

DESTROYED BY FIRE.—Last Thursday night a camp and hovel near Kent Junction belonging to Mr. Wm. Stevenson was burned to the ground by the explosion of a lamp. Three men were in the camp at the time and they escaped in their sock feet, and were compelled to travel three miles to the first house. All their bedding and camp utensils were destroyed. Three horses that were in hovel at the time were saved with difficulty, and all the hay and oats were destroyed.

SUPREME COURT.—The Supreme Court was occupied during the whole forenoon session with the argument in Wheten vs. Starrack, a Kent Co. case, Mr. Phinney, Q. C., moving for a new trial and C. J. Sayre opposing. The principal point is as to Judge Landry's allowing a trial, after plaintiff's prima facie case had been made out, an amendment to the defendant's plea by which the title to land, which was the subject matter of suit, was put in issue. The court reserved judgment.—Gleaner.

ACCIDENT ON THE I. C. R.—The engine of the express train going east on Wednesday morning when entering the station at Jaquet River, at full speed was derailed by a large quantity of ice on the track at the tank which had been accumulating since the accommodation had watered there on the previous evening, caused by water issuing from the pipe which had not been properly shut off. The engine after being derailed, ran about one hundred yards on the sleepers, when it came in contact with the frog at the switch and was suddenly overturned, and became a complete wreck. The engineer and fireman had a most miraculous escape. The passengers were badly shaken but otherwise received no injury. Surely the tanks on the railway should have some attention on frosty nights such as the night of the accident.

AYER'S THE ONLY Sarsaparilla ADMITTED

Articles that are in any way dangerous or offensive, also patent medicines, nostrums, and empirical preparations, whose ingredients are concealed, will not be admitted to the Exposition.

Why was Ayer's Sarsaparilla admitted? Because it is not a patent medicine, not a nostrum, nor a secret preparation, not dangerous, not an experiment, and because it is all that a family medicine should be.

—A horrible story comes from Chicoutimi, almost too terrible to believe. It appears that a five-year-old child had set fire to a mattress while playing with matches. The father, one of the leading men of the place, in a fearful rage tried to put the child's hands into the fire of the stove to punish it. Seeing that he could not succeed in this he made a fire of several bundles of matches and held the child's hands over it until the infant lost consciousness. When the helpless child regained its senses he recommenced the fiendish operation, and when the mother hearing the cries ran to the scene, she too fell senseless. The victim was at last saved from further torture, with the flesh burned off to the bone. Steps are being taken to have the barbarous parent arrested.
