OBITUARY.—It is with deepest feelings of regret we announce the death of Thomas H. Ramsay, Esq., which took place on Thursday at 4 o'clock a. m. at his residence in Newcastle; to which place he had only recently returned from Redbank where he carried on a large lumber business for a number of years until the spring of 1895 when he disposed of his business and returned to Newcastle. As a business man he was active, cautious and his transactions with men, honor and integrity were his predominate characteristic. In manner, quiet and unassuming; he was respected and beloved by his associates. In his death the place has lost a useful man, a good christian and an honorable citizen. Much sympathy is felt for his wife and family in their sad and sudden bereavement. The funeral took place on Tuesday and was very largely attended. The pall bearers were Messrs. E. Sinclair, Allan Ritchie, W. J. Miller, J. H. Phinney, John Craghan, and Jas. O. Fish.—Newcastle News. Mr. Ramsay married Miss Emily Fraker, of Richibucto.

Reading Notes

We have had our first snow storm and it is beginning to look and feel like winter. Times are good here since McKinley has been elected. Factories are re-opening and business is booming.

We know one of our fair ones will be pleased to see the young man with the auburn hair back again.

Our enterprising merchant of Boston is seen in Reading quite often. I think there must be some attraction, (or probably he is delivering goods.) Some of our Reading friends think of buying him a mileage book.

Miss Tena McNevin has got back after spending a week in Boston with her sister, (or perhaps she was helping our merchant out.)

We are pleased to see the familiar faces of Misses Maggie and Florence Nicholson again, after spending the summer at their home on P. E. Island. We are glad that they did not follow the example of one of our young ladies who went from Reading a year ago and did not return. But we wish her happiness in her new home.

Some of our young people spent a very pleasant evening last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Green, of Cambridge.

We are pleased to have our friend Maud Ferguson living near to us, as her folks have moved from the west side down to Brancroft Avenue.

Mr. Herbert Spalding of Walsefield was in town one night last week.

We all spend many pleasant evenings at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Cail, we always feel happy and at home there.

Which of our young men will succeed in getting the school ma'm from down East, hurry up Joe.
