

LOCAL & GENERAL.

OBITUARY.—Mr. Wm. Morton, one of the oldest and most respected farmers of West Branch, died at his home on Friday st, at the advanced age of 74 years.

Mr. Thomas Dixon, one of Kent's most respectable and successful farmers, died at his residence at Mill Creek, on Thursday evening last, aged 61 years.

WONDERFUL PHENOMENON.—A brilliant meteor was seen in Louison Brook, Restigouche, one evening recently, writes a correspondent, which illuminated the whole heavens.

RICHIBUCTO AMATEUR DRAMATIC CLUB.—Notwithstanding the almost impassable condition of the streets, the entertainment given by the above club on New Year's night in the Temperance Hall was well attended by an appreciative audience.

Teacher wanted at Kouchibouguac.—The Moncton Sugar Refinery will resume work this week.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Storer entertained a few friends New Years night.

—The revising barrister will hold Court at Richibucto, on February 2nd, and at Acadieville, on January 28th, at 2 p. m., instead of dates previously announced.

—An interesting event took place at "The Cedars," Kingston, on New Year's morning. Then Mr. Hugh Jardine, C. E., of Bulton, Me., was united in marriage to Miss Maude A. Doherty, eldest daughter of the genial doctor.

—Mr. W. J. Pine has our thanks for the Christmas edition of the San Francisco Examiner.

—The shooting which was to have taken place on New Years Day was postponed on account of the heavy snow storm.

—The Big Cove brigade reached town about noon on Wednesday, having been prevented from giving their annual "rally" by the storm on New Years day.

—Write it 1895. —Good sleighing at last. —How about that swear off? —The ice boats have been called in.

—Kingston Agricultural Society meets on Saturday next.

—The citizen's band turned out to welcome the New Year.

—Sir John Thompson's funeral takes place at Halifax to-day.

—We are in receipt of a handsome calendar from the New York Fishing Gazette.

—Read the new advertisement of the A. Christie Woodworking Company in this issue.

—Two hundred and fifty-three tons of smelts have been shipped from Richibucto via the K. N. R. up to date.

—Everything points towards its being the biggest yet. See what Daniel & Robertson have to say to-day.

—Thursday's thaw coated everything with ice, and the small boy had a big time skating about the streets on Friday.

—Sandy Barnett tried to chase the little smelt into his net Monday, but the water proved so cold that he did not remain long in its icy embrace.

—The Liberals of Saskatchewan have sent a requisition to Hon. Wilfred Laurier asking him to be their candidate at the next Dominion election.

—Monday next will be the 20th anniversary of the preliminary survey of the Kent Northern Railway. The road was opened for traffic on Nov. 7, 1883.

—The large number of comparatively sudden deaths which have occurred in this vicinity lately, would seem to verify the old saying that a green Christmas makes a full churchyard.

—Mr. Wm. Hudson, we regret to state, slipped on the ice at McDermott's corner, one day last week and badly sprained one of his ankles.

—The estate of the late Sir John Thompson is put at $9,727. This includes a policy of $5,726; the balance is a valuation of books, furniture, etc.

—The New Year was ushered in by a big snow storm, which will be welcomed by lumbermen, as the absence of snow has interfered a good deal with their operations.

—It was "just like New York," about the streets on New Year's eve, the traffic was so great Two teams collided on Queen street, and for a few moments nothing could be seen but New Year's supplies and humanity flying through the air.

—A man named Morrell started to walk from one of K. Shives' camps, Restigouche last Tuesday, and by the time he reached Joe Louden's his feet were badly frozen.

—A horse driven by Joseph Daigle ran away while leaving the ice at O'Leary's wharf, Friday. The driver was thrown from the sled, but holding to the reins, was dragged some distance before the horse was stopped.

—Some satisfaction is extracted by the Liberals from the fact they have won a seat in Nova Scotia at a bye-election for the Legislature of that province.

—A despatch to the Central News from Tokio says Gen. Nodzu, who commanded the Japanese army in Manchuria, reports the natives greatly influenced by the clemency of the Japanese.

During the last week the weather has been such as to puzzle everybody but the prophets. These gentlemen could not miss it if they would. Predicting the weather is like shooting at a large flock of fowl—or eleven targets—one is sure to strike some of them.

On account of the poor catches of smelts lately, some of the fishermen are beginning to get discouraged. They think that all the fish have been caught out of the river.

One of our fishermen took a cold bath the other day, while endeavouring to set his net on weak ice.

A party, consisting of the choirs of the Presbyterian churches of Richibucto and Kingston spent a very enjoyable evening at the Manse last Friday.

Mr. John Martin arrived home from Halifax last week, where he left the schooner Raeburn, which vessel has been laid up at that port for the winter.

The snow which fell on Saturday last made good sleighing, the first of the season, and the pleasant jingle of sleigh bells breaks the monotony of the place.

H. M. Ferguson, Esq., J. P., left on Wednesday for Halifax, to attend the funeral of the late premier.
