

HORN-FLY VS. POTATO BUG.

The horn-fly like the potato bug has come to stay. Intelligent farmers do not smear the potato leaves with filthy greasy mixtures to keep off the bugs, no, they use something to kill them, so with the horn-fly, the sensible up-to-date farmer does not cover his cattle with kerosene or axle grease, because he knows these things will not kill a single fly while they taint the milk and injure the health of the animal, but they do use Shives' Insect Powder which kills the flies and is harmless to the animals. Be sure you get from your merchant or druggist genuine Shives' Powder, it is cheap and sure. It kills the flies every time.

Sold only in cans with dredger attached. Look for the name on the label. Sample can 25c. 5 cans $1.00. Post Paid.

Bill For a Plebiscite Proposed for Next Session.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—A large prohibition delegation waited on the government this morning and were received by Messrs. Laurier and Fisher.

Senator Vidal was chairman of the delegation and J. J. McLaren, Q. C., Toronto; Mrs. Alexander, Ottawa, and John Dougal addressed the ministers.

Mr. Laurier replied at some length. He agreed that the cause of temperance was, perhaps, the most important of any to-day, and he could bear testimony that it was making progress. He had addressed 300 meetings as leader of the opposition, and he never saw a man under the influence of liquor except in three instances. In his own county of Athabaska, of 18 municipalities, liquor was only sold in two under sanction of law. No licenses were issued in Lotbiniere, Portneuf and Megantic. These statements were cheered. The Premier declared the government intended with no delay to carry out its policy and next session, not later, a bill would be introduced providing the necessary legislation to carry out a plebiscite. He reminded them that our people were not a unit on what was temperance. Some thought it was total abstinence, but others thought it was moderation. The opinion of the people on that point would be ascertained by the plebiscite, which would be taken by itself free from any other issue, political or municipal. The poll would be held on the question alone. Mr. Fisher and Sir Oliver Mowat also spoke, and a resolution was afterwards unanimously adopted expressing satisfaction at the Premier's reply, and urging all temperance workers to prepare for the fight at the polls.

At least five of the present cabinet are total abstainers, including Sir Oliver Mowat, Mr. Blair, Mr. Paterson, Mr. Scott, and Mr. Fisher.

The Curfew Bell Proposal Strongly Endorsed.
 (Ottawa Citizen.)

Editor Citizen: Sir, I have noticed in the public press an occasional spasmodic, feeble attempt to interest citizens, or, to induce from them a decided opinion as to the benefit derivable from an adoption of the so-called "Curfew Bell." I am surprised that backwoods towns and other places, presumably of less importance than the Capital of our Dominion, geographically and otherwise, should be so far in advance of our grand city in the practical idea of saving the young people of Canada. It is a great pity that a great many years ago the "Curfew Bell" did not proclaim its philanthropy, not at nine o'clock nightly, but at the coming on of darkness. No child, male or female, should be outside the parental roof after dark; there is no reason for it, and, no result therefrom but perchance, future infamy. By force of circumstances a large percentage of fathers of families in Canada are debarred from supervision to their families at the most dangerous hours to the youngsters, viz: after nightfall. You are aware, sir, the streets and by-ways after dark are the hot-beds of all pernicious, the feeding grounds of the coming criminals, the seducers of the impressionable mind of childhood. Ask any police officer in Canada or elsewhere, he will endorse this statement. If cases required to be cited, I will myself quote names in this city; names blasted in their early start out in life, names that might have been a glory but for the streets and their villainous seductive education after dark. I have watched with interest in the same the starting of the "Curfew Bell" and its beneficial working in more places than one. Start it at once and make its operation imperative and it will be effective. No newspaper boy even should be permitted to ply his avocation after dark. A man who will not buy his paper in time should go without it. "I am not my brother's keeper" is a gone-by excuse for shirking of responsibilities. Sixteen years as high constable of one of the largest counties in the Dominion should entitle me to say a word in the above matter. Bring on your Curfew, we will back it up.

Yours truly,
 G. HOLLINSWORTH.
 Ex-High Constable of Renfrew Co., and Inspector of S. P. C. A.

And Story.

The Kingsville, Ontario, Reporter has a long article on the suicide of a former resident of New Brunswick. It says: William Nelson was born in Woodstock, New Brunswick, 48 years ago, and came with his father and family to St. Thomas, where he lived for several years. He was a harnessmaker by trade and owned the shop now conducted by Ald. McCully, of this city. Mr. Nelson, on disposing of his business, went to Dutton and conducted the McIntyre house for a number of years and is reported to have done well and made considerable money there.

While in the hotel business he became addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. He finally sold the hotel and discontinued the use of liquor entirely. During a revival in that town he professed conversion, joined the Methodist church and became a useful and prosperous citizen. He conducted a grocery and jewelry store in Dutton for several years, and in June, 1893, removed to Kingsville, and purchased the grocery business of Mr. Harry Gill, which he carried on up to the time of death. Last winter he contracted a cold which settled on his lungs. He commenced taking a cough mixture which contained rum. Mrs. Nelson, perceiving that the rum in the medicine was likely to rouse his old appetite for strong drink, counselled him to discontinue its use, which he did. However, a week ago last Sunday he broke over the bounds and drank to excess. On Wednesday when he became sober, and thought over what he had done, it overcame him with shame and remorse. Having a sensitive nature he brooded over the matter and seemed to lose all heart, feeling that liquor had got the mastery of him once more and that he could not get away from the accursed stuff again. He was under the doctor's care during the week, and everything was done to restore his system to a normal condition. Friday forenoon he was out riding with the doctor, and at noon took his dinner as usual. After dinner he expressed a desire to go up town, and when he went away, unaccompanied, he proceeded to the cemetery, where he shot himself dead.

'Can I not serve Christ just as well without enrolling myself publicly among His followers? To this question, so often asked, we would answer, No! All the isolated patriots in our land never would have won its independence; an organized army alone could do it. Christ's visible 'kingdom' is the organized body of His followers, with its officers and its ordinances. You can serve Him best, not as a 'guerilla,' but as an enlisted and equipped soldier. You need the sympathy, the watch, and the household life of the Church. More than all, you need to obey the direct injunction of the Master to confess Him before the world. There are many halting, irresolute people, who have a secret faith in Christ—not very strong, but sadly needing to be strengthened. They may be Christians, but the world is not allowed to know it. They carry dark lanterns and assuredly do not 'let their lights shine before men.' There is nothing manly or womanly in such clandestine attempts to steal quietly along toward heaven without letting anybody overhear your footsteps. Far be it from us to say that no one can be saved who does not join a church; but we do say that every day spent by a genuine convert outside the Church of Christ is almost a day lost. He loses that sense of responsibility which is a stimulating force to do right, and a restraining force from doing wrong; he loses the best opportunities to do good; he loses in self-respect, and if he is kept back by cowardice, he loses the approbation of Him who has declared, 'Whosoever is ashamed of me before men, of him will I be ashamed when I shall come in my own glory.' When Jesus Christ gives conversion, He demands confession.—Dr. Cuyler.
