Of Course He Did.
She was a winsome country lass,
So William, on a brief vacation,
More pleasantly the time to pass
Essayed flirtation:
And as they strolled in twilight dim,
While near 't the time for parting drew,
Asked if she'd like to have from him
A billet doux.

Of French, this simple girl knew naught,
But doubting not 'twas something nice,
Upon its meaning quickly thought,
Then, in a trice,
Upward she turned her pretty head,
Her rosy lips together drew
For purpose plain, and coyly said,
"Yes, Billy do!"
SEQUEL.

And William did.

A Dog for a Lawyer.
James Collins was lying drunk on the pavement of Sixth avenue, New York, Sunday afternoon. A brindle bull pup stood patiently alongside of him.

Policeman Logan saw the pair, and approached them with the intention of waking the man. As he was about to stoop over the dog showed his teeth and growled. Logan respects bull dogs, and he stepped back and called out, "Hey, there!" to the man. Collins woke up. "Tell your dog," said the policeman, to let me arrest you."
Collins struggled to his feet and said to the dog: "Come on, Bully, we're rested." The dog "heeled" obediently, and the policeman took them to the Thirtieth street station house. There was no reason why the pup should be locked up, but it was plain that he intended to stick to his drunken master as long as he could, and he was allowed to occupy the cell in which Collins spent his night.

The dog accompanied Collins when Logan took him down to the police court, when Justice Hogan asked:
"Well, sir, what have you to say for yourself?"
"Talk to him, Bully," whispered Collins to the pup, and the pup jumped up on the bridge, where the justice could see him sat up, held up his forepaws and whined. Everybody in court was watching him. "Are we sorry?" Collins asked him. "The pup whined loudly and more forlornly than before. He looked as if he would cry in another minute."
"Well, young man," said the Justice, "I'll let you go this time on account of your dog. I don't think you deserve such faithfulness as he has shown. If I was a dog and had a drunken master I would leave him. But I guess dogs are more faithful than men."
"Thank the judge, Bully," said Collins. The dog stood up on his hind legs, gave one short joyous yelp, and bounded out of the court room beside his master. Collins wouldn't give his address.

HURRAH FOR DIAMOND DYES.

AIR: HURRAH FOR CANADA.
Hurrah! hurrah! for Diamond Dyes, So honest, fast and pure; Hurrah for dyes the ladies prize! Grand colors that endure. No other make with them compare, None used with so much ease; They work with wonders everywhere. They never fail to please.
Hurrah! hurrah! for Diamond Dyes, A million voices sing; The "Diamond" brand, so say the wise, To housewives pleasures bring, Long may these "Diamond" live to bless With re-creating powers; Long may they show their usefulness In this Canada of ours.

February 4.—On Wednesday last a large number of persons from Buctouche passed through here en route to Memramcook to attend the funeral of the late Fr. Lefebvre. A few also went from here to pay their last respects to that eminent clergyman.
Miss Susie Hannagan of Buctouche, was visiting friends here last week.
Miss Alicia Dysart is spending a couple of weeks with Miss McMannus, of Buctouche.
Mr. Wm. Hanrahan of Kingston, who has been here for some time went home last week.
Mr. Chas. McManus spent Sunday here.
Miss Ada Bougeois has gone to Fredericton to attend the Provincial Normal School.
Mr. John B. Gogain, M. P. P., has gone to Fredericton to attend to his Legislative duties.
Mr. Chas. Wood, who has been doing considerable lumbering operations this winter, will complete his contract with Mr. E. J. Smith, of Shediac, this week. He has in the vicinity of 2000 logs at the landing, Shediac River.

That there is a deep-rooted abhorrence of remaining in single blessedness among all persons, especially those of the gentler, none will deny; and that the young ladies of this place have forthwith proceeded to demonstrate that fact, a number of our laggards have learned to their sorrow. The practicability of the course they have adopted will readily be seen when it is learned that three of our damsels have to-day joined the happy band of benedicts, and Dame Rumor has it that more will follow in the near future. The fortunate young men in all three cases being practically outsiders "our" gentry could do no better than get a hustle on.
DIXIE.

[Owing to the impassable condition of the roads, the above did not reach us in time for publication last week.—Ed.]

That was Different.
He stood at the entrance to a dentist's office and ever and anon he glanced up the stairway, and something like a shiver passed over him. A score of pedestrians observed him and smiled as they passed on, but by and by one halted and said: "My dear sir, you have my sympathy."
"Thank you."
"I've been right there myself and know how it is."
"Yes."
"I have stood where you stand and felt as you feel."
"You have, eh?"
"But I realized that I must face the inevitable, and so I walked upstairs and had it over with."
"Did he hit you very hard?"
"Hit? How do you mean? It hurt to have the tooth out, of course. Perhaps you've got to have two out?"
"Oh, no—my teeth are all right?"
"Then what's the matter?"
"Why, I'm a collector. I've a bill seven years old against this dentist, and last time I was here he said he'd knock my jaw off if I ever came again. Oh, no, I haven't the toothache. I'm just waiting around here to get my sand up and go up and tackle him for $4.50 and get out alive."

Men may, for broken wood or glass,
Some strong cement invoke;
But there is no cement, alas!
To help a man who's broke.
Mistress—"You broke my Sevres plate. You are discharged. How did you break it." Servant—"I carelessly dropped one of the biscuits you made yesterday on it."
No matter how good the deacon is, he will always look wise and pleased if anybody suggests that he was a pretty lively young fellow when he was a boy.
Sullivan bought a goat for which he paid five dollars. Shortly after he received a tax bill on the goat of eight dollars. He called on Rafferty, the assessor, and said: "Why do you tax me eight dollars on my goat when I paid but five dollars for him?" "Well," said Rafferty, I have carefully read what the statutes say, and it reads: "Whoever owns property a butting on the street shall be taxed four dollars a front foot."

Matrimony is the name of a post office in North Carolina.
Stammering is practically unknown among uncivilized people.
A life without a trouble would be as unendurable as a summer without a cloud.
A law in Norway prohibits any person spending more than five cents for liquor at one visit at the public house, and alcoholic stimulants are supplied only to sober persons.
The czar of Russia has liberated or reduced the punishment of 20,000 prisoners since he was proclaimed, and his mercy will probably be extended as much more in the near future.
By vote of the Greek chamber of deputies the whole of this year's crop of currant will be detained and destroyed. This is intended as a heroic measure to save the currant trade from the utter ruin threatened by overproduction.
Elbeuf, the centre of the French woollen cloth manufacture, is so well off that it abolished nearly all its own town taxes, and now petitions the Government for leave to do away with the octroi, the duty on provisions entering the town.
