An order in council has been passed, awarding, for bravery in rescuing the crew of the St. John, N. B., schooner St. John in a cyclone last September, to Captain J. J. Mehegan, of the steamer Glenwood, a binocular glass; to Joseph E. Tripp, first mate, who commanded the rescuing boat, a gold watch, and to each of the boat's crew of four £2 in cash.

Charles Donaldson, 13 years of age, an inmate of the reform school in New Brunswick, N. J., was summoned to the bath room Thursday morning to be punished for breaking a rule of the institution. Before entering the room he borrowed a penknife. Keeper W. W. Davis took hold of the boy and the latter stabbed the keeper three times, over the heart, in the right side and on the left arm. The keeper's condition is dangerous.

In the House of Lords on Friday Lord Brassey commented upon the insufficient number of men available for manning the navy and proposed that the naval reserve be raised to 20,000 men. Although he said the navy was never so well prepared as at present the margin of waste was not sufficient and is far behind the French navy. Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty, agreed with Lord Brassey that it is necessary to strengthen the reserve to be ready for a wave of war.

A team belonging to Robert Mangler, a livery stable keeper, in Monticello, Ohio, came into the stable yard late at night with the body of a girl, named Annie Frisch, sitting in the vehicle, stone dead. There was a bullet wound in the right temple, and another in the left arm. Later in the evening, the dead body of her lover, Arthur Sprude, who was known to have gone driving with her, was found on the roadside. Sprude had killed the girl. This tragedy is probably the result of a lovers' quarrel. Sprude was twenty-two and the girl nineteen years of age.

A pauper in a London workhouse recently became the heir to real and personal estate valued in the aggregate at $300,000. The facts as far as elucidated, are as follows: In 1883, a sister of the pauper's father died intestate, leaving a personalty of $140,000, and a considerable amount of property in the West-end of London valued at $160,000 more. This nice little fortune went begging until about a couple of years ago, when the next of kin was discovered in the person of the pauper alluded to, a man well advanced in years who was an inmate of a London workhouse at the time he heard of his unexpected luck.

In Southern Italy, Sicily, and Sardinia the cost of the recent cold wave is estimated at $1,000,000. In addition to this it has already cost about $200,000 to repair the damage done to the railways, and $800,000 to restore broken-down telegraph lines. In the mountain districts a temporary thaw let loose numerous avalanches, great damage being done and about a dozen lives lost. Hundreds of wolves from the Alps have invaded the plains of Piedmont and have killed many villagers. In Tenda and other districts the Alpine troops have been told off for duty against the wolves, and have wrought great execution amongst the brutes.

The identity of the young woman who committed suicide at the Adams House in Boston on Tuesday has been established. She had lived in Holyoke, it is said. She registered from the latter place and signed the fictitious name of M. C. Morton on the hotel register for the avowed purpose of hiding her identity, for she went to Boston with her mind fully made up to take her own life. Clara Hathaway was the woman's maiden name. Few here will recall her by it. She had been married, but her wedded experience was short and unpleasant and there are even fewer of those who know her who had heard of the marriage. Clara Hathaway was known in this city by several other names. In a letter written by her she said her life had been a failure in everything and that she hoped her attempt to kill herself would not be a failure also.

The Honolulu Advertiser, which has just arrived here, clears up a mystery which has long puzzled Washington officials, as to the entry in ex-Queen Liliuokalani's diary, stating that on the day specified President Cleveland's present had been received by her. It was once denied at Washington that the President had ever sent a present to the ex-Queen. The Advertiser now explains that Liliuokalani received a copy of the report of the Board of Public Works of Chicago for the year 1893. Some one had taken the trouble to cover it handsomely in cloth and had also secured the personal cards of Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Gresham. The cards, the paper says, were placed inside the volume, with a suitable statement of regard in forwarding. The ex-Queen did not doubt the genuineness of the present, nor suspect that some practical joker had been at work, and accordingly made that entry in her diary.

Shimonoseki, the place fixed for the meeting of the representatives of China and Japan who are to negotiate peace, is a seaport on the south-west coast of the latter country, and its past associations are quite the reverse of peaceful. In 1895 a famous naval battle was fought there between the Taira and Minamoto families in which 1,200 war junks are said to have been engaged. It was there that the final stand was made some thirty-two years ago by the Japanese against the invasion of that western civilization by which they have now been enabled to achieve such a rapid succession of brilliant victories in China. Shimonoseki was the last stronghold of the old feudal and anti-foreign party, and it was not until it had been twice bombarded, once in 1863 and again about twelve months afterward, by a combined English, French and American naval squadron, as a punishment for its forts having opened fire on defenceless foreign shipping, that Japan may be said to have finally abandoned that disastrous policy of seclusion from the outer world which has been one of the principal causes of the ignominious defeat of China. The Japanese Government was obliged to pay an indemnity of about $3,500,000, but Shimonoseki's misfortunes did not end there, for in 1873 the town was nearly destroyed by fire.

It Outdoes Munchausen.

(From the Japan Mail.) While storming the first line of forts at Port Arthur, a soldier belonging to the 24th regiment raised his rifle to fire at an unusually conspicuous Chinaman. Just as he was about to fire, a bullet from the enemy's side came whizzing on, and, marvellous to relate, entered the barrel of his own gun as smoothly and neatly as if the muzzles had been placed mouth to mouth. Of course there was an explosion and the soldier's piece was shattered to the stock, but without his receiving any injuries whatever. A fractional variation to the right or left would have caused the hostile bullet to enter his head or face, so that his escape was nothing short of marvellous. He preserved the stock of his now useless weapon, and afterwards exhibited it to his colonel, who permitted him to keep it as a memento of his narrow escape. It is probably the first instance of the kind on record since Baron Munchausen's day.

Rheumatism and Dyspepsia.

A COMBINATION OF TROUBLES WHICH MADE LIFE MISERABLE

Mr. Eli Joyce relates his experience with these troubles—could not retain food and was thought to be beyond hope of cure—but Relief came and he is now a well man. From the Coaticook Que., Observer.

The readers of the Observer have become familiar with the remarkable cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People through their recital in these columns, as taken from other reputable newspapers. It is now our purpose to tell them of a cure, hardly short of miraculous, which was effected on a person with whom many of our readers are acquainted. We refer to Mr. Eli Joyce, formerly of Dixville, but now living at Averil, Vt. A few days ago we saw Mr. Joyce and asked him about his recovery. He stated that for four or five years he had been afflicted with rheumatism and dyspepsia. He was laid up and unable to do anything on an average four months in a year, and was constantly growing worse, although treated by good physicians and trying numerous remedies recommended. A year ago last August he was taken seriously ill while at his sister's, Mrs. Dolloff of Dixville. He could not retain anything on his stomach and the physicians who attended him were powerless in improving his condition. One of them stated that he had cancer of the stomach and could not live long. It was while in this precarious condition that he determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before long was able to retain food on his stomach. His pain gradually became less and in six weeks time he was back to his home in Averil, feeling that he had obtained a new lease of life. He continued taking the Pink Pills for some time longer and gained so much in health and strength that he is now able to do the hardest kind of a day's work, and he frankly gives Dr. Williams' Pink Pills all the credit for his rejuvenated condition, and says he believes their timely use saved his life. The Observer has verified his story through several of his neighbors, who say that it was thought that he was at the point of death when he began the use of Pink Pills; in fact when we mentioned his case to one of the doctors who had attended him he said he supposed he was dead long ago. When such strong tributes as these can be had to the wonderful merit of Pink Pills it is little wonder that their sales reach such enormous proportions, and that they are the favorite remedy with all classes. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all troubles arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of any nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., sold in boxes (never in loose form) by the dozen or hundred and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape) at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company at either address.

"Success is there ward of merit" not of assumption. Popular appreciation is what tells in the long run. For fifty years, people have been using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and to-day it is the blood-purifier most in favor with the public. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures.
