STUDYING ECONOMY.

Important For the Home.

In the hard times thousands of bright and smart women in Canada find that the Diamond Dyes are great and important helps in economizing. With their aid, the husband, the children and the mother herself can be handsomely dressed, although nearly all the clothing may be old material dyed over.

Diamond Dyes make such lasting and beautiful colors that goods dyed with them cannot be told from new. Any one can use them, as the directions are so plain and simple that no skill is needed. The colors of Diamond Dyes never grow dim; they never fade or wash out. In order to secure the best advantages in dyeing, every woman should see that her dealer gives her the "Diamond Dyes," as other package dyes are only poor imitations.

A Young Lady's Escape

FRIENDS THOUGHT THAT THE SPAN OF HER LIFE WOULD BE SHORT.

At Last With But a Grain of Faith Her Mother Administered Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and She is Now Cured From the Montreal Herald.

This world is full of change. There are changes that affect the constitution of the individual, changes that will come, we cannot avert their coming, but we may parry the unsalutary character of their influence. Womanhood in its inception is susceptible of changes that demand the most judicious attention and prudent care to ensure perfect development and happy maturity. These changes are so vital and so subtle in their character that unless the utmost vigilance and discrimination is exercised in the choice and application of reputed remedies the worst results may accrue. The constitution may be undermined and the germs of disease fostered. Vigorous life is at the basis of all enjoyment and success. To be weak is to be miserable. It is therefore fundamental to every interest of humanity that life's red, red stream be kept pure and healthy. Owing to neglect to these particulars many young women have allowed life to become a burden and a wearisome round of duties. Faint and weak very aptly describes their condition after venturing to perform some ordinary household duty. What can be done to accomplish the rejuvenation of these unfortunate ones? There is a remedy widely known and loudly applauded, whose virtues are proclaimed on the house tops and whispered on the streets. Ten thousand mothers have recommended it and twice ten thousand daughters praise it. Read what one of them has to say. In the village of Lancaster there lives Mrs. A. J. Macpherson, widow of the late A. J. Macpherson. She is well and favorably known in the community. Some four or five years ago Mrs. Macpherson sent her eldest daughter to New York. While there she resided with her uncle and attended school, being then only about sixteen years of age. The social life of her temporary home made rather severe demands upon her time, and being ambitious she was anxious to make rapid progress in her studies. In each particular she enjoyed a covetable measure of success, but at no small cost. Many remarked her paleness and loss of color. She began to feel tired and weak after a little exercise, such as a short walk. Miss Macpherson's stay in New York lasted about two years. All this time she ate and slept fairly well. In the spring of 1893 she came home, and her mother could not but remark how changed her daughter was, pale and languid instead of being bright and ruddy. Thinking that nourishing food and perfect quiet, with judicious exercise, would restore the lost vigor and ruddy glow, it was participated in to the fullest extent. For a month this was tried, but still Miss Macpherson was as pale as before, liable to turns of weakness and with an unsatiable desire for sleep. At this juncture the family doctor was consulted. Iron pills were prescribed and a trip to the Thousand Islands taken. The stay lasting about six weeks, during which time everything was done to help her recovery. The friends with whom she stayed came to regard her recovery as extremely doubtful, and when she returned home her mother saw no improvement. One day while making purchases from a dealer in vegetables he (the dealer) took the liberty of making some remarks anent the health of Miss Macpherson, which was obviously not promising. He strongly urged the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Macpherson was not over credulous of the qualities of the Pink Pills, but they were purchased and used to the best advantage. Soon after beginning the use of the pills says Mrs. Macpherson, I thought I saw a reddish tinge upon her cheek and in the course of a week or so my daughter felt better. The tired feeling began to vanish and the abnormal sleepiness began to yield to the influence of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Continuing the use of the pills the progress of her restoration was continuous and complete, and her improved looks were the subject of favorable comment for some time. To-day her health is all that could be desired, and both the young lady and her mother are firm believers in the medicinal virtues of Pink Pills and often recommend them.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills create new blood, build up the nerves, and thus drive disease from the system. In hundreds of cases they have cured after all other medicines have failed, thus establishing the claim that they are a marvel among the triumphs of modern medical science. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Protect yourself from imposition by refusing any pill that does not bear the registered trade mark around the box.

I was a great sufferer for years with acute kidney disorder and pain in my sides. When almost all other known remedies had been fairly tried and had failed, I was advised to take South American Kidney Cure. One bottle did me so much good I purchased two more. I am now completely restored—feel better than I have for five years. It's a great cure; will give relief in six hours, and I delight in recommending it to others. Sold by W. W. Short.

the old black-framed mantel glass. Then she wrote to Marchmont Bellry.

"Come at once! I have something for you—something very precious."

He came at the best speed of steam. Silence awaited him in the room that had seen her struggle and her triumph. Very briefly she told him of it, standing with clasped, drooping hands, facing him before the mirror where she had stood in the final struggle.

"There is your fortune," she said at last, holding out to him the formidable red-sealed paper. He made no motion to take it. Instead he smiled and opened his arms.

"I can do without the fortune very well," he said, "but I have not the least intention of doing without the blameless usurper of it a minute longer than I can help. Silence, darling! do name our wedding-day! Five years is surely long enough to play at cross purposes!"

"Oh, I am, so glad! It is you who are foolish now!" Silence said, laughing joyously, but her hand crept toward his and nestled there content.

A Strong Fragment of Latin.

"EXCRUCIATING" is a long, strong word. It comes from the Latin crux, a cross. We get "crucify" from the same root. When any one talks of "excruciating pain," we understand him to mean the greatest agony it is possible to endure. But this morsel of Latin loses much of its force when nervous or timid people apply it to small aches, like bruised fingers, and corns in wet weather. This wonderfully expressive word should be saved for great occasions, like a Sunday coat.

"Almost every day I had severe attacks of spasms, which caused me excruciating pain," writes a lady in Stony Stratford, near Wolverton, Bucks. Was this language too strong? Let us see.

"All my life I have suffered more or less from indigestion, but got along fairly well up to October, 1889. At this time my appetite was poor, and after meals I had great weight and fullness at the chest. However light the food I took, intense pain followed, and I was in agony until my stomach rejected it. Almost every day I had severe attacks of spasms which caused me excruciating pain."

"In this state I continued month after month, my food not doing me the slightest good. I lost flesh rapidly and went as thin as a skeleton. My friends never expected me getting any better."

"For over six months I continued in this distressing state, during which time I took medicines which relieved me for the time, but I gradually got weaker and weaker."

"At last I was recommended by Mr. Pattison, of Stony Stratford, to try a medicine called Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. I got a bottle from Mr. F. Moore, grocer, Wolverton, and after taking half of it I felt relief: and soon the spasms and pain left me, and I got as strong as ever, and have since had no return of my old ailment. If ever I need a medicine a few doses of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup set me right. You can make what use you like of this statement. (Signed) (Mrs.) Ellen Hooton, Stony Stratford, near Wolverton, Bucks, December 13th, 1893."

Is there any doubt that the occasion warranted Mrs. Hooton in using strong words? We receive letters in which the agony of indigestion and dyspepsia is compared with the gnawing teeth of wild beasts, which are not more pitiless than this disease. It must be fought with a remedy strong enough to free the body from the rotting mass of undigested food which sends poison into the blood and gently enough to act without distressing the weakest constitutions.

Such a remedy, thorough and unflinching, was given to the world by Mother Seigel. It was a hard problem that she had to solve, yet how completely she mastered it!
