RICHIBUCTO, N. B., JULY 22, 1897. AMERICAN DIPLOMACY.

While there is a growing desire manifested both in Great Britain and the United States for continued and enlarged friendly relations, it must be confessed that the indiscreet utterances of some of the public men of the Republic...

The St. James Gazette says: "The publication is a further demonstration of certain trans-Atlantic methods of diplomacy which may one day involve consequences much more serious..."

Leading American papers disapprove of the dispatch, and the suggestion is made that Secretary Sherman's mind is seriously affected. It is plain however that there is profound unrest in American politics.

POLITICAL HONOR.

Where public honor is wanting we can easily account for the sad spectacle which is seen when decent private citizens become public men, and on their first trial let go their hold of candor and slip along any rut that may, they think, lead to power.

It is too much the habit lately for the citizen to laugh and joke when some politician steps this or the other side of the barbed fence. No words are quite strong enough to be used in condemnation of this political morality which is preparing for us a new code of honor.

OUR AMERICAN NEIGHBOURS.

In this issue we publish an extract from a sermon preached by Rev. A. J. Mowatt, of Erskine church, Montreal, on July fourth, entitled, "Old Liberty Bell's Message," from the text, "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof. We commend the sentiments.

While Canadians are loyal to the Dominion and to the Mother Land, there is every reason why they should entertain the kindest feelings towards and the greatest admiration of the great American nation, our own kith and kin, which with us divides the continent, and with whom so many of our Canadian sons and daughters have found happy and prosperous homes.

Men predicted that the British empire would go to pieces with a woman at the head of affairs, whereas it has grown as never before, and was never more consolidated than now. Under Victoria gentle sway the new territory acquired is one-sixth larger than the whole of Europe. To-day 402,514,000 or twenty-seven per cent. of the population of the world, call her queen.

Notwithstanding the advice of the Papal ablegate given in his farewell letter to Archbishop Langevin, the Quebec papers still continue to discuss features of the Manitoba school question somewhat acrimoniously.

A PIONEER'S STORY

Following an Attack of LaGrippe He Suffered Day and Night for Four Years—A Well Known Clergyman Endorses His Statements

From the Record, Windsor, Ont.

Among the residents of Kingsville, Ont., none is held in higher esteem than Mr. Jas. Lovelace, who is known not only in town, but to many in Essex county. When a correspondent of the Record called upon him and asked him to verify certain statements as to his cure from a painful malady after several years of suffering, he cheerfully did so. Mr. Lovelace said:— Four years ago I had a bad attack of la grippe, which left me with a severe pain in the pit of my stomach. After trying household remedies and getting no relief, I consulted a doctor, but after a long treatment which did not help me, I became discouraged and concluded there was no relief for me. Night and day for four years that pain never left me. At times it was so bad that I had to give up work. I had frequently read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and perhaps as much out of curiosity as with any hope that they would help me, I bought a box. I followed the directions carefully, and by the time the box was finished I was surprised to find that I was getting relief. I could not understand how, after all the medicine I had previously tried had failed, this one box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should help me. I now cheerfully continued their use and by the time I had taken five boxes every trace of pain had left me and I felt as well as ever I had done in my life. To-day I am as sound as a dollar and believe there is no man of my age in Essex county who can stand a harder day's work.

Rev. R. D. Herrington, Baptist minister at Kingsville, says:—"Having known Mr. James Lovelace for the past thirty years, I believe the above statements made by him to be strictly true. I might also say that I have been greatly benefited myself by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The Speckled Beauty.

In the brooklet's icy deeps. For the fly, Now the trout before he leaps Skins his eye, For he fancies in his speckles, All equivalent to freckles, That he knocks the urban shekels High and dry.

On the hyperbolic curve See him jump, Like the milkmau tuil of nerve At the pump. And the angler's madly spitting Wild profanity befitting, The occasion while he's sitting On the stump.

Now, this youthsome, toothsome fish, Spick and span, And the dainty of the dish Leads the van.

And he makes the poet flutter When his tail begins to rutter In the bacon or the butter Of the pan.

Oh, the trout's a bigger fish Than the whale. There is music in the swish Of his tail.

'Neath his light, the perch and catfish And the thin fish and the fat fish, And the fish ball and the flat fish All must pale.

For the "speckled beauty" hip, Hip, hooray. For he makes our fancies skip In their play. From our piscine visions never Can the trout his glory sever— He's the fish of fish forever And a day.

SCALING WITHOUT A LADDER.

A Pyramid of Soldiers Enables Men to Surmount a Thirty-one Foot Wall.

Corporal Leary, the limberest man at Fort Sheridan, took the chance of breaking his neck and tumbling the storming pyramids of 41 soldiers in a bruised heap on a recent Saturday as he sprang upward from the shoulders of Private Miller, caught with three fingers of his left hand the top of the high wooden wall behind which lurked the enemy, hung for one perilous instant, and then gallantly pulled himself to the top, seized his rifle and sprang into the midst of the foe on the other side of the improvised parapet in the Coliseum gallery.

The human pyramid swayed, but held its sturdy place, while gallant infantrymen swept up the stalwart shoulders and over the 31 foot wall to Corporal Leary's support, while a platoon of 25 men kept the enemy away in front of the wall.

It was at this point that the regular army officers, who were watching the fray from the Coliseum gallery, led the applause for Corporal Leary and his comrades had broken the world's scaling record by three feet. As a prize reward for his daring feat Corporal Leary will be recommended by the Adjutant-General for promotion.

When Corporal Leary climbed to the apex of the pyramid and stood on the shoulders of the men in the top row, the tips of his fingers, less at five inches of reaching to top of the wall. The highest wall that was ever scaled before was 28 feet, and the men who climbed over that in the military carnival at New York broke the world's record then. The wall at the Coliseum was 31 feet high, and it took just four minutes to scale it.

Eighteen of the heaviest and strongest men in the regiment formed the base of the pyramid, ten mounted on their shoulders and leaned against the wall, six stood on the shoulders of the ten, four on the shoulders of the six and three on the shoulders of the four. Corporal Leary scrambled up this scalding pyramid of blue and stood on the shoulders of the top three, braced against the wall.

When he stretched out his arms and found his fingers would not reach the edge of the wall, he crouched and then, as the human mountain swayed dizzily beneath his feet, with the mightiest and yet delicate effort of the trained athlete he sprang boldly five inches upward at the edge of the barrier. He tried to grasp the top of the parapet with both hands, but only three fingers of his left hand went high enough. The pyramid under him was still swaying. He held to the hazardous edge by the three fingers for an instant, and then, with a heave and a twist, pulling his whole body up, caught the wall with the other hand. An instant after he was on the enemy's side of the barricade.—Chicago Tribune.
