

GRENADIER AND BUTCHER

A Military Bandsman of 50 Years Standing and a Young Butcher Experience the Marvellous Curative Powers of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

A NEW PAPERS INVESTIGATION

IN THE CASE OF MR. HENRY PYE DIABETES HAD BROUGHT ON PARALYSIS—TWO DOCTORS SAID WM. WADE WAS DYING OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

CURED THEM.

Each of them tells an interesting story to a newspaper reporter—Mr. Pye played in the Marine Band at the Duke of Wellington's funeral—in the Royal Grenadiers' Band for 20 years—He had given up hope when Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him—Wm. Wade, after being sick for years with Bright's Disease and his life despaired of, tests the powers of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is now in good health.

From Mail and Empire.

The reputation which Dodd's Kidney Pills enjoy to-day must have been built upon a broad foundation of sure curative qualities. To verify this view, a mail and Empire representative yesterday investigated two wonderful cures that have been much talked of in the East End of the city, and the results of the enquiry are worth recording.

The first man interviewed was Mr. Henry Pye, 115 Pape ave. He is a genial, happy, prosperous-looking man of sixty-five years, and was very pleased to see any one who wished to talk about Dodd's Kidney Pills. "Why shouldn't I talk about Dodd's Kidney Pills?" asked Mr. Pye. "In the first place, they saved my life—no doubt about that—and in the second place, if it hadn't been for them I couldn't have kept my situation. A neighbor of mine, Mrs. Farrel, she's a great Methodist, was cured by them, and she calls them God's Kidney Pills.

"But you want to hear my story. I'm a bandsman, you know. By trade I'm a shoemaker, but six years ago I laid away my last, and since then have given all my time to music. I've been a member of the Royal Grenadiers' band for twenty years. It's just fifty years ago last month since I joined the Marine Band in England I played at the Duke of Wellington's funeral, in 1852.

"For thirty-five years I have lived in Toronto.

"In the winter I play at the rinks. Two years ago the first night was very cold, and I got chilled through. That was the beginning of my sickness. Last summer, when the Grenadiers went to Berlin, I could hardly get through the day. The next morning I got up feeling pretty well. But after breakfast I was taken with frightful pains in my back. I had to send for a doctor. He gave me morphine and pronounced it a very bad case of diabetes. In a week I lost forty pounds of flesh. I would drink so much water that I would go out and vomit. But I would come in with just as great a thirst as ever. I must have drank gallons of it in a day."

"But could you still get round all right?"

"Well, no. My right leg began to be paralyzed, and at times my foot would swing about as if I had no control of it. I was living on Grant street then, but as I couldn't walk, I thought I might as well ride a bit farther, and came out here to get country air.

"I have been accustomed to play in the band at the Exhibition, and last year as the Exhibition time drew near, I was anxious to stick it out for that engagement, thinking it would be my last. I was beginning to feel the paralysis in my fingers, so that I could scarcely work the keys. My friends, too, thought it was all up with me.

"During the Exhibition I stayed with my daughter, who lives in Parkdale. I was getting worse every day. My son-in-law said he had heard of several women in Parkdale who had been cured of kidney disease by using Dodd's Kidney Pills. So he got a box for me, and I started taking them. Before two days I began to feel better. I took that box and ten others. By that time I felt so well that I stopped taking them, except occasionally. My health is now first-rate, but I still take the pills, off and on.

"Last winter I played sixty nights at the rink without the least inconvenience. Yesterday I walked ten miles. Last summer I could no more have done that than fly. Really, I feel myself getting stronger every day. I can run up four flights of stairs to the band practice-room easier than I could crawl up them last summer. I'm just about my healthy weight and fit as a fiddle.

"I tell you Dodd's Kidney Pills are all right. I've started a dozen people taking them since I was cured. My daughter, who has been sick and doctoring for a long time, has begun to take the Tablets, and she says they help her as nothing else has done."

William Wade, the nineteen-year-old son of Mr. Henry Wade, the well-known East End butcher, 940 Queen street east, was another who it was reported had been marvellously cured. When seen by a Mail and Empire representative, he was in the act of hoisting a hundred-and-forty pound quarter of beef to his shoulder and carrying it into the shop.

"Are you the boy that was thought to be dying of Bright's disease a year and a half ago, and had been given up by two doctors?" asked the newspaper man.

"I am, and it was a pretty close shave I had."

"Well, you don't look much of an infant or invalid now."

"You saw what I was doing. Well, I was as good as a corpse a year and a half ago. It'll just take a minute to tell you about it.

"Six years ago I had a bad attack of diphtheria. I was just over it when I went hunting, and got a relapse. Kidney trouble set in. It would come back every spring and fall for three or four weeks. Of course, the attacks became more severe and in the intervals I was of little use to myself or anyone else.

"A year ago last fall I got so bad that two doctors were attending me daily. It was Bright's disease, they said. They said, too, that if I got over that attack I would not be able to work for six years. Before long they gave me up altogether, and said my death was but a matter of a few weeks. It was then that some one brought me a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took fifteen boxes, and was cured.

"I continue to take the pills occasionally, especially after heavy lifting. Now I can do a heavy day's work and feel first-rate after it. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everyone that I know has kidney trouble."

Many Protests.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The danger of a commercial war between the United States and foreign countries has not been removed notwithstanding the amendments of the Senate Finance Committee to make the tariff bill less prohibitive in character than it was when it left the House.

Germany has again raised her voice in opposition to the rates proposed to be imposed upon her products. The Argentine Government threatens retaliation. Italy, Netherlands and Japan have protested against the duties authorized to be collected on the products exported from those countries into the United States.

May 24.—The farmers are beginning to look anxious about the seeding, the weather being unusually wet. Most of the land is too wet to be worked, so there is not much done yet.

The lobster packers are also looking gloomy over their prospects. They have done next to nothing yet. They say there is an abundance of crabs but very few lobsters. The fishermen have a good supply of bait.

Nursing The Sick

This is the title of a most valuable and concise treatise on the art of nursing the indisposed. It deals with nursing at home, ventilation of the sick room, bathing the patient, arranging the bed, etc. etc. It also gives several recipes for liquid and solid foods, and tells the kind that can be used for the different diseases. It also enumerates the several diseases in which special nursing is a necessity, and explains in plain words the directions for the performance of these offices.

Altogether the book is very handsomely gotten up, and is illustrated with a reproduction from photograph of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal on the cover, and interior views of the hospital in the body of the book. The publishers, Messrs Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd., Montreal, will gladly mail this book to any one sending them a one cent stamp.

The only king in America is the king of the Mosquito Coast, in Nicaragua. He is not a drunkard, says a recent visitor from the United States, Arthur F. Sandham, of Roxbury, Mass. "but he likes rum and does not abhor whiskey. His favorite tippie is English pale ale; casks of which are smuggled to him from British Honduras. As I was anxious to secure mahogany concessions, and willing to pay for them, the king and Premier Cuthbert were quite friendly with me, and I was a guest at a dinner of honor. I wrote out the menu of that dinner in exact order that same evening. It ran as follows:

- Pale Ale.
- Chicken with Herbs.
- Rum.
- Fricassee of Young Monkey.
- Rye Whiskey.
- Green Turtle with Broth.
- Brandy and Soda.
- Oysters.
- Pale Ale.

"His Majesty went through the menu religiously and liberally, but seemed none the worse of it."
