Miss Briggs For The Pulpit.

The first woman who ever received a sheepskin from the faculty of the Union Theological Seminary grasped in affectionate help the valuable document Tuesday night, on the occasion of the sixty-first anniversary and commencement of the seminary, in Adams, Chapel, in the Seminary building, No. 700 Park avenue.

The interest caused by her sex was doubled by the fact that she was Emily Grace Briggs, the daughter of Professor C. A. Briggs, who was suspended by the General Assembly after a trial for heresy in 1894. Dr. Briggs is still a member of the faculty of the seminary although he cannot take any interest in its workings until the ban of suspension has been removed.

Miss Briggs is in her twenty first year, and before entering the seminary was educated at a private school. She carried off first honors, passing all the men, who congratulated her heartily.

In the township of Mars, North Ontario may be found the oldest married couple in Canada, and probably in America. The combined ages are 204 years. Mr. Duncan Graham is 101 years of age, and Mrs. Graham is 103. The pair have preserved their faculties and senses.

The Spanish Crisis.

LONDON, May 24.—The Standard's Madrid correspondent says: In the conference held on Saturday between the president of the Senate, the premier and Senor Sagasta with reference to the Tetuan-Comas incident the president said he would not be justified in interference as the affair had not occurred in the Senate chamber. He declared the opposition ought to be satisfied if the Duke of Tetuan announced in the chamber that he never intended to slight or offend the Liberal minority. He added that the government could not dispense with the duke's services as Minister of Foreign Affairs because he alone was acquainted with and able to conduct important and delicate impending negotiations with foreign governments (meaning America.)

Senor Sagasta promised to give his followers conciliatory advice. He summoned a meeting of the Liberals, who, after a prolonged discussion gave a vote of confidence to Senator Sagasta with instructions to settle the conflict on the understanding that they would not enter the Cortes until the government had given them such satisfaction as Senor Sagasta deemed proper. The dissenting Conservatives intimated that they would follow the decision of the Liberals and, therefore, only the ministerialists have been present in Parliament since Friday. The premier, on receiving the reply of Senor Sagasta, informed the Queen regent, who summoned a council of ministers. The crisis has withdrawn popular attention from the attitude of the United States Senate, which the majority of newspapers and of ministers affect to consider without importance as bearing upon the immediate relations of the two countries.

MADRID, May 24.—The political situation here seems to be as follows: The government, not wishing to yield to the opposition by resigning, will appear before the Cortes, but if the Liberals do not attend to day's session a ministerial crisis will be occasioned under the circumstances. Retention of the present cabinet does not seem impossible. The Liberals, who consider the formation of a Sagasta cabinet inevitable within a few days, have given up all idea of agreeing upon the formation of a working ministry. The projected duel between the sons of the Duke of Tetuan, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Professor Comas, the Liberal Senator whose ears were boxed by the duke on Friday last in the lobby of the Senate, has been abandoned, the dispute having been amicably settled. The Herald of this city says it learns that high persons have asked Marshal Martinez de Campos, the former captain-general of Cuba, to come to Madrid.

She Favored It.

Mr. Winslow—Are you in favor of the new scheme which will allow unmarried ladies to change their titles from 'Miss' to 'Mrs'?

Miss Ketchum—This is rather sudden, Tom, but you may ask papa.

JAPANESE MOTHERS.

They Thoroughly Understand the Tender Care of Children.

It sometimes happens that one sees a young American mother so utterly unfit for the rearing of children and for the duties of motherhood that one cannot but wonder why it pleased Providence ever to give her the care of little ones. This happens sometimes in the case of really estimable women, and I have heard a young mother say sadly that she never quite knew what to do with baby, it was such a queer little thing, and she was half afraid to touch it. Other young things in the shape of puppies, kittens, or even colts, she knew all about and was quite at home with, but her own child remained a sort of curious and uncanny little being to her till his baby days were over and he began to share in his mother's hobbies in a boyish sort of way.

Now, in Japan a mother like this is an impossibility. She is not interested in politics or in social reforms, neither is she bent on being a social success, nor devoted to any scientific philanthropic work, as are so many of her western sisters. She is par excellence a mother, and one who cannot be rivaled in any other country. No children are so well and carefully tended as hers, and she is patient and gentle with them, never threatening them, if they are unruly, with corporal punishment, nor raising her voice and scolding them in the unpleasant way one so often hears in other countries. The Japanese mother is a born kindergartner and enters into the lives of her little ones just as easily as the western kindergartner who has undergone a long period of study and training. To her the duties of motherhood come naturally, for among her nation women who will make good mothers are chosen as wives, and thus in the course of nature the quality of motherliness is intensified as time goes on, and the race of mothers becomes very superior.

Nowhere is motherhood as respected as in Japan, and nowhere does the mother receive more attention from both her husband and her children. She is regarded as the maker of the race, and her maternal duties are considered to be exceedingly honorable and to entitle her to the utmost consideration and affection. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

ONE OF THE MEAN ONES.

Might Have Been Mean Enough to Have Stolen His Inheritance.

Four or five preachers, at a preachers' meeting, or, rather, after the meeting was over, were discussing some of the peculiar people they had been brought into contact with during their various pastorates.

"The very meanest man I ever knew," said a pastor, whose nasal twang betrayed his Yankee origin, "was a married man, though, as a rule, the really meanest men are bachelors for obvious reasons.

"This party was fairly well to do and expected to be enriched by the death of an old uncle to the extent of at least $100,000. He was a man of about 45 and was, on the surface, an extremely pious kind of a man, with strict ideas of biblical interpretations. At this time 'the rich old uncle—a millionaire, by the way—was approaching the scriptural limit of human existence—three score and ten—and his pious nephew had begun to figure on what he was going to do with his share of the old man's fortune. The latter, however, did not hold to scriptural interpretations, but held on until he was 91 years old. Then he departed, and as per expectation, when the estate was settled up the pious nephew received $100,000, more or less.

"He ought to have been satisfied, of course, but he wasn't, and after mousing around about his hard luck, he finally capped the climax by suing the trustees of the residue of the estate, which had been willed to charity, for the interest on $100,000 at 6 per cent for the time that elapsed between the three score and ten limit and the date of the death of his uncle, a period of 21 years 3 months. The whole amount of interest being $127,500. He even went so far as to swear that 6 per cent was too low, and that he could have got 8 right along for the whole time if the old man had died when the Bible said he ought to die. Being in the family, however, he was willing to discount the rate of interest 25 per cent. Now, did you ever hear of anything worse than that?"

And not a man there did.—Washington Star.

Our Society Leaders.

Society in Europe has a certain restricted meaning which enables one to picture to himself what "in society" means. It is not necessarily a brilliant distinction, but it is at least a sufficiently intelligible definition. But here "society leader" and "clubman" may mean something or nothing, as the case may be. Here again democracy exaggerates the very sentiments and positions it is supposed to ignore. Every woman with two changes of headgear is a "society woman," and every man with a top hat and two pairs of trousers is a "clubman." One hears, too, more talk about "old families" here than anywhere else. Why it is I know not, unless it be because they secretly feel that they are all so new.—"America and Americans From a French Point of View."

A Brand From the Burning.

After the German invasion an officer of the Turcos could not settle down into civil life, but went off to Africa on an exploring expedition. In one of the native villages on the Niger he saw an intelligent, bright looking lad tied up, and on inquiry found that he was being fattened for a feast which was in contemplation in which he was to appear roasted. He bought the lad for a case of Old Tom gin and brought him back to Paris, where he was sent to school, astonishing everybody by his capacity. He has just died in that city, closing a history in which his rescue shines as the most memorable incident.

BICYCLES! BICYCLES!

THE Bicycle has come to stay. It is not a toy nor a plaything. It is a necessity of our present day civilization. It is used alike by young and old, rich and poor, male and female, from the Grand Old Man of England to the little tot of four or five summers and the man, woman or child who does not use it will lag behind in the race of life. You need one and you want the best. The Massey-Harris Co. undertook to make the best wheel in the world and have spared neither pains nor expense to accomplish that result. I have been fortunate enough to secure the agency for this wheel together with an excellent second grade bicycle for those who want a cheaper article. The prices are right.

I have also in stock a full line of superphosphates manufactured by the Provincial Chemical Fertilizer Co., which the government analysis shows is the best that is used in Canada. "Feed your farm and your farm will feed you."

If you need a buggy, sleigh, robe, farm wagon, cart, set of harness, plow, harrow, seeder, cultivator, mower, root-pulper, hay cutter, ensilage cutter, wheel barrow, wind mill, thrasher, woodcutter, sewing machine, organ, bicycle, washer, wringer, churn, or anything else about your farm? It will pay you to consult me before purchasing. A bicycle catalogue or a book on fertilizers mailed free on receipt of application. A few tons of good hay for sale. GEO. N. CLARK, Sunny Brae, Kingston, N. B., April 6th, 1897.
