CURED BY
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

"Some time since, I had a severe attack of asthma, accompanied with a distressing cough and a general soreness of the joints and muscles. I consulted physicians and tried various remedies, but without getting any relief, until I despaired of ever being well again. Finally, I took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and in a very short time, was entirely cured. I can, therefore, cordially and confidently commend this medicine to all."—J. ROSELLS, Victoria, Texas.

THE LATE FATHER LEFEVRE.

An Immense Gathering at the Funeral at Memramcook.

St. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE, Jan. 31.—Never perhaps in the history of the province did such a large assembly gather on a sadder mission or with sincerer sorrow than that which filled St. Thomas' church in paying their last respects to the beloved superior of the college. All professions and classes of men were represented, showing the universal esteem in which he was held by all. The church was heavily draped in mourning, whilst about the walls were hung appropriate texts.

Yesterday the body of Father Lefevre was transferred from the college parlor, where it had remained exposed since the time of his demise to the catafalque erected for its reception in the parish church. The cortege was composed of the members of the Memramcook branch of the C. M. B. A., the Fathers of the Holy Cross, students of St. Joseph's college and parishioners.

The mass of requiem began at 10 o'clock in St. Thomas' church, which was filled to its utmost capacity. The celebrant was Rev. Fr. Beaudet, provincial of the order in Canada, and he was assisted by Rev. Frs. Roy and Le Cavalier, as deacon and sub-deacon. Rev. T. Casey, of St. John, was master of ceremonies; Rev. P. Arsenault, censor bearer, and Rev. Frs. L'Archeveque and Dufour, acolytes. Seats were reserved in the sanctuary for the clergy, among whom were: His Lordship Bishop Sweeney, Frs. P. Belliveau, Babineau, Bradley, Michaud, Mcahan, F. X. Cormier, Jos. Ouellet, Richard, Savage, McDevitt, N. Masse, J. Masse, Legere, Hebert, Pelletier, LeCourtis, H. Ouellet and A. B. O'Neil, A. LeBlanc, Tessier, Labbe, Cormier, LeBlanc, Arsenault, Lecours, Bazoges, Girard, Berthiaume, Guertin, Bourgeois and La Rochelle of the college.

The music for the occasion was furnished by the choir of the church and the college, under the direction of Fr. Bourgeois, and the college band, with Brother Raphael as leader.

The funeral oration at the close was delivered in French by Rev. Phillip Belliveau, of Barabois. The preacher took his text from the 41st chap. of Ecclesiastics: "O Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man who hath peace in his possessions." He dwelt briefly upon the early career and labors of the apostolic missionary, enumerating and exemplifying his numerous and admirable virtues. He was known far and wide as a most zealous laborer in the vineyard, whose endeavors were only for the temporal and spiritual advancement of those whose good fortune it was to be under his care. His affections were not locked up only in his parishioners, but the youth of St. Joseph's always partook of a goodly share and were constantly the object of his tender solicitude. His last action, the outcome of his fatherly care, was to visit the dormitory to see that all was well, as the night was very windy. This is only a single incident of a long chain of such, by which his unflinching devotion for an interest in those under his care was manifested. When, in closing, the speaker made a fond adieu to the departed, there was not a dry eye in the congregation.

After mass the march to the last resting place began, and the following order was preserved:

- Memramcook Branch of C. M. B. A.
- St. Joseph's College Band.
- Visiting Prelates.
- Remains.
- Fathers of the Holy Cross.
- Faculty of St. Joseph's College.
- Religious of the Holy Cross.
- Students.
- Societies of St. Thomas' Church.
- Parishioners.

The burial ceremony at the grave was conducted by Rev. Fr. Beaudet, assisted by Rev. Frs. Roy and Le Cavalier. The interment was made in the portion of the cemetery allotted for the burial of religious.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from the friends of the deceased. Among others may be mentioned a star from the professors of the college, a crescent from the seniors, a cross from the minors, and others from the academies of St. Patrick and St. John the Baptist.

Among those present at the funeral were: Judge Landry, J. W. Y. Smith, M. P. P., H. A. Powell, M. P. P., G. V. McInerney, M. P., Sheriff Legere of Kent, Dr. Allison, of Sackville, Drs. Landry, Bourque, Belliveau, Gaudet, F. J. Sweeney, J. Sutton, W. Croke of Moncton, and O. Gastonguay of Halifax.

The Fathers of the Holy Cross received telegrams of condolence from Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax, and Bishop Rodgers and McDonald of Chatham and Charlottetown respectively.

Rev. Jos. Girard is acting as superior until the appointment of a permanent one by the council of the Holy Cross order.

A MEMBER OF THE PEARY NORTH POLE EXPEDITION.

HE MAKES SOME INTERESTING STATEMENTS.

Paine's Celery Compound Used in the Frozen Regions.

Mr. James W. Davidson, who went with Lieut. Peary to the Arctic regions, was recently interviewed and made the following interesting statement:—

"Yes indeed, I have not only heard of Paine's Celery Compound, but have used it, and have every reason to remember it. When I was selected by Lieutenant Peary to accompany him on his trip to the arctic regions to try and find the North Pole it was partly because of my strong, healthy constitution, and his belief that I could endure the fatigue and danger incident to the trip. I had been associated with him as a business manager on his lecturing tour, and was on terms of the greatest intimacy with him.

"When the ship 'Falcon' left New York on her trip northward it had, among the stores, several cases of Paine's Celery Compound. The reputation of that medicine was so well established that it was the most natural thing in the world that the members of the party, and they comprised men from nearly every walk in life, from common sailors to men of science, should desire to use it.

"The record of our perilous trip to Camp Annversary is too well known to need repetition. Once in the camp we naturally took an inventory of our possessions, and I was exceedingly glad to find the Celery Compound. The medicine chest was open to all, and we were free to take from it what we thought was advisable. I, in company with several others, selected some of the Compound, taking a bottle of it to the cabin, knowing it would be handy when wanted. Nor was I mistaken, for the excessive cold weather soon had its effects, and I began to be troubled in a number of ways. In every case whenever I felt the slightest indisposition, I used the Compound, and of course found relief.

"One thing noticeable in the Arctic region was that the cold weather made us all exceedingly nervous. We became irritable and cross. The slightest thing could cause angry words to spring to our lips, and it required the greatest care to guard against our ill-temper getting the best of us. We had to watch one another to avoid getting into a passion. Our nerves were all unstrung and natural life affected our health. I talked the matter over with some of the others, and made up my mind that possibly the Celery Compound would be beneficial, for I knew that it was used for nervous disorders at home. Well sir, we tried it, and I must say it helped every one of us, so much so that I might say that it was a peace-maker among us.

"When the long night of six months came on and we were in darkness, we found that the effects were very depressing. Imagine, if you can living for six months in darkness, such as occurs here every night, and you can readily understand how we were situated. It is a wonder that some of us did not go mad. We had not very much to divert our attention, and the effect was something like solitary confinement in a dark cell.

"I have used Paine's Celery Compound for a dozen ills such as persons are liable to have at any time, and especially in this desolate country. It has always helped me and I should be pleased to have more of it should I go North again.

"I do not know of anything that I can speak more highly of than Celery Compound. It certainly is a great medicine, and I am an advocate of it."

A Terrible Collision.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The North German Lloyd Steamer, Elbe, bound for New York has collided in the North Sea and 370 persons were drowned. About five o'clock in the morning, some thirty miles off the coast of Holland, the Elbe collided with the steamer Crathie, bound for Aberdeen from Rotterdam. The two vessels suddenly and unexpectedly collided in the fog. The North German steamer was struck above the engine room and began to fill so rapidly that there was only time to lower three boats, and one was swamped after getting away from the steamer. The first boat contained the third officer, chief engineer, the purser, and about twenty of the passengers, so far as can be learned at present, as the people who have landed are being cared for at various places. The occupants of the first boat were picked up by a couple of fishing smacks and were taken to Lowestoft, where they have been landed.

Nothing is known as to the fate of the occupants of the third boat which was lowered from the Elbe, but it is hoped they will either be picked up by some passing vessel or else succeed in making a landing on the coast.

From what one of the rescued men says the disaster must have been one of the most terrible in the history of such catastrophes. The whole of the passengers are understood to have been below and asleep at the time the collision occurred, and nearly all of them must have been either drowned below or have met death while seeking to rush upon deck. The man who furnishes the information was in such an excited state that little more could be gathered from him than exclamations of horror. "It was terrible; it was terrible."

"The poor women and children went down without hardly being able to utter a prayer. It was terrible.

"The steamship must have been full of dead bodies. They were caught like rats in a trap. I can't tell you any more about it. All I know is, I heard a terrible crash and it was followed by an awful sound of rushing water and escaping steam. It was very dark down below where I was. But I managed to push my way on deck. The ship resounded with heartchilling cries from all quarters, although the officers seemed to be doing all they could to calm the passengers. I saw a lot of sailors making a rush for a boat and I joined in with them. Somehow the boat was lowered and I managed to scramble into it, although it seemed to me as if about a hundred people were trying to do the same."

JAN. 27th, 1895.—"Seed time and harvest shall not cease," and in these northern climes neither shall our winter snows. It has been a remarkably fine winter for lumbermen and there is large quantities of lumber being hauled in this locality.

The Post-Office which is kept by Jas. Johnson is most splendidly fitted up with a box for each inhabitant. Mr. McKay the mail carrier, is very regular in the delivery of the mails. But as people are continually wanting something so we want three mails per week, so we can get THE REVIEW on Saturday instead of the following Tuesday. We want the young folk to have a few more candy pulls. We want a good sleigh drive. We want a V in our pocket at least every month, we want all the old bachelors either to get married or study the laws of hygiene, we want the newly appointed lumber surveyors to give a straight deal, we want road overseers to keep the roads open, we want all the scandal mongers and mischief makers to be transported to Auckland Island, where Mrs. Yates is Mayor, (with strict injunctions never to return) just as soon as the government can demonstrate the practicability of the scheme, as they might prove the missing link in the Darwinian theory. With these wants supplied and three square meals a day, we might be tolerably happy.
