

RUN DOWN WITH DYSPEPSIA STOMACH Liver AND HEART AFFECTED. Almost in Despair But Finally CURED By Taking AYER'S PILLS

"For fifteen years, I was a great sufferer from indigestion in its worst forms. I tested the skill of many doctors, but grew worse and worse, until I became so weak I could not walk fifty yards without having to sit down and rest. My stomach, liver, and heart became affected, and I thought I would surely die. I tried Ayer's Pills and they helped me right away. I continued their use and am now entirely well. I don't know of anything that will so quickly relieve and cure the terrible suffering of dyspepsia as Ayer's Pills."—JOHN C. PRITCHARD, Brodie, Warren Co., N. C.

CORRESPONDENCE

Respectfully Dedicated to the

Dear Mr. Editor:
Your issue of the 25th April contained a nice little temperance story in which the bar-room scene is very graphically portrayed. Almost tragically.

First we have the tottering drunken imbecile with quivering hands and the fiery eyes of a maniac begging, pleading, beseeching for one glass more to ease his torture, if only for a moment for which glass he would even barter his immortal soul to the evil one. Then we have the young man infused with hope and strength in the first flower of his glorious young manhood taking the initiative glass that leads on the downward course that ends in destruction and death. Next we have the landlord, who after accumulating a fortune in the accursed trade of selling drink to his fellow man, wishing to retire to an easier and more respectable life, quitting the business with a prayer on his lips. History is replete with scenes like these—especially that of the bloated rum seller after saving money enough to live on in grandeur the rest of his days, selling out or renting his business and then preaching temperance and becoming a pillar of the church. You did not state what kind of a man it was who succeeded the retiring landlord. Was it a lazy fellow who would not wait on his customers and for this reason got starved out or was he a mean man who would not "set 'em up" for the boys and always kept the worst grade of "tangle leg?" Either one of these of course would be a benefit to temperance, or was it a young man, a regular hustler who always kept the best the land could afford and understood people and things and knew that the more whiskey he gave away the more he would sell and in consequence did a roaring business. If it were a man like this then in the cause of temperance it was a great pity that the old landlord ever said, "God helping me it is the last drop I will ever sell to anyone." Mr. Editor, where is the moral? We are not told in the tale that the landlord became a total abstainer, or that the two young men just starting on the downward road to destruction put on the brakes and switched on to the main line of total abstinence. Neither are we informed that the poor inebriate straightway went and took the Gold Cure and from that time forward preached drunkenness as a disease. I ask you again where is the moral? Mr. Editor, no doubt in your childhood days you were a strict attendant of the Sabbath School. Do you remember that most of the books in the libraries showed that the good little boy always died. Consequently life being very sweet to us we had not the same ambition to be good as we might otherwise have had. Silly temperance tales always remind me of the above. In this sublime world of ours the majority of young men eler they have reached the age of twenty, fully understand that base intemperance is the curse of our land. They also know that the best minds of the day the world over are coping with the question and so far the problem remains unsolved. Tales like "The Drunkard's appeal," appeal to all the ridiculous that is in us and sometimes invoke extreme cynicism. A true man or woman detests shams in any form, therefore let us call a spade a spade and look the matter squarely in the face. And now Mr. Editor, in conclusion, I beg to say in the language of the villain on the stage, "my dear young friend, here is a tract."

Yours truly,

TEMPERANCE.

Pine Ridge.

MAY 4.—The snow has nearly all disappeared and farmers are anxiously awaiting the approach of seed time. Nothing has been done in the line of farming as yet, but I see a great many of our farmers busy cutting their year's wood.

Mrs. Walter Holmden and Mr. John Sullivan, who have been very sick, are recovering.

Miss Alma Girvan, who has been spending the winter with her mother, has returned to Amherst.

Our day school is under the efficient management of Miss Mina Black, of Trout Brook. Our S. S. has also started with Mr. Robert McNulty as superintendent and Miss Black and Mrs. James Wilson as teachers. We have also a goodly number of young men and women in our neighborhood. Why can't we have a Bible class?

Mr. Fred Whitney, who has been in Boston for the past three years, has returned home. His many friends are pleased to see him looking so well.

Messrs. Alex. and Eddie Morton have carpenters working at their new house. We hear they intend moving into it this summer.

"Was all the candy eaten the other night, or did it all run up their coat sleeves?" We hope next time Alec. invites his friends to lunch and candy they won't be so "badly disappointed."

A certain young man from our neighboring town, visits "his sister" quite often but we hear there are other attractions "over the way."

We hear that our fashionable dressmaker Miss Tillie Morton, intends going to Harcourt for a few weeks.

The many friends of Mrs. John S. Barton will be pleased to hear that she is recovering from her recent illness, under the skilful treatment of Dr. Keith.

There has been much sickness, and many deaths in our community during the winter.

Our spiritual wants are attended to by the Rev. F. W. Murray of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. S. Allen of the Methodist church, each of whom preaches once a month in the Burnt Hill school house.

"MAYFLOWERS."

Sunday Schools.

The Sunday School at Mortimore, J. E. G. Atkinson, Supt., opened the 1st Sunday in April.

A new Sunday School was opened at Nicholas River Bridge, last Sunday. Supt., Alex. Mundle who is also teacher of the Senior class. Intermediate class, Mrs. Wm. Mundle teacher, Primary class, Miss Grace Warman teacher.

The following J. B. R. A. circles have been formed:—two at Main River, Mrs. W. W. Graham, Secy. One at Mundleville, Miss Bessie Mundle, Secy. One at South Branch, Miss Serena Doherty, Secy. Miss Bessie Murray is forming one at West Branch.

The Sunday School at Ford's Mills opened the last Sunday of April.

Mill Branch.

MAY 6th.—The weather is becoming quite spring like and the farmers have a ain taken up the regular work of the season.

There is to be a basket social held here for the purpose of supplementing the funds of the Presbyterian Church, on Saturday evening, May 11th. A very enjoyable time may be expected.

Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. Pearce of the United States, arrived at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Beers, on Wednesday last.

The community at large are pleased to hear of the recovery of Mr. John Boyce who has been so seriously ill.

Mr. Geo. Warman, of Moulies River, passed through here on Saturday.

Mr. Andrew Robinson returned home from Salem, Mass., on Friday. He will be most heartily welcomed by all after an absence of two years.

No time like the present Georgie, the way is clear but do not delay the logs will soon be down.

Our congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. James Irving on the arrival of a daughter.

Cocagne.

MAY 6th.—We have had no shipping in port yet; the farmers have done no seeding; and there no creameries built and altogether it is a very backward spring.

But we have had a wedding! Emma Comeau and George Cormier were married to-day by Fr. Masse. May they live a long and happy life.

Mrs. D. L. Goguen is recovering from a severe stroke of paralysis of the brain.

Mr. Chas. McManus of Buctouche passed through here on his way home from Memramcook last week.

Miss Mary Bourque spent last Saturday with her parents in Buctouche.

Hugh Elliot has returned from N. S. where he spent the winter.

A Chance For Literateurs.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., of Brockville, which does nothing by halves, is out with a scheme which is not only praiseworthy in its inception, but which is liberal in its terms. In order to develop the latent literary ability of Canada, and at the same time afford ample encouragement for the efforts of those who may successfully participate in the competition, the proprietors of the celebrated Pink Pills have decided to offer $300. divided into five prizes, for the best five original stories, of not more than 3000 words. The amount is a liberal one and will be divided into sums of $100, $75, $50, $40, and $25, according to the merit of the story. The competition will be open to all who have never won a prize in a competition of the kind, and the results will no doubt prove the recklessness of those who assert that Canada has no literature of the higher type.

Joy Brought to Another Home!

SUFFERING AND PAIN BANISHED.

Paine's Celery Compound Saves the Life of a Toronto Lady.

MRS. J. WICKET SAYS: "AFTER USING TWO BOTTLES OF THE COMPOUND I FEEL LIKE A NEW WOMAN."

A FIRMLY ESTABLISHED FACT

When Doctors Fail and Ordinary Medicines are Useless, Paine's Celery Compound Always Cures.

Results! honest results!! marvellous results!!! convincing and satisfactory to all fair-minded men and women. Even the skeptics and scoffers are brought to a knowledge of the truth by unassailable, rock bottom facts and proofs.

In the vast field of medicines and medical preparation, time, experience and results have amply demonstrated the truth of the oft-repeated statement, that Paine's Celery Compound is the only true and honest life-saving medicine every offered to suffering humanity.

The strong and vigorous testimony of Mrs. J. Wicket, of 160 Oak Street, Toronto, should fill the fainting and despairing hearts of all sufferers with fresh hope and confidence, and should lead every sickly person to the only medicine that makes people well.

Mrs. Wicket's letter reads as follows:— "Last year, in the month of November, I was suddenly taken ill with pleurisy and neuralgia. The pains in my shoulders and back were most intense and caused me extreme suffering. For several weeks I was under the doctor's care and gradually recovered from the attack of pleurisy, but none of the medicine prescribed for me seemed to have any effect on the neuralgia which by this time spread all over my body.

I gradually became worse; my appetite was poor, and the pain never seemed to leave me for an instant. My life was becoming a burden to me, and I began to think I would never recover. I grew discouraged with the medicines I was taking, and happening to see a testimonial in the newspaper about Paine's Celery Compound, I concluded to get a bottle, although I had very little faith in patent medicines.

Before I had finished my first bottle, I began to feel better, the pains and soreness greatly decreased, and gaining hopes, my improved health, I finished the first and bought a second.

After using two bottles of your Compound, I feel like a new woman; my appetite has returned, the neuralgia has left me, and I am as well as ever. I feel very thankful for the benefits I have derived from your medicine, and take pleasure in recommending it to my friends. Should any one desire fuller particulars, if they will communicate with me, I will be happy to oblige them."

Probably one hundred people were killed by a cyclone which passed through Sioux county, Iowa, from south west to north east Friday morning. Half a score of prosperous little hamlets were touched by the flying storm and hundreds of farms were laid waste. The pitiable feature of the disaster was the number of youthful lives that were lost. Four school houses near Sioux Centre were destroyed while school was in progress and at each one from three to ten children were killed or injured. Many of the children were carried from a quarter to half a mile before they were dropped. Two little daughters of John Kusar were picked up as they were leaving the school house and dashed into a wire fence and killed.
