured the services of two Chinamen to fight for their entertainment. The fight went on bravely, and as fights go on in China, not being up to the American hippodrome style, one of the Chinamen was whipped. But he was angry. As he moved away from the scene of combat he found a stone, and turning on his antagonist, struck him a blow that killed him. The murderer was speedily beheaded, but the authorities decided that it was no concern of the American officers if a murder resulted from their plan of amusement. One of the younger officers remarked: "We not only got a fight, but a killing and an execution all for four cents. You couldn't beat those rates."
