

GOING TO OTTAWA.

Hon. A. G. Blair went to Ottawa on Wednesday by the Quebec express in a private car. He was accompanied by Hon. D. C. Fraser, M. P., Col. Donville, M. P., and E. M. McDonald, of Pictou, N. S., while the local cabin crew—Premier Mitchell and Hon. Messrs. Tweedie, Emerson, Dunn, White, LaBillois and Ferris, and Law Clerk Pugsley accompanied him as far as Rouses Point. At both Hampton and Sussex large crowds of people gathered and heartily cheered the Minister of Railways. Brief speeches were made by Mr. Blair and his colleagues at each station. Among the telegrams received by Hon. Mr. Blair was the following:

FREDERICTON, Aug. 26.

Hon. A. G. Blair, St. John:

Accept my warmest congratulations on your splendid victory. You deserve your success. Although a Conservative, my sympathies were entirely with you in the contest which was inspired by enmity and not in the interest of the province.

L. J. TWEEDIE.

Hon. Mr. Blair has addressed the following letter to his constituents:

To the Electors of Sunbury and Queens:

GENTLEMEN,—The fact that Parliament is sitting, coupled with the additional fact that the work of the railway department is greatly in arrears and calls for my immediate presence at Ottawa, constrains me to ask you to dispense with my personal attendance on the day of declaration, to make the usual acknowledgment. I trust you will accept this reason as a sufficient explanation of my absence, and that you will allow me to express to you in this form my great appreciation of the honor you have conferred upon me in choosing me as your representative, and to tender to one and all, as I now do, who aided in my election, my sincerest thanks for the generous support extended to me. It will, gentlemen, be my endeavor to merit your continued confidence, and

Believe me,

Very faithfully yours,
ANDREW G. BLAIR.

The Dinner Bell.

The dinner bell has no charms for a dyspeptic or bilious person. To avoid dyspepsia and have healthy action of the liver, use Laxa-Liver Pills, small, sure, never gripe. One pill after a too-hearty meal moves all ill-effects. They cure indigestion and give good appetite.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—Mr. Davies, answering a question by Mr. Martin respecting the construction of branch railways in P. E. Island, said: "It is not the intention of the government to introduce any legislation of this or any other kindred character this session. The matter will receive ample consideration."

Mr. Boyd asked: "Has the portfolio of Minister of the Interior been offered to anyone by the Honorable First Minister as yet? If not, why not? When is it proposed to fill this office? What is the reason for the delay in filling it?"

Mr. Laurier—My honorable friend is aware that these questions relate to matters which are now confidential. As soon as an appointment has been made the House will be informed of it at once.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper asked: Did the Honorable the Minister of Marine and Fisheries say in a speech at Middleton in 1893, as reported in the Morning Chronicle, Halifax, "The policy of the Liberal party on the contrary is the reform of the tariff by the elimination from it of every vestige of protection?" If so, is this the present policy of the Liberal party?

Mr. Davies, while not remembering the exact words of his speech, explained that he had referred to duties which had been imposed for protection solely and not for revenue. He referred his inquirer to the whole speech for further information.

Sir Charles H. Tupper questioned Mr. Laurier respecting a telegram sent him from Pictou on June 18 last, urging a statement from him as to the coal interest, and his reply that "coal interests will be carefully guarded." He asked the meaning of the reply.

Mr. Laurier said that the telegrams were quite correctly quoted. As to the meaning of his reply he said: "The sentence means that at the proper time the coal interests will be guarded carefully." (Loud laughter.)

Mr. Foster—You pay your money and take your choice.

Mr. Davies replied to another question by Sir Charles H. Tupper as to a report of a speech made by him at Sussex, N. B., in January last, in which he was quoted as advocating a 17 to 20 per cent. tariff by saying that the quotation of a single sentence gave no fair idea of what he had said. He advised Charles H. Tupper to read the whole speech, which he would find very interesting and very instructive.

Mr. Fielding replied to a lengthy quotation by C. H. Tupper from a speech made by himself in February, 1892, referring to the increased provincial subsidies promised by Mr. Laurier by defending the position he had taken. It was not the intention of the government to introduce any legislation at this session respecting further subsidies, nor had the government had the matter under consideration. As for Nova Scotia the question had not the same importance now as it had four years ago, as under a wise Liberal administration the finances of that province were in a much improved condition. (Government applause.) When the provinces raised the question the government would give it due consideration.

Mr. McDougall asked Mr. Laurier: "Is the following a fairly accurate report of a part of the speech of the First Minister at Schermer Park, Montreal, February, 1895: 'Protection is a fine thing only for a few monopolists. It mars the growth of our great national industries. Now, I have been asked, what are you going to do? We are going to have a tariff for revenue, and we are going to abolish completely all the duties on raw materials?'"

Mr. Laurier—My honorable friend is quite aware that the words now quoted have been used again and again by his leaders without their having taken the trouble he has to find out whether they were correct. I will not be offended if he has no more scruples than they had.

Dr. Borden in answer to Mr. Teasdale said: "The commandant of the Royal Military College at Kingston, having resigned his position his resignation is accepted and steps have been taken to replace him. Should any other change be required the matter will be duly considered by the government. All correspondence on the subject was laid before the House and printed except a supplement report of the board of officials dated November 18, 1895, which appears to have been suppressed and a report of the commandant dated June 30, 1896, of both of which copies are being printed and will be laid on the table of the House."

The debate on the address was continued by Mr. Quinn, Conservative, of Montreal.

The speakers following Mr. Quinn were Messrs. Fitzpatrick, Caron, Monk, Frost, Casgrain and Dupont.

The House adjourned at 11.30

Not a Bit Ashamed.—"I should think those strawberries would be ashamed at the discrepancy between their size and their price." "Oh, they have plenty of sand in them."

Clear Gone.—"Widdleton, were you delirious when you had heat prostration?" "Delirious? I didn't even recognize my bicycle when they brought it to my bedside."

Benevolent Party.—"So you fought in the late war?" "Mendicant—'Yes, sir.' Benevolent Party—'Where were you wounded?' Mendicant—'In my substitute.'"

Mose Johnson—"Wot yo got so many lightning rods on youah house for? One's enough." Jim Jackson—"No 't ain't; lightning' neh strikes twice in de same place, yo' know."

A Scotch servant having shortly after her marriage met her former mistress, and being asked by her how she was getting on, replied:—"I'm getting on fine, men; but, oh, I canna bide the man!"

Would be Unreasonable—"I understand that you stood for a whole hour in the doorway last night, talking to the policeman, Katie?" "Sure, you wouldn't have me shant there for an hour and say nothin', ma'am?"

Matter of Life and Death. "And you never enquired what your fiancé does for a living?" "No. I have felt no interest. It is enough to know that he is ready to die for me." Clearly the matter of living was not the important thing at that stage of the game whatever it might chance to be subsequently.

A Summing-up

You took my love and played with it, Then stabbed it by your subtle wit, To serve your selfish ends dear, That love grew sick, and maimed and halt, And died at last, was not my fault, So bury him within a vault, And let us still be friends, dear.

You took my heart and made it beat; Then trampled it beneath your feet, To hide its cracks and creases, Unless I make a great mistake, A heart thus hurt was bound to break; So say no more, for mercy's sake, But sweep up all the pieces.

You took my faith and tore its threads Into a thousand tiny shreds, And left me here without it. Had I defied your magic away, My faith would be intact to-day, So let us throw the rags away, And waste no time about it.

You took my life and filled it all, Then turned its sweetness into gall, And doomed it to despair, dear. The life you spoiled is nearly done, But if there be another one, In some strange land beyond the sun, I hope you won't be there, dear.

Saw Her Founder.

QUEBEC, Aug. 31.—An actual eye-witness of the foundering of the missing yacht, with five men on board from Montmagny, has now turned up in the person of Mr. F. Lebel, formerly of St. Thomas, but now of the United States. Mr. Lebel who is on a visit to his brother, a farmer on Crane Island, states that on Wednesday morning last while standing at the door of his brother's house and looking over the expanse of the river, he noticed about three miles off in the direction of Ile aux Cornelles a yacht or boat which seemed to be laboring terribly in the heavy sea running at the time. He called his brother, who came immediately with a spy-glass, when they distinctly made out a yacht with five or six men on board who seemed to have lost all control of it, as it was being driven higher and thither at the mercy of the furious wind blowing with its sails dragging in the water. Suddenly, and while they were still looking at it, it disappeared from the sight as if it had been swallowed up and they could find no further trace of it. Since he had heard of the accident, he has had no doubt that the missing yacht was the one which he had seen foundering on Wednesday last. A despatch from Bay St. Paul says that another body has been picked up there. This would make up the full number of the victims.

A Confidence Woman

Halifax seems to have been favored this summer with a lot of crooks. They swarmed in carnival week like bees, and began operations, but they were not very successful. The police were on to them and several of the light-fingered gentry fell into the clutches of law. On Tuesday Detective Power, who has been very active captured a young woman whom he claims is a most accomplished confidence woman. She is about thirty years of age, well dressed and good looking. She was very indignant when arrested at one of the leading hotels, and protested she was a lady, but she was nevertheless locked up.

Last summer, it is alleged, she made the acquaintance of a young man, with whom she claimed to be a second cousin. She told a sweet, innocent story, and the dear man was deceived, especially when she intimated that she was an heiress. This made him grow very fond of her, and after courting her awhile, he obtained her blushing promise to be his forever. They went on a trip through the Annapolis valley, and in the historic little town the happy pair were to be made man and wife. She carried a valise, in which she said was a large amount in bonds. She got him to deposit this in one of the banks until they were married. When she wanted a small amount she borrowed it from her sighing swain, who was devoted to itself. The day before the date fixed for the wedding she disappeared, leaving her lover penniless, with an unpaid board bill to settle. He got the valise, but it contained worthless paper instead of bonds. He got out of the scrape and returned to Halifax, sadder and wiser. The woman lately returned to Halifax and succeeded in swindling several men in the same way, and her arrest has probably saved others.

She had many victims, among them one shopkeeper, clergy and boarding house proprietors. From several clergymen she borrowed small sums of money.

Her proper name is Annie Murphy. The detective has learned that she was banished from Ireland for cause. It is said she has a husband and two children.

ENDED AT LAST.

MADOC (Special) Aug. 31.—In a place like this, people suffer and sympathize, hope and mourn with each other. But her many friends here, as elsewhere, who have long been aware of the precarious health and long suffering of Mrs. J. Ferguson will be pleased to learn that her painful sufferings have ended at last, and instead of being unable to turn over in her bed, as she says, she is herself once more as the result of using a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She further says that from the third day after commencing to use these pills, she was free from all pain; and that now she feels as well as ever before in her life.

Agony

The wonderful cure related below is by no means unusual with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has given health to suffering children, even when health seemed impossible. The secret of its success is that it purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood.

"I wish to tell of a wonderful cure effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Five years ago my little boy was suddenly seized with a severe lameness, apparently in his right knee, which some physicians said was rheumatism, while others said it was hip disease and that it was

Incurable

During the next winter and spring he became rapidly worse. We took Jimmie to a specialist, who said it was hip disease. At this time the affliction became so severe that we could not move him without causing screams of agony. He became reduced in weight to 30 pounds, and was but a shadow of his former self. We had about given up hope when we read of a cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla of a similar case. We resolved to try this medicine. Jimmie was decidedly improved after taking the first bottle. He was even after the second. We have since used over a dozen bottles of the medicine, and the change has exceeded our expectations. James is now able to walk without the aid of crutches and goes to school every day. He has been wonderfully cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla." J. O. RUNDLELL, Oakley, Michigan.

Druggist C. C. Tubbs says he knows the Rundlell boy has been wonderfully
