

Editor Review:

DEAR SIR.—In your issue of last week I notice a communication signed "A citizen," anent the band stand which it is proposed to erect in the court house square. "Citizen" disapproves of the location and mentions several other places which would in his opinion, be preferable.

The band company, before deciding on the location, considered all the available sites in town. They found that the places named by "Citizen" would not suit the purpose at all, on account of being so much cramped up that the music would not sound as well as it would in an open space like the court house square. The two wharves in front of the court house are splendid situations from which to listen to the music. Farther down the street there is literally no room for an audience to stand; and horses passing, could not avoid being frightened, if the band were playing there. As to being in the most central part of the town the court house is really more central than the places referred to by "Citizen."

"Citizen" says, "The citizens have contributed very generously towards the company and they should be considered." Of course every citizen of this town and of the surrounding country have contributed more or less directly or indirectly, towards the band and the band company appreciate their assistance, but it is those who procured the instruments and are devoting a large proportion of their time to furnishing music for the town, who contribute the lion's share, and they ought to have the most say in the matter.

There are other places besides those enumerated by "Citizen" where the stand could have been located and would be more central, according to "Citizen's" idea, than the court house square. One gentleman offered to erect a stand at his own expense in front of his place of business, but a number of citizens objected to giving any one person a monopoly in this matter. Therefore, lest it appear as favoring one more than another, the band company decided to erect the stand on public property—the court house square.

Horrible Death in St. John.

ST. JOHN, Aug. 3.—A horrible accident occurred this evening at the railway crossing at Kirk's mill when Miss Emma Kennedy of the North End was hurled to her death by being struck by the C. P. R. train No. 24, in charge of Conductor J. C. Johnson and Engineer Chas. Lemeroux. The young woman was returning from work in the Belmont hotel and took the short cut by the Crossing from the mill to High street. The only witness to the accident is a small boy named James Owens, who was only a few feet from the woman when she was killed. He says she went to cross the track, thinking she could cross before the train, but her foot caught between the plank and the rail and she was unable to free herself. She shrieked and it is not likely the engineer saw her as it was very dark at the time. She was thrown 25 feet from the track. Her face and neck were covered with blood from the mouth and nostrils and the clothes slightly torn. Coroner Berryman viewed the body and allowed it to be removed to her brother's house. An inquest will be held when the fireman and engineer return to the city. The young woman was 22 years of age and had a child about eighteen months old. Her father is dead and her mother is in the asylum and up till a few days ago she kept house for two of her brothers who are employed in Hilyard's mill. Another brother works in Cushing's mill and the fourth brother is married and lives on Simmonds street.

How to Find a Puncture.

Many riders experience great difficulty in finding small punctures or leakages in tires, and they will therefore be interested to hear of an invaluable way of discovering where the smallest hole in the rubber exists. The usual expedient is to immerse the tire in water, and wherever air bubbles rise there the puncture will be found. It is not necessary, as some novices seem to think, to lick the tire all round with the tongue. With very minute holes the air-pressure in the tire is not strong enough to produce bubbles, and in such cases the very best thing to do is to lather some soap and smear it over the rubber. The smallest imaginable puncture will then be discovered, as wherever it exists a small soap bubble will be formed.

THE STORY OF A WELL KNOWN DELHI MAN.

Tortured With Rheumatism for Nearly Twenty Years—Spent Large Sums in a Vain Search for Renewed Health—How He at Last Found It. From the Delhi Reporter.

There are very few troubles more wide spread and none more difficult to eradicate from the system than rheumatism. The sufferer is racked with pains that seem unbearable, and frequently feels that even death itself would be a relief. Among those who have found much of their lives made miserable by this dread trouble is Mr. Michael Schott, of Delhi, and having found a means of release from its agonies he is anxious that other sufferers should profit by his experience. Mr. Schott is in the employ of Messrs. Quance Bros., millers, and has a reputation for sterling integrity among all who know him. When one of the staff of the Reporter interviewed him, Mr. Schott gave the facts of his illness and recovery as follows:—

He had been a sufferer from rheumatism since about eighteen years of age. At times he was confined to bed but obtained no rest day nor night from the excruciating pains he was undergoing. Again he was able to go about and follow his employment, but even then frequently walked about in an almost doubled up condition. Then again he would have another relapse, and would be forced to take to his bed. During all these years he was almost continually doctoring, but never obtained anything more than temporary relief for the large sums he expended in this way. Having failed to obtain relief at home he went to Simcoe for treatment but received no permanent benefit and soon after coming home was as bad as ever. It will be readily understood that he was seriously discouraged, and had come to look upon his case as hopeless. Finally he was urged to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after hesitating at spending any more money, in what he now considered a vain pursuit of health, he at last consented to give them a trial. By the time he had used a half dozen boxes there was no longer any doubt in his mind that he was steadily improving, and the treatment was then gladly continued. When he had taken a dozen boxes he found himself entirely recovered, entirely free from pain and from all stiffness of joints, and he is now able to do as hard a day's work as any man in the village. He has now been free from his old enemy for so long a period that he feels his cure is permanent, and is consequently an enthusiastic admirer of Dr. Williams' wonderful Pink Pills, and urges all who are similarly suffering to give them a trial, feeling confident that they will prove quite as efficacious as they did in his case.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system and restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc., these pills are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Men broken down by overwork, worry or excesses, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail postpaid, at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

If a woman takes the trouble to study, not only cooking, but her gude man's taste in cookery, be he college professor or study follower of the plough, she will never have cause to regret it. This may be a homely way to a man's heart, but it is a sure one, and when two young people join hands to walk the long path together, the wise woman will not ignore this fact. It is not that the man is a "cupboard lover," but the fact appeals very pleasantly to him that some one cares to study what he likes. It would be well to whisper in the ear of the maiden that the rolling pin and the wooden spoon will take a sure aim at the heart of the prince than the golf stick or the tennis racket.

USE PELEE ISLAND WINES FOR DEBILITY NATURE'S TONIC.

E. G. SCOVIL, AGENT PELEE ISLAND GRAPE JUICE. ST. JOHN, N. B. MARCH 15th.

DEAR SIR.—My family have received great benefits from the use of the PELEE ISLAND GRAPE JUICE during the past four years. It is the best tonic and sedative for debility, nervousness and weak lung we have ever tried. It is much cheaper and pleasanter than medicines. I would not be without it in the house.
