

Neuralgia ATTACKS THE EYES Makes THE LIGHT Unbearable. PERMANENTLY CURED BY USING Ayer's Pills

"My husband was subject to severe attacks of neuralgia which caused him much pain and suffering. The pains were principally about his eyes, and he often had to remain in a darkened room, not being able to stand the light. Ayer's Pills being recommended, he tried them, using one before each meal. They very soon afforded relief, followed by permanent cure. I am a strong believer in the efficacy of Ayer's Pills, and would not be without them for ten times their cost."—Mrs. M. E. DEBART, Liberty, Tex.

"I have used Ayer's Pills in my family for forty years, and regard them as the very best."—Uncle MARTIN HANCOCK, Lake City, Fla.

AYER'S PILLS Received Highest Awards AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Dear Editor:

We Kingston people are none of the groveling or sordid kind. We are right after the immortal Shakespeare, when he said, "Who steals my purse steals trash," etc. For instance a suspected correspondent of Plain Dealer on his departure is threatened with tar and feathers. But when a respectable (?) citizen pulls the leg of the "best of 'em" to the very lively tune of several thousand dollars and then makes a start he is presented with an address and a gold headed cane. Such is life.

Yours, etc., X. Kingston Kent Co., July 1st 1895.

School Examinations.

The examinations were held in the public schools of the town of Richibucto as previously announced in THE REVIEW. In the primary department the examination came off on Tuesday afternoon the 26th of June. The number of visitors, principally ladies, was small. The number of bright, intelligent looking children neatly attired, was large. Owing to the severe weather, a good deal of sickness and the youthfulness of the children, this room was not very full the first few months of the term, but of late the attendance has been large making a good average for the term.

The children examined in the work of the first and second grade, showed that their youthful minds are being properly developed.

It is said that the teacher in this room has been re-engaged for another term.

The examination in the intermediate department was held on Wednesday afternoon June 26th. The Secretary of the Trustees and a number of ladies were present. The attendance in this room has been quite good and regular through the whole term. The pupils were examined in the work of the third and fourth grades. They acquitted themselves in a manner alike creditable to themselves and their teacher. It is understood that the teacher who has spent five faithful years in this room has resigned and that her place will be filled by another at the beginning of next term.

The pupils of the advanced department were examined on Thursday afternoon, June 27th. The newest member of the Board of Trustees and their secretary with a number of ladies constituted the visitors. The teacher in this room has done more than her share of the work during the year just closed. Owing to the crowded condition of the schools in the lower grades a class, without being graded, was, very unwisely, thrust upon her a year ago which gave her work to do in the fourth, fifth, sixth and even some work in the seventh grade. Notwithstanding this draw back her pupils in all these grades gave evidence by their ready thoughtful answers that they had been taught to think for themselves and to express their thoughts in suitable language. A class of about a dozen has been graded from this room to enter the grammar school at the beginning of next term. The principal of the grammar school says that no class has entered that room since he took charge as the one that goes into it this year. He arrived at this conclusion by both oral and written examinations. The services of the teacher in this room have been retained for another term.

The Grammar School was examined on Friday afternoon, June 28th. The trustees were conspicuously absent. The secretary and a number of ladies were present. The attendance in this room for the first four months of the term was large, about 85 per cent. of the enrollment, but as spring approached the greater part of the most advanced class having completed the ninth grade, felt that they were prepared for something apparently more remunerative, so they left school to enter upon the realities of life, therefore the work done in this room during the past term was not at all fairly represented by those who presented themselves for examination.

The subjects of the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth grades were taught during the term. The examination was based upon the first two of these and part of the third. The pupils in these subjects were thoroughly conversant with the work that passed under review.

At the close they were complimented by one of the lady visitors who said that she was pleased with the examination, that she regretted exceedingly that her daughter had not been able to attend school and also that the present teacher had tendered his resignation.

Derelection of duty on the part of the School Officers is one regrettable fact in connection with all the schools in this town. Section 73 sub. sec. 4 of the School Law says it shall be the duty of the Board of Trustees to visit the schools at least monthly each school under their charge etc. The school Registers show that men have held office for years and have never entered the school room when the school was in session. The work of the teacher is not judged from knowledge based on observation, but from the dit of the town or the report of some refractory pupil. This is not as it should be and does the teacher, the school and the ratepayers a great injustice.

Boy Chaleur.

The salmon fishing is nearly over for the season. The catch has not been an average. Some exporters have received 3000 lbs. less than last year, which was above an average.

Robert Chalmer and his family have come from Ottawa to their summer residence in Belledune. Mr. Chalmer who is on the geological staff leaves in a few days to make geological surveys in the Province of Quebec, and report to the Dominion Government. He is a native of Belledune and a distinguished Geologist and Botanist. He has written several articles on his favorite subjects. The people in his native place highly esteem him and family, and are always pleased to have them during the Summer months on account of their kind social habits.

John McDonald Esq. and family of Montreal have arrived at Henderson's Hotel, Charlo Station, where they have spent the summer months for a long succession of years. They admire the lovely scenery of Restigouche and the invigorating atmosphere. The natural kindness of Mrs. Henderson and family is much appreciated by Mr McDonald and family. Those who wish a quiet respectable residence for a few months in summer could not do better than patronize Mrs. Henderson's Hotel.

The copious showers which have fallen during the last ten days have greatly refreshed vegetation. All the crops are now assuming a fine appearance.

The Superior School in River Charlo was examined on the 27th ult. The school under the teaching of Mr. Masterton is in a very efficient condition. The reading was natural and emphatic, questions on Geometry, Algebra, Natural History, History, and Geography were clearly and intelligently answered. Some of the visitors took an active part in the examination. Complimentary addresses were given at the close. Mr. Masterton has gone to Kent to spend his vacation with his relatives.

The Rev. W. McNichol and family of Hopewell N. S. had a cordial welcome on their arrival at New Mills on the 26th ult. where they intend to spend their summer holidays with their friends.

Rev. Mr. Sutherland has returned from his holidays to New Carlisle, much refreshed by the rest. His people gave him a cordial reception. He is much respected in the community, and deservedly so.

New Remedy For Insomnia.

An expert in nervous disorders in Paris recommended to an American gentleman a cure for insomnia which was tried with such success that the patient has prescribed it to many of his friends. It is simply to keep your eyes open when you want to go to sleep and cannot. A person whose brain is too active will sometimes close the eyes and vainly endeavor to sleep. The very closing of the eyes seems to concentrate the mental faculties on business affairs and other distractions. The theory of the French physician is that if the victim of insomnia will fix his eyes upon some gleam of light, some shadow, or even on the darkness itself, he can relieve his mind from thoughts that perplex it and divert attention from himself. Try the experiment when you are sleepless, and see how unconsciously your eyes will close and your thoughts cease to take possession of you. Struggle to keep them open and fixed upon an object, either real or imaginary, and before you are aware of it the struggle will have ended and sleep will be victorious.

County Court.

The July Term of the Kent County Court opened here Tuesday Judge Wells presiding. The following persons were in attendance viz: Heloise Babineau, Bazil J. Johnson, Alex. Mundie, Anthony Grattan, John P. Leger, John Oultram, Ferdinand Herbert, John Elliott, Leslie J. Watson, John M. G. Powell, Clement M. Gormier, S. S. Leger. The only case on the docket was George W. Robertson vs. Alha C. Storer an action brought to recover board and lodging alleged to have been furnished Defendant by Plaintiff. This case is now before the court. Phinney and Carter for plaintiff C. J. Sayre and R. Barry Smith for defendant.

Saw His Own Brain.

A Seattle man has had the unusual experience of seeing a portion of his own brain. The portion was irretrievably lost but the man lives and seems little worse for his narrow escape.

Horatio A. Stetson had been showing a friend how a circular saw split his head open, when he came across a dark blotch on a plank. It was the stain marking the spot where his own brain had once alighted. January 23 last he was working under the circular saw and raised his head till the saw touched it. "Zip" or quicker than one can say "zip" there was a big slit in the top of Mr. Stetson's head. To those who heard the saw enter it made a horrifying, unearthly sound. They will never forget it.

Stetson fell to the floor and when he was picked up a few minutes later his head appeared as if it had been split open down to the ears. He was conscious and believed he would die. Those about him did not expect to see him live until the hospital was reached.

Dr. Johnson Wotherspoon at the hospital gave a hasty glance at the wound and pronounced it fatal. He, however, determined to use all skill possible in the faint hope of saving the patient's life. The head was shaved and the extent of the injury then became apparent. The cut extended across the top of the head in a line exactly with the ears, removing a strip of bone five long and one-quarter of an inch wide. The brain had been penetrated to the depth of probably one and one-quarter inches. The wound was deepest in the centre.

Last week he filed the saw that had so nearly been his death. The wound had healed and the only reminder of the accident was a scar extending across his head. Mentally he seemed as bright as if he had not lost a quantity of brain matter although he was somewhat weak physically, due no doubt to his confinement. When asked if he knew what struck him at the time of the accident he said he did and thought he should die.

Mr. Stetson had lost fully three tablespoonful of brain before he entered the hospital. Dr. Wotherspoon removed several pieces of bone and brain matter and put the patient under the influence of chloroform. To the surprise of all Mr. Stetson was able next day to recognize his relatives. His improvement was gradual but sure, and no inflammation appeared.

The only serious effect apparent seemed to be a weakness of the stomach, which was due to the amount of chloroform taken. Inside of a month Mr. Stetson was able to be on the street, apparently but little worse for his mishap.

The case is almost a miraculous one, but not without precedent. Egbert Fulljames, brother of George Fulljames, a somewhat noted prizefighter, fell against a circular saw in the Allandale saw mill between Barry and Allandale, Province of Ontario, Canada, fifteen years ago. His head was split open from forehead to back and a quantity of brain lost. The physicians put a silver plate in the skull and the man lived for years afterwards. The only bad effect of the wound was the fact that whenever Fulljames became angry he would become temporarily insane.

Unlike other portions of the body the skull once severed will not grow together, and Mr. Stetson will always have a semi-circle of cartilaginous growth on his head instead of bone.

In the Lion's Cage.

Menagerie lions are treated to strange and sometimes attractive spectacles nowadays. In Paris the serpentine dance has been frequently performed in the cages of the supposed monarchs of the desert, exhibited at fairs. At Tallins, in the Isere, two barbers and a shoemaker entered a cage of lions yesterday, accompanied by the tamer, in order to win a wager. One of the barbers sat down in a chair, was lathered by his colleague and shaved by the shoemaker, who wielded the razor with the most consummate coolness and skill. The trio were enthusiastically acclaimed as they emerged from the cage and won the wager.
